HOW THIS YEAR'S CORSET DIFFERS FROM LAST.

SEE OUR DEMONSTRATION.

In our Corset Department to-day we are making a demonstration of the new models of the ROYAL WORCESTER CORSETS.

These new Models show a distinct advancement on those of previous years. They impart to the figure the graceful, long waist, the long, straight lines and hipless effect so much sought after this season: and entirely different from the round hips of previous years.

MORE COMFORTABLE.

One great point possessed by the new Royal Worcester Models that will appeal to all women is that they are infinitely more comfortable. They are made with high or low bust, and in so many different styles that all types of figures can be suited.

THE IMPROVED "ADJUSTO."

FOR STOUT FIGURES.

It is very much longer, and gives a greater reduction of form than previously. It is a Corset constructed specially for stout figures—to promote symmetry where stoutness prevails. By wearing it the stout figure is moulded into graceful and symmetrical lines. All excess flesh is equally distributed, and all prominent points subdued without sacrificing health or comfort.

PRICE, 18/6.

The "Adjusto" positively reduces the hips, back, and abdomen several inches. It acts as a support, as well as a form-reducer, and is made in White or Grey Coutil—thoroughly rustproof. In sizes—23 to 36 inches waist measurements.

WE PAY CARRIAGE

SYNOPSIS.

The first part deals with the beginning of the French Revolution, and is full of Sensational and Thrilling Situations. Then is shown the imprisonment of Dr. Manette in the Bastille. This picture, showing the most famous of French prisons, should alone be worth seeing. There is no doubt every Australian has read a great deal concerning same. In PART TWO Sydney Carton and Lucy Manette are shown, and the latter's marriage with Charles Darnay. PART THREE brings you to the French Revolution, with its thrilling incidents, showing the mobs, revolutionists, and the actual warfare in the streets. Next comes the sensational escape of Charles Darnay, and the execution of Sydney Carton by the guillotine.

COOKING WITHOUT GAS.
THE GREAT RING TEST.

STARTLING ANNOUNCEMENT.

In order to show those persons who were not born blind the outrageous waste of gas in English stoves M. Raleigh will on Wednesday place a ten-pound roast of beef in an English stove. He will also place a pound of butter in the same chamber. He will roast the meat, and will not melt the butter, which will be two hours in the stove. In fact, one part of the stove is a roasting chamber, and the other part is a butter cooler. In the name of common-sense come and see this wonderful test, and after seeing it you can then make a bee-line in a hurry and buy an English gas stove before they are all gone. If all the rings on an English gas stove were alight they would have no more effect on the interior of the stove than a mustard blister would have on a wooden leg.

MAAW KONSCHUNCHE.

Coughs, Bronchitis, Asthma.

The soothing, healing and strengthening properties of Angier's Emulsion make it invaluable for the relief and cure of troublesome coughs, bronchitis, asthma and all inflammatory and catarrhal affections of throat and chest. It not only heals and strengthens the lungs, but it keeps the digestive organs in a healthy condition and exerts a most invigorating tonic influence upon the general health. Those who suffer from chronic bronchitis or from bronchial asthma will find Angier's Emulsion especially helpful; it allays inflammation, relieves the cough and breathing and makes expectoration easy. Angier's is the most palatable of all emulsions and agrees perfectly with delicate stomachs. Of Chemists and Drug Stores, 1/3, 2/9 and 4/6.

ANGIER'S EMULSION

"Subject to Colds."

13 Stanley Street, Sydney.

Dear Sirs,—For colds and coughs Angier's Emulsion is the best remedy that I have ever tried. I am subject to colds on the slightest change in the weather, which causes me great annoyance. As a representative of the Buyers' and Sellers' Directory of Australia, I am compelled to travel constantly from one State to another, and it is a great boon to me to have a remedy such as Angier's Emulsion. One thing I find about it is that, unlike most emulsions, it does not repeat or make one feel sick, which is greatly in its favour.

"Our Doctor Advised Angier's Emulsion."

Mull St., Palmerston South, Otago, N.Z.

Dear Sirs,—My little girl, aged five years, was very ill with bronchitis and our doctor advised Angier's Emulsion. Before she had taken one bottle her cough had left her and she has done well ever since. I now always keep a bottle in the house and whenever she catches a cold give her a few doses and she is soon all right again. I have recommended Angier's to many of my friends, and they all have received great benefit from its use.

"Bronchitis and Asthma."

New Town, Hobart.

Dear Sirs,—I have been a great sufferer from bronchitis and asthma, and recently determined to try Angier's Emulsion. I purchased a 2/9 bottle from Miller & Co., of Hobart, and when I had taken less than half I felt greatly relieved. My cough is much easier and less painful. My breathing is better and I sleep better, without the continual hacking cough I used to have. I am taking the Emulsion three times a day, and find it quite pleasant to take. I mean to continue with it for some time.

(Signed) HENRY DESBROW.

74 Years of Age—"Chronic Bronchitis."

Devonleigh, Bundadoon, N.S.W.

Dear Sirs,—I have been suffering for the last few years, especially during the winter months, with a very bad cough, tightness of the chest and difficult breathing. I find Angier's Emulsion of the greatest possible benefit, and strongly recommend it is as a reliable remedy for coughs and lung affections. I may add that I am seventy-four years of age.

THE LAXATIVE OF KNOWN QUALITY

There are two classes of remedies: those of known quality, which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of unknown or uncertain and inferior character, acting temporarily, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant California Syrup of Figs, which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup, in which the wholesome California blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavour. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in overcoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favour of many millions of well-informed persons who know from personal experience that it is a most excellent remedy. It is not claimed that it will cure all manner of ills, but it is recommended for what it really represents, a laxative remedy of known quality, containing nothing objectionable or injurious.

There are two classes of purchasers: those who know the reasons for the excellence of articles of exceptional merit, and who do not lack courage to go elsewhere when a dealer offers an imitation; and those who, unfortunately, do not know, and allow themselves to be imposed upon. They cannot expect its beneficial effects if they do not get the genuine remedy.

PART I.—HUGH LYNCH'S STORY.

CHAPTER XI.—Continued.

The engines slowed and stopped. The Merrie England wallowed sickeningly on the swell. Stephanie, pale and frightened came staggering up the companion and caught at my arm.

"Hugh, why are we stopping? What's the matter? What have they all quarrelled about? Tell me."

I took her in my arms and clasped her as one clasps the dying when the sands of life are almost run and the shadow of eternal severance falls dark and very near.

"Hugh, you're shaking! Oh, I'm frightened. What is it?"

"Darling," I said, lying boldly, "it's only a dispute between the captain and the mate about stopping for the cutter; you've nothing to be afraid of. Go down to your cabin and stay there for a little; they may use rough language and in any case you're better off the deck with all this spray flying."

I do not think she was quite deceived, for her eyes asked questions that I could not answer; but she turned away silently and crept down the companion, held up by my arm. I took her to her berth and left her lying there, wedged in with pillows for steadiness; the ship was rolling very badly now.

Then I returned to the deck.

The cutter had been doing near as much as ourselves (the Merrie England is by no means an ocean greyhound) and was now overhauling us rapidly. The mate was inspecting our pursuer through a glass; he handed it to me, silently, as I came up. I steadied myself against the water-tank and looked. Carolan's figure, hauling hard on a sheet, leapt into sudden clearness inside the ring of the lens. His police, in their blue and red tunics, were squatting about the deck of the cutter, holding on to the weather-gunwale as the boat heeled over to the wind. There seemed to be about a dozen of them.

"You see I was right," said the mate. He had dropped the "sir" now, and was casting suspicious glances at me out of his gooseberry eyes. Captain Nash remained in his cabin with the door shut.

In a very few minutes the Kapa-Kapa was right alongside us, recklessly braving the ugly chop of our pitching bows. The line thrown out by the mate was smartly caught by a constable. Carolan seized the Jacob's ladder as the cutter swung past and clambered on deck with some difficulty—a damp, bedraggled figure, hair on end, face unshaved, duck clothing dirty and wet—the very ghost of the trim official that Port Moresby knew. His face was grey and mottled as the back of a lizard; his eyes burned black and fierce at the bottom of two dark caverns. He was a full stone lighter than on the day I had met him under the rubber-tree—the day on which I had mocked and triumped over him. . . . To-day it was his turn.

He came up to me where I stood in the middle of the deck. The pitching of the ship made him stagger, and he almost flung himself upon me as he reached out to touch my arm.

"Lynch," he said—and there was something like a rim of foam about his lips as he spoke—"I arrest you for the murder of Herbert Sanderson in Rossel Island April last year."

The mate whistled shrilly.

"Oho!" said he. "So that's the milk of the cocoanut!"

The boatswain, glued to the bulwark, chewed like a machine, and stared hard, lest he should miss a movement or a word. From the cutter below the shock-headed native police were climbing one by one to the deck, every man with his rifle over his shoulder and his bandolier across his naked chest. Evidently Carolan meant to take no chances. I did not move from where I stood, but I cursed Carolan—once. I need not write what I said.

The mate looked at me with interest. The captain peered out of his half-opened port (whence, no doubt, he had heard everything), and drew back his head. The police grounded their arms on deck, leaned upon their rifles, and fixed their brown-china eyes on me.

Carolan cleared his throat, and put on his official manner.

"Well?" he said, jingling something in his pocket.

"I—I wouldn't, sir, if I was you," warned the mate in an audible aside; "I know his sort; they go me," he added, wiping his mouth "with the 'kava-kava' right away, if you tie 'em up. Ask him if he'll go quiet, sir, do. Blame," back of his hand embarrassedly, "if I'm not more than half sorry for the poor devil—and he a sailor-man himself and all."

"Lynch, if I don't handcuff you, will you return quietly?" asked the chief magistrate.

I did not speak because I could not. I took a turn across the deck, and snatched at a water-bottle I saw standing in one of the deck cabins. My mouth and throat were as dry and burning as the furnaces of the ship. I tossed half the water down, and faced Carolan again.

"I did it," I said. "I'd do it again to-morrow—and I'd kill you here on the deck with my bare hands—only—only for—"

I broke off and cursed him again. The captain's face, very pale, showed like an apparition behind the glass of his port; he had screwed it tight, and his door was shut. The police drew together like a bunch of frightened beasts, and fingered the locks of their Winchesters.

"Yes, I know you'd serve me as you served poor Sanderson, if you dared," said Carolan, keeping his ground and his temper as if he had been in his own courthouse ashore. "I know that; but even you woudn't do murder again—with her on board."

"If you lay your lips to the name of my wife——" I began.

The mate stepped forward and put his hand on Carolan's arm.

"Sir, they were married this morning—did you know?" he asked. And those green eyes of his looked on me almost pitifully.

There was no pity in Carolan's face; he glowed like an Elizabethan true believer haling a discovered priest to the hanging and quartering.

"I heard the wedding was fixed for this week, of course," he said, and when I saw the Merrie England under steam, I knew it had taken place. . . . I've scarcely slept or eaten for a week, trying to get that cursed cutter up the coast in time. It was chance took me down to Rossel—a row among the natives—but something I heard there set me at work, and I got it all clear in a few days. . . . If you don't hang for what you've done, Hugh Lynch, there's no law or justice in a British Crown colony. Now are you coming quietly, or are you not?"

Before I could answer, the mate intervened again.

"Sir, if we've got to go back to port, we might as well get her under way again and tow the cutter," he said. It seemed to me that he was trying to save me from the necessity of speaking.

"Where's the captain?" demanded Carolan.

"He's in his cabin . . . sick," grinned the mate, rolling over to Nash's door. He knocked till it was opened, and then went in. What he said to the captain I do not know, nor did I ever care to ask. I never saw Nash, or the necklace, again.

The mate came out, went on the bridge, and rang the telegraph. The screw began to beat; the ship tore up the waves as she turned. In another minute she had swung round upon her former track, and was pitching through the seas to Port Moresby.

We got into still water in about half an hour, and opposite the pier the engines were stopped, and the anchor chains roared down. I had been hoping against hope that Stephanie might stay in her cabin until I had been taken away, so that she might be spared as much as possible; but the letting go of the anchor roused her from the troubled sleep into which she had fallen, and she came on deck.

I saw her catch at the rigging and almost fall as she caught sight of the crowd collected there—the twelve police grouped close about me, Carolan's haggard figure keeping guard, the mate shouting orders to the sailors in the bow, and the captain nowhere visible.

"Hugh!" she said, with almost a shriek. "Mr. Carolan! Oh, what has happened?"

I sat down on the skylight and buried my head in my hands, for I could not look at her. All my strength seemed turned to water at the sight of her face—hers, upon whom I had brought a sorrow worse than death. I heard Carolan speaking, and then a scream from Stephanie tore the air.

"Liar!" she cried, and her feet flew across the deck. Her arms were around me, her fingers tearing away my hands from my face.

"Hugh! he's telling lies—he says you are a murderer—look at me, darling. I don't believe him—I wouldn't if he was dying—you never did it! Hugh, speak to me—I believe you before all the world!"

I looked up, and she turned grey—grey as the dusk now falling fast on sea and town.

"I killed him," I said.

"You—killed him," she said, with glassy eyes. "Will they—kill—you?"

"I hope so," I answered her, and dropped my head in my hands again.

* * * * *

When I looked up Stephanie was gone.

A brown woman stood before me, a woman decked in beads and feathers—Tararua. The Governor's boat was lying alongside the ship—empty, save for the crew. Carolan was sitting on the bulwark by the accommodation ladder, guarding the opening with his police.

"Where is she?" I asked. I was past all surprise—past feeling, mercifully, for the moment.

"Misi Sefania he stop 'long cabin," answered Tararua. "Misi Sefania he cly fenty. Govana he been come, he stop 'long Misi Sefania."

"Ask her to come and see me—before I go," I said.

There was another interval, I do not know how long. Then Tararua was standing before me again, and I heard her say:

"Misi Sefania, he tell 'Good-bye.' ".

* * * * *

I "went quietly." The police boat came alongside, and Carolan and I and the twelve constables got into it. The night falls quickly in New Guinea; there was scarce a spark of the orange after-glow remaining in the west as we trampled across the flat to the gaol. The wind thrashed fiercely among the palms and tore the blossoms from the oleanders, flinging them down upon the track as if in mockery of the flower-strewn path that Stephanie and I had trodden together that morning—only that morning, when the sun was in the heavens, and love and life and happiness were mine. Now it was night, and the stars had fallen from the sky, and I was in the dark—alone.

* * * * *

I might write a good deal about the trial, but I do not care to. I have grown tired—tired of writing, tired of remembering, tired almost, of living. What does it matter in the end?

"What is it all but a trouble of ants, in the gleam of a million, million suns?"

A hundred years hence, it will not matter to anyone that Stephanie and I once lived, loved, parted, and died. There'll be a grave in an English cemetery—a grave with marble and ironwork that cost someone money to put up, before it rotted and crumbled away; there'll be a pinch of fat earth under the fathom-deep leaf-mould of the ten thousand foot ranges, or a handful of phosphate at the bottom of the coral seas, that once was I . . . . instead of a double headstone in the swampy Port Moresby graveyard, with two sets of bones beneath it gone back to earth side by side, as there would have been if . . . .

That will be all the difference—then.

(To be continued.)

"A BALKAN PRINCESS."

Stephanie is a Balkan princess, who must either abdicate or marry one of the six royal dukes, five of whom she has seen and dislikes, whilst the sixth refuses to attend for inspection, leaving the curious and high-spirited girl to seek him incognito at a Bohemian restaurant, where he is petted by the pretty girls who share his leisure hours. This is the basis of the new musical play at the Theatre Royal. It will be guessed at once that it belongs dramatically to the series of pieces set amidst the picturesque surroundings of Eastern Europe made fashionable by "The Merry Widow." There is just a suggestion of that much-sought heiress in the suitors, who kneel to Princess Stephanie; there is a touch from "A Waltz Dream" in the fact that Duke Sergius is beloved by a noble lady, and an artist, and that the latter, unlike Franzi, who had a violin on which to wreak her rage, breaks only her heart, as she resigns him to the princess; the scene of lovely women, and sparkling wine, riotous merriment, and reckless song, harks back once more to the Prince of Marsova's haunt at Maxine's; and finally, the new story is a reversal of the "The King of Cadonia," inasmuch as in that case the King disguised himself to make love on his personal merits to Marie, whilst it is the Balkan Princess herself who sinks her rank in order that she may win Duke Sergius in spite of his antipathy, should he prove worthy of such a piquantly feminine achievement. The result of this deft conglommeration of highly dramatic ideas is a pleasing romantic play, exquisitely staged, cleverly acted, both on the sentimental and the less ably schemed comic side, and brightened by an intermittent flow of tuneful song, humorous duets, and dashing ballets. Frederick Lonsdale (author of the "King of Cadonia") and Frank Curzon are responsible for the new book, and Paul Rubens and Arthur Wimperis for the music, of this operatic play. Skilfully produced by Mr. Wybert Stamford, and with the choral and orchestral forces of the J. C. Williamson Company, directed with spirit by Mr. Fritz Hart, "A. Balkan Princess," though not inherently strong, won a cordial reception from a very crowded house, closing with a scene of enthusiasm at the end of which all the principals were awarded flowers.

The first act opens in an elegant reception-room at the Palace of Balaria, where hussar and artillery officers and diplomats discuss the gossip of the day, and court ladies exhibit the latest fashions in tints that harmonise with the saxe-blue colour scheme of carpets, walls, and ceiling. A great deal of plot is here unfolded, and whilst the audience gets fugitive glimpses of the princess, the comic characters have a good deal of their own way. These are two merry thieves, a swell, and a vulgarian, whose habit of picking diamonds off the ladies' trains, juggling with the royal pearls, and abstracting cups and candlesticks keeps the audience in a simmer of laughter. The head of this group is Mr. Langford Kirby, who imports a good deal of "manner" and style into the character of the aristocratically-dressed Prince Boris. The comedy-artist makes his principal hit in the fascinating valse air (with semi-chorus), "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now." Mr. W. S. Percy is not less prominent as the false prince's valet, Blatz, short, fat, and impudent in his fez and Turkish trousers. Grotesque touches in the orchestration assist the fun of their eccentric duet, "Stealing;" after which Blatz, for felonious purposes, makes love to Magda, the royal "char-lady," and as this character is smartly played by Miss Lottie Sargent they soon stand forth as the joyous promoters of much nonsense. There is the duet "I Char," in the graceful dance to which Miss Sargent, slipping suddenly on the treacherous carpet, achieved the most complete, sudden, and alarming fall that the present writer has witnessed in twenty years of "first nights," and then leapt to her feet again with equally amazing rapidity, so that many people regarded the adventure as a new and taking acrobatic figure! Mr. Bert Gilbert creates a new character as a lachrymose, mute-like waiter in seedy black, his raven locks parted in the middle, and a long corkscrew curl drooping over each cheek! "Henry" waits at the Bohemian Restaurant, and amidst all that luxury looks like a drop of ink on a cloth of gold! The comic parts take a deal of thought and hard acting, but Mr. Gilbert's melancholy slowness is so true to life that the audience chuckles. Henry, five years before, was married to Magda, but was never seen again after a certain Sunday, when "he was standing by the side of the canal, and he completely lost his memory, and he'll never forget it." Henry meets Blatz and Magda arm-in-arm at the restaurant, and the somewhat extended verbal rally which ensures is another occasion of hilarity. Mr. Gilbert and Miss Sargent finally reunite in a dolefully funny duet of sarcasm, "I'd Like to Meet your Family;" and in other ways keep the ball a-rolling.

There is a great deal of sentiment, and not a little of slightly stilted language, for the lovers in the piece, and this side of the story is properly associated with some superb tableaux by Messrs. John Gordon, Board, and Little. The restaurant, with the waterfall by the gloomy wood, on which the gleams of moonlight linger by the lake in the grounds beyond; and the noble classic facade in the last act, where the maids of honour in their modern overskirts, slim, straight, and shimmering, like the Grecian maidens in Alma Tadema's pictures, with arches, pillars, marble steps, and bosky groves, was a veritable dream of loveliness. Miss Florence Young, splendidly attired, with her diamond tiara crowning her head, played with admirable dignity as Princess Stephanie, and at this point rendered with power and sweetness a charming song to which the ladies hummed a tender accompaniment. The scene in which the princess calls up the captive Sergius before her was shown with force and feeling by both artists. Mr. Frank Greene has done nothing better than Sergius, handsome, buoyant, and gallant. Like Miss Young, the baritone, who was in capital voice, had several songs, the best of which were "Dear, Delightful Woman," and "A Man's a Man," both of which were delivered with convincing enthusiasm. Miss Olive Godwin as Sofia, surrounded by the richly-dressed sirens of Bohemia, sang with vivacity and point the captivating number "Love and Laughter;" and at the end of the opera the intensity of her acting gave depth to the sentiment of Sofia's resignation of her adored lover to the legal claims of her more aristocratic rival. Mr. Pat Bathurst as the white-headed Prime Minister, and Mr. Edmund Sherras as the soldierly Captain Radomir, were acceptably prominent amongst the minor characters, which included also Miss Vio Parsons as Olga. Probably the most popular event of the evening was the "Balarian Ballett," to Andrew M'Cunn's piquant strains, by an octet of ballerinas associated with another octet of acrobatic girl-dancers, all of whom joined in the strenuous activity of the Russian top-boot style, whilst a tiny boy spun round, leapt, and shouted like a veteran. Miss Minnie Hooper ballet mistress, responded to the call which resulted from this success.

Wool and Wealth!

WOOL is the principal staple of Australia, and provides a very material part of its wealth. Every bale of wool exported brings back golden profit in which everyone shares. It is folly to suppose that the squatter only becomes rich—the whole country benefits; and the same applies to other industries, and particularly to the manufacture of woollen goods. If you do your share to ask for and wear AUSTRALIAN WOOLLEN GOODS, you are helping to shape and fulfil the destiny of the race—you are helping to build up the prosperity of Australia.

VICARS' Tweeds and Worsteds,

MADE IN AUSTRALIA.

The label "Made in Australia" should, wherever possible, be demanded by citizens; it should be a matter of honour to wear Australian Goods. The TWEEDS and WORSTEDS made by Australian workmen for VICARS & CO., at Marrickville, are good enough to hold their own with any foreign competition—they are honest wool, well woven, and especially suitable for our ever-changing climate.

If you agree with these sentiments, prove it in practise by ordering VICARS' AUSTRALIAN TWEEDS for your next suit. You will help everybody concerned—the squatter, who grows the wool, the manufacturer, who weaves it into cloth, the tailor, who cuts and makes it into your suit, the carrier, who delivers it to your door, and all these are your fellow-labourers, working and living alongside of you. Ask your tailor to show you patterns.

AMUSEMENTS.

MISS GILLIAM AT THE CRITERION.

The introduction of Miss Gertrude Gilliam at the Criterion Theatre on Saturday night in "The Gay Gordons" gave to the character of Victoria Siddons an added importance, arising wholly and solely from the personal popularity of the actress, which does not properly belong to it, and in that way considerably strengthened the cast. Miss Gilliam cleverly invested the part with a new flavour by emphasising the fact that Victoria was for a few hours impersonating an American heiress, and in that way, besides the uproarious greeting which welcomed her return, she won a hearty encore for "Miss Innocent," rendered with a Yankee accent. Musical comedy need not be scrutinised closely. If it were, the original reading of Miss Nell Finnis would be more than justified by the fact that Miss Imeson plays the American heroine as English, so that there is no accent to imitate. Doubtless the leading artist finds this method helpful in a long part, in which an accent of any kind would ultimately worry the audience. Miss Gilliam was encored again for "Come Along, Little Boys," and must be credited with playing the part very smartly at short notice. Miss Florence Imeson, Mr. Frank Lincoln, and Mr. Thomas Graves were all in great form, the house was crowded, and "The Gay Gordons" moved as brightly as if the run had only just begun. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

"Jack and the Beanstalk" entered upon the last fortnight of the run to an immense audience on Saturday at Her Majesty's Theatre, where the glories of the transformation scenes and dazzling ballets, and the fun promoted by Misses Arundale, Firmin, and Eaton, Messrs. Kenyon, Cannot, Darrell, and the Pantzers, will all disappear after next Friday week. There will be matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

J. C. Williamson, Ltd., has now nearly completed elaborate preparations for the H. B. Irving season, which will open at this theatre with "Hamlet" on Saturday, June 24. All plan arrangements will be notified on Wednesday.

ADELPHI THEATRE.

"Under Two Flags" entered upon the final week of its prosperous run at the Adelphi Theatre to a fine audience on Saturday, when, owing to preparations for the new drama, the last matinee of Ouida's romantic story was also given. Miss Ethel Buckley in the vivacious love-scenes, and in the ride for life, with the touching death in the hero's arms at the end, had the house warmly with her.

Mr. George Marlow's new production next Saturday will be "Driving a Girl to Destruction," in which Miss Louise Hampton and Mr. Cecil Mannering, two new artists from England, will head the company. The plan is at Elvy's.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

Barnold's Performing Dogs have once more reappeared, for five nights only, at the Tivoli, and the remarkable intelligence of the animals held Saturday's audience in amaze. As long as the dogs were on the stage, there was a constant outburst of laughter. The present programme is generally good throughout. The two Australian Dartos give a vivid representation of the Apache Dance, while the Columbia Comedy Trio, who have introduced some new features, have made their turn still funnier than before. Arthur Croxon, the monologue entertainer, is decidedly funny as the very youthful curate who has spent "a most delightful evening." Miss Fanny Powers, the Kavanagh Boys, Ted Kalman, and Vaude and Verne, also unite in forming an excellent evening's entertainment.

NATIONAL AMPHITHEATRE.

The programme at the National Amphitheatre contained some excellent turns on Saturday. Starr and Leslie have reappeared once, with all their former powers of amusing the audience, while two other vocalists, Josephine Johnstone and Ilmo Kibby, have also returned to achieve even greater success. Frank Martin, a new comedian, made his debut, and won a triumph from the start. The Lenton Trio, with their clever juggling and acrobatic feats, kept the ball rolling merrily, while Daisy Harcourt sang some new songs in her happiest vein. The Musical Gardiners, Olga Pennington, Will Ferrier, the National Trio, and other clever artists, were also well received.

WEST'S PICTURES.

West's Pictures at the Palace and Princess Theatres drew crowded houses at both exhibitions on Saturday. Some excellent films were shown—humorous, dramatic, and scenic. "Henry VIII." was presented for the last time. On Monday night a number of new pictures will be screened, including "A Tale of Two Cities," from the novel by Charles Dickens. There are many thrilling incidents, among them being the sensational arrest of Charles Darnay, and the execution of Sydney Carton. Then there is the imprisonment of Dr. Manette in the French Bastille, actual warfare in the streets during the French Revolution, and the marriage of Lucy Manette to Charles Darnay. Other films include "The Lovedale Operation," drama; "The Test of Love," drama; "The Construction of Electric Lamps," industrial; "Foolshead Wrangles for Love," comic; "Bobby's Conjuring Trick," "Tontolini's Clarionette," and "Glimpses of Pisa." At an early date "Our Navy" series will be submitted. This is the original "Our Navy" picture performance from London, and will include all the latest Dreadnoughts of the day.

LYCEUM THEATRE.

Spencer's Pictures were shown to packed houses at both the matinee and evening exhibitions on Saturday. The "Robert Emmet" series was put on for the last time. The programme also included a number of excellent films of the humorous, dramatic, and scenic type. To-night, in conjunction with an entirely new programme, Mr. Spencer will present a series from his own factory of "A Trip to Hobart." This will show the beauties of the city in the following scenes: Town Hall, Elizabeth street, Franklin square, G.P.O., Panorama from Landowne Crescent, University, Government, Parliament, and Customs Houses, Port Arthur, River Derwent, New Norfolk, and yachting in the harbour. Their majesties the King and Queen, opening the Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, will also be shown to-night, May 12, an almost unexampled speed in keeping abreast with events in England. "A Tale of Two Cities" will also be a star feature, and there will be an entirely new programme.

J. D. WILLIAMS' THEATRES.

THE LYRIC.

A number of excellent pictures will be shown at the Lyric Theatre to-day. These will include Pathe's "European Gazette" (latest world's news illustrated), "Tontolini's Clarionette" (musical instrument comedy), "Bonny Scotland" (scenic and travel study), "I Can't Read English" and "Hearts and Happiness." But the feature of the exhibition will be "A Tale of Two Cities," one of the greatest dramas yet produced by the Vitagraph Company. It is over 3000ft long. The first part deals with the French Revolution, and is full of sensational and thrilling situations. Then comes the imprisonment of Dr. Manette in the Bastille, showing the most famous of French prisons. In the second part Sydney Carton and Lucy Manette are shown, also the latter's marriage to Charles Darnay. The mobs, revolutionists, and actual warfare in the streets are also depicted, as well as the sensational arrest of Charles Darnay and the execution of Sydney Carton at the guillotine.

COLONIAL NO. 1.

The Colonial Theatre No. 1 announces that the programme for Monday evening will contain, amongst many interesting features, "Gaumont Graphic," illustrating the latest world's news, "Who gets the Order," new comedy, a romantic drama entitled "The Lovedale Operation," and "Fashion and the Consequences," a high-class farce comedy. "On the Desert's Edge" is one of the finest melodramas yet produced. It is full of sensation, sentiment, and thrilling dramatic situations. "Man and his Mother-in-law" is another new item.

COLONIAL NO. 2.

An attractive programme is announced at the Colonial Theatre No. 2 for Monday. Among the numerous pictures screened will be Pathe's "Australian Gazette," the latest Australian events just as they took place, "Teaching Dad to Like Her," new comedy drama, "That Old Cannon," comedy, and "Palestine," a scenic and educational study of a most interesting foreign country. "Her Father's Sin" is a wonderful story of every-day life, interwoven with romance and pathos, and depicted in a silent drama. "1 Grenadier Poland" is a war drama, the plot of which is woven around Russia during the period of Napoleon's invasion in 1872. It bristles with thrilling situations, is rich in scenery, and interwoven with romance. "Toddles, Scout" is a new comedy, full of comical situations.

GLACIARIUM.

A large number of people visited the Glaciarium on Saturday night, the majority of them to indulge in the exhilarating sport of skating; but not a few to witness the exhibition given by Professor Allander, and also the hocky match which took place later in the evening. Next week's programme will include exhibitions by Professor and Miss Charlton, on Wednesday afternoon and Saturday evening, and by Professor Allander on Tuesday afternoon and Thursday evening.

STANDARD.

Large audiences were in evidence at both the 7 o'clock and 9 o'clock sessions at the Standard Theatre, Castlereagh-street, on Saturday. A new programme was presented, including Herr Theodore, in his sensational chandelier act; the Watson Sisters, a clever pair of quick-change artists; and Miss Gladys Conway, in an artistic skipping-rope dance. The concluding item was a farce, "The Americans in Paris," by Messrs. Alf. Pockley, Wal. Cottier, Alf. Edwards, and Miss Maie Martin.

NORTH SYDNEY COLISEUM.

The continuous picture show at this up-to-date theatre continues to draw good houses. As the films are of a high-class character they are received with much favour. A feature of the entertainment is the illustrated song.

The skating rink continues to gain in popularity, and on Saturday, during each of the three sessions, this favourite winter pastime was spiritedly indulged in. To-night a fancy-dress and mask carnival will be held.

GLACIARIUM.

The ideal ice-skating weather makes the Glaciarium especially attractive just now, and with the influx of the great number of English visitors that arrive to-day, the ice rink is likely to prove the rendezvous of many brilliant gatherings during the next few weeks. The morning and afternoon sessions are particularly attractive, both to the neophyte and to the expert—and therefore also appeal in a special way to the spectator. The Australian Grand Orchestra attends all sessions.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.

There was a crowded house at the Alhambra Theatre on Saturday evening, when a specially-selected programme was submitted. "Never Too Late to Mend," "They Would Skate," and "Davy Jones in the South Seas" were most attractive items. In the change of programme announced for this week special numbers will be "A Tale of Two Cities," "Thelma," and a number of other new subjects.

LAWRENCE CAMPBELL RECITAL.

Every seat of the Y.M.C.A. Hall was occupied on Saturday evening, when the last of the season's Lawrence Campbell recitals was given. A tasteful furnishing of the platform lent a happy charm to the proceedings. The elocutionist's contribution consisted of no less than 13 recitations. Madame Cecilia Waldron, the possessor of a strong mezzo-soprano voice, accompanied tactfully by Miss Lillian Frost, shared the task of entertaining an attentive and enthusiastic audience. Her items included "Come, Sweet Morning" and "Lullaby" (Alice Lehmann), "Mignon" (Guy D'Hardelot), "Once in the Time of Roses" (Corbett), and "Lete." Mr. Campbell's initial item was Tennyson's "The Revenge," which soon developed its dramatic "colour," and the salient lines: "Sink me the ship, master gunner! Fall into the hands of God—not into the hands of Spain!" were delivered with thrilling intensity. "Tears" (Deasly) and "When the Sun Went Down" (Henry Lawson), a mining pit sketch followed. A happy-ending dialogue, "Suppose," preceded the unpolished, or rather polished, account of Rubinstein's Playing (Adams), which culminates in a thundering chord of 283,297 demi-semiquavers. Here the only encore was pathetically given, "A Bunch of Roses." After the interval three musical monologues were presented, to the composer's accompaniment (Mrs. Shaw Mazer). The first two, by Will Ogilvie, formed a sharp contrast—"Playmates," a poem of tender pathos, and "Vita Brevis," of a highly sensuous flavour. A passionate appeal for "Twenty Gallons of Sleep" was the third. The humorous sketches appropriately ended the programme. "My First and Last Appearance on the Stage" (Turner), the popular "Funeral of the late Mrs. Hodgson" (Barry Pain), Tommy Atkins' "Autograph" (Wallace), and an original "The House that Jack Built," ushered out the hearers with smiling faces.

KING'S THEATRE.

Crowded houses were the order at the King's Theatre last week, and the programme was received with great favour. "On the Desert Edge" and "Sir Percy and the Punchers" were two films which attracted much attention. A complete change of programme is announced for this week. A sacred and classical entertainment was given last evening, and attracted a large audience.

CHARITY CONCERT.

HOSPICE FOR THE DYING.

Although disappointed in not hearing Mdlle. Dolores once more, the large audience at the Town Hall on Saturday night had the pleasure of a short programme of delectable musical pieces, which, in their brightness and the satisfactory manner of their rendition, almost entirely compensated for the loss. The Hospice for the Dying, that charitable institution which opens its doors to the sick poor who are on the brink of the unknown, is badly in need of funds. When artists like Dolores, Mr. Walter Kirby, Mr. Lemmone, and Madame Slapoffski volunteer their services in the effort to gather in the wherewithal to carry on the good work, success is assured. The concert will result in a contribution of over £300 towards it. Mdlle. Dolores' indisposition had not sufficiently removed itself to enable the diva to appear, and there was a concerted "Oh" from all over the hall when the honorary manager, Mr. H. N. Southwell, made the announcement. Mr. Southwell read her message to the audience—"At the last moment hope has given away to regret. It would have pleased me beyond measure to have lent my aid in the beautiful charity. Unfortunately, I can give only my sympathy, as it is impossible for me to sing." The loss was made up by Madame Slapoffski and Miss Mabel Batchelor. The former sang "To-night" and "The Kerry Dance," the second item being given in response to a demand for a reappearance following on the accustomed executive ability with which Zardo's captivating ballad was voiced. Miss Batchelor came forward with Mr. Lemmone and singer and flautist blended their gifts most charmingly in "Lo, Here the Gentle Lark." Needless to say, portion of it had to be repeated. In Mr. Lemmone, Mr. Laurence Godfrey Smith, and Mr. Bryce Carter, the concert was exceptionally well supplied with instrumentalists. Mr. Smith's performance of one of Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsodies was replete with musical refinement—an artistic interpretation that merits high commendation. The lovely tones of Mr. Lemmone's flute were heard in rippling cascades of notes in a descriptive solo entitled "By the Brook," killingly reminiscent of murmuring water and sylvan dells. He also played a gay little Spanish air redolent of the dance and the castagnettes. Mr. Carter's first 'cello solo was a haunting adagio melody by Bargiel, entrancing in its mind-compelling qualities, which was played with musicianly feeling; and later he gave Schumann's "Traumerei" and the "Papillon" of Popper. Mrs. H. Ratley Allard (Miss Emma Summlich) was heard in several beautiful little airs, the most notable of which were perhaps "The Captive Lark" and "A Little Winding Road" by Ronald; and "Birds of the Matins," by Mrs. Thomas Kingston. Mr. Kirby was in fine form and was heartily applauded for an excellent rendition of the poet's song from "La Boheme." At the end of the programme he had four items bracketed together. The prevailing custom of a concert singer grouping a number of minute musical delicacies has much to recommend it, inasmuch as the ear is given the benefit of the quick change that is entering into so many phases of life in the desire for novelty, and at times there is pleasure in one song of half a dozen lines following another of a single verse that is not obtained by the older form that aims at playing on the emotions. Still, this latter quality need not be altogether eliminated from the presentation. One of the numbers sung by Mr. Kirby was a poetic morceau by Miss Theakstone, entitled "Life," which was strong in the sentiment it contained, and was carried in a graceful setting. The audience was also delighted with "The Bells of Shandon." After singing the four numbers on the programme Mr. Kirby was compelled to give a fifth ere the homeward movement began. The accompaniments of the evening were played by Messrs. Harold Whittle and Christian Hellenman. The concert was attended by the Lieutenant-Governor (Sir William Cullen) and Lady Cullen, Vice-Admiral King-Hall and Mrs. King-Hall, Lady Dudley and the Duchess of Bedford. The executive consisted of Mesdames Allen Taylor, Deery, Leahy, J. F. Hayes, and M'Elhone.

"Red Gum" regards the proposal to remove the Zoological Gardens to the vicinity of Bradley's Head as a joke. The headland, he says, is exposed to all winds, and too bleak for animals and birds. The site at Vaucluse would be a good one if enough land could be resumed so as to include the water frontage and the whole of the gorge up to the South Head-road. "But," our correspondent continues, "there is no better site than Rose Bay, taking in the whole of the land between Bondi Beach, Rose Bay Beach, the eastern side of the golf links, and Victoria-road."

"Progress" points out that each portion of the Necropolis is under the control of a separate trust, and thinks it high time that the Government appointed a general board of management.

The following correspondence has passed between Mr. Sawtell, sub-inspector of poli and Mr. Barnett, secretary of the A.M.A., with regard to shortage of skilled labour in Bro Hill.

From Mr. Sawtell, May 27:—

I am requested by the Director of Labour, Syd to ascertain for his information what openings opportunities there are for labour in the district Broken Hill. I, therefore, would esteem it a favour you would afford me any information at your disposal as regards the state of opportunities for employ and the possibilities of supply of suitable work present existing in Broken Hill.

Mr. Barnett replied:—

Re openings and opportunities for labour at Brok Hill. I placed your letter before the meeting of association, and am instructed to reply that re ing the state of opportunities for employment there are at the present time a very large number of following up the different shifts at the various mi seeking work and unable to procure it. As rega the possibilities of the supply of suitable worke Broken Hill, I wish to inform you that there present more men on the Barrier than are in dema in any class of the mining industry.

Mr. Sawtell wrote, June 2:—

I must admit that I am at a loss to underst variances which appear between the last paragraph your letter and the replies received by me from various mine managers along the line of lode to inquiries I made on behalf of the Director of Labour Sydney. Only last night I wired the director there were openings for 25 competent miners on 10, and six carpenters at the Junction North. I writing to-day for six fitters and one or two boil makers for the same mine. I am aware that is an over-plus of unskilled labourers in Broken Hill present, and also a number of unemployable men, make employment for others to obtain all the difficult. I am forwarding your letter to the Direc for his information.

Mr. Barnett replied:—

I still state, although acquainted of your wire the Director of Labour that there were openings for miners at the Block 10, and carpenters, fitters, boilermakers at the Junction North, that there hundreds of men seeking work and unable to pr any in Broken Hill. You mention that you are of the fact that there is an over-plus of unsk labourers in Broken Hill at present, and also a ber of unemployable men, which make employment the more difficult for many others; we are also tain that there are a large number of miners, as unskilled workers, out of employment here, others are arriving every day from other States, stocking an already glutted labour market. Th again, I fail to see your contention that there any unemployable persons at Broken Hill other those who are unable to work, and who cannot their misfortune; and also I fail to see where men make it more difficult for others to pro work.

FOOTBALL.

RUGBY UNION.

Manly defeated University, 3 points to nil.
Newtown defeated St. George, 19 points to 6.
Western Suburbs defeated Eastern Suburbs, 23 points to 11.
Glebe defeated South Sydney, 8 points to 3.
North Sydney defeated Balmain, 12 points to 8.

The Metropolitan Union advanced its competitions another stage on Saturday, when the games were keenly and interestingly fought out. The attendances in all cases showed another increase on the previous week. The results of last Saturday's matches leave the competition among the first-grade clubs much more open than has been the case since the season started, and now, after six weeks, only one point separates the four leading clubs. The future matches promise to provide excellent exhibitions of the Union code. At the Sydney Cricket Ground Manly sprang a surprise by defeating the hitherto invincible University team by a goal from a mark to nil, and on the play, thoroughly deserved their win. The victors carried out a set plan of quick breaking from the scrummage, and spoiling the movements of the opposition backs, and at times the backs of the team showed some excellent line kicking. During the first half 'Varsity had slightly the better of the game, although Manly defended ably, and kept the collegians from scoring. In the second spell Manly had just as much of the game as the opposing side, and the game was won by an excellent goal, kicked by Randell. Throughout the spoiling tactics of the villagers crippled the movements of the 'Varsity team, who seemed at a loss to understand the reason of their non-success. The game was ably refereed by Mr. Swannell, who had excellent control, and was always on the spot.

Newtown and St. George provided a fast and interesting game on the University oval in the presence of a good crowd of spectators. The first half showed the St. George forwards as a fast, dashing set, and mainly owing to their efforts the redoubtable blues, although favoured by the wind, had only a lead of five points at half-time, Newtown, 8; St. George, 3. The red and white brigade showed more vim and dash than the premiers in this half, but on reversing ends the blue, now sparkling in the forwards and feeding the backs with more system, eventually ran out winners by 19 points to 6, scoring 11 points to three in this half. The game was notable for the fine form shown by Carroll and Luscombe in the three-quarter line for St. George and Newtown respectively.

Western Suburbs showed excellent form in their game with Eastern Suburbs at Rushcutter Bay, and will be a particularly difficult side for any of the clubs to face in the remaining matches. Both forwards and backs kept up the pace during a game bristling with exciting incidents, and the team on Saturday's showing is thoroughly entitled to the position it occupies in the competition table. Easts' forwards showed at times, especially with the toe, Baker in particular being brilliant in this respect.

Glebe and South Sydney had a close and exciting contest for the greater part of the game at Sydney Cricket Ground No. 2, the Reds eventually winning by 8 points to 3. The scores were 3 to nil against Glebe for the greater part of the game, but towards the middle of the second spell the Reds put up 8 points, and ran out winners by the margin mentioned. On the whole the game was not brilliant, although at times some smart combined work was seen on both sides.

North Sydney broke the ice so far as its match-winning record is concerned by defeating Balmain at Epping by 12 points to 8. Norths had the best of the game, and at one time led by 12 points to nil. Towards the end, however, Balmain warmed up to the attacking work, and registered 8 points, and seemed like adding more when the "full time" whistle went. The Shoremen are to be congratulated on their win, and with the material at their disposal they should be credited with more victories before the season closes.

In the second grade Sydney Training College are still undefeated, and are showing excellent form, while Newtown leads the third grade competition, also with an unbeaten record.

MANLY BEAT UNIVERSITY.
3 POINTS TO NIL.

Played at Sydney Cricket Ground.

Manly.—S. Perry, full-back; C. Terry, J. Randell (captain), R. Ball, O. G. H. Merritt, three-quarters; C. James, D. Fitzgerald, half-backs; A. Elrington, E. Kirke, A. Buckley, R. Farnell, D. McCubbin, L. Hird, N. Roberts, and A. Lord, forwards.

University.—A. Hinder, full-back; A. C. Jekyll, R. C. Pockley, G. Harden, S. McLennan, three-quarters; L. St. James, E. M. Fisher, half-backs; L. J. Reynolds (captain), N. W. Broughton, A. Clatworthy, D. N. McGregor, J. B. Metcalfe, P. A. Morris, J. Milner, and A. Langan, forwards.

Referee, Mr. B. I. Swannell.

Manly kicked-off from the southern end, against the wind, and from the return by Pockley the ball went out at the Manly twenty-five. Play hovered in the Villagers' territory for about ten minutes, when from a scrum 'Varsity heeled. James passed to Fisher, to McLennan, who was off-side, and from the kick Randell found the line in front of the press table. From here Manly attacked by means of a forward rush, which looked like scoring, but some illegal work by a Manly forward, who was nowhere near the ball, caught the eye of the referee, and the students found relief in a long line-kick, which went into touch about ten yards from the corner flag. A couple of scrums here showed the collegians to have an immense advantage in weight and solidness, and Manly were pushed right back. 'Varsity tried some screwing, with only moderate success, as the Villagers were waiting to take the ball as soon as it emerged from the scrum. Fisher then tried the blind side passing, but Harden kicked hard over the line and a 25-yards drop-out resulted. University continued to press, but their opponents met each attack with solid defensive work, and the quick breaking from the scrum frustrated all the attacking schemes of the backs. The ball was worked down to Perry by means of a rush by McGregor, Reynolds, and Metcalfe. The full-back failed to field cleanly, and the ball was tossed about in front of goal; but Farnell secured and punted into touch at the twenty-five. Half-time; no score. On resuming, 'Varsity attacked from the kick-off, and a passing bout with Fisher, Harden, Pockley, and Jeckyll taking part was finished by the last-named being grassed about ten yards from the line. Manly put in some sterling defence, and the spoiling tactics of the forwards, together with the line-kicking and tackling of the backs, kept the students at bay. A long line-kick by Randell saw the ball out on 'Varsity's side of the half-way flag, and from the ensuing throw-in McCubbin marked in, some short ruck work. Randell took the 40-yards kick, and landed a fine goal. The collegians now livened up, and attacked hotly; but line-kicking sent them back each time. Reynolds and Metcalfe took the ball to Manly's territory, and some fine passing among the forwards saw McGregor send to Broughton, about ten yards from goal; that player meeting a couple of tacklers under the post sent to Reynolds, who grounded under the bar; but the referee penalised Reynolds for off-side. Manly took a turn at attacking, and Terry did a couple of bumping runs along the touch-line. Harden on one occasion brought him down by a beautiful low tackle, and on another he was forced into touch. A passing rush was attempted by the Villagers, and the ball went to Merritt on the wing. This player made a fine run, fending off Harden, McLennan, and Pockley; but finding himself cramped for room passed in-field, and the ball was knocked-on. Shortly after Randell had another attempt at goal from about the centre of the ground, and from a fine kick the ball just dropped under the bar. The whistle went with Manly attacking.

GLEBE BEAT SOUTH SYDNEY.
8 TO 3.

Played at the Sydney Cricket Ground No. 2, and won by Glebe by 8 points to 3. Teams:—

South Sydney.—Full-back, L. Morris; three-quarters, W. Wall, G. T. Radcliffe (captain), R. Fusedale, W. Baist; half-backs, A. Sandilands, J. Concannon; forwards, N. Coll, E. Cantle, E. Pengelly, E. J. Grieve, A. Anderson, T. Wall, W. Lenton, C. O'Donnell.

Glebe.—Full-back, M. White; three-quarters, N. Lomax, M. Fraser, J. Buckle, J. Massey-Westrop; half-backs, P. Buchanan, F. Wood (captain); forwards, J. Clarken, T. Griffen, H. Logan, J. Wylie, R. Stone, G. Walters, S. A. Midleton, B. Waddell.

Referee, Mr. F. Cody.

Radcliffe won the toss from Wood, and Glebe kicked off against a strong wind. South Sydney opened the attack with an unsuccessful kick for goal, and for some time play was never far away from the Glebe 25. Griffen and Clarken carried play past midfield, but the ball was kicked back to White, whose return was charged down by Anderson. The South Sydneyite raced after the ball, and, securing it, set out for the Glebe goal, but was overhauled by Fraser in time to prevent a score. The ball was rushed over the goal line, but a touch down was the outcome. Play hovered round the Glebe line, and their opponents being awarded a free kick, Fusedale succeeded in piloting the ball between the posts. South Sydney, 3 points, Glebe nil. The game developed into a battle between the forward divisions, the wind spoiling any concerted play amongst the backs, and, therefore, was not interesting as a spectacle. Glebe forwards at length moved to some purpose, and carried play to South's 25, and Buckle tried unsuccessfully for goal from a penalty kick. Glebe now forced the play, and attempted to open up the game, but the inevitable penalty kick spoilt their efforts, and caused them to be placed on the defensive. Buchanan initiated a strong rush in his own 25 by breaking through the ruck, passing to Clarken, who cross-kicked, and the ball was carried on to the 25, where a knock on took place. Morris received an injury ot his shoulder in stopping Clarken, and retired, when it was found he had fractured a collarbone. Black came on in his place just before the spell terminated. South Sydney 3, Glebe nil.

On resuming Glebe soon opened their scoring account, for using the line they brought play to South's territory, and from a scrambling rush Clarken scored a try within two minutes from the kick-off. Buchanan missed an easy shot. Scores, 3 all. Glebe were now after points, but just when a score was expected a pass from Wood towards Buchanan was intercepted, and South Sydney transferred play to the opposite 25 before they were stopped, and a further rush went to the goal line. Glebe were defending strenuously, when Clarken secured in the loose, and, breaking away, carried to midfield, where he was upset. A moment later the forward was heading another rush goalwards, but his pass went astray, and South Sydney relieved. Buchanan obtained from a scrum, and ran through to the full-back, and then passed to Clarken, who went on, but for some breach Glebe were penalised. Play was all in South's territory, and Buckle, taking a mark within kicking range, tried the kick himself, but failed in direction. South Sydney played up pluckily, and made a strong rush to their opponents' territory, but the maroons soon returned play to less dangerous quarters. Still they were not by any means doing as well as expected by their supporters, and with the wind dying down it was still anyone's game. After even play Glebe suddenly found their combination. Buchanan secured at midfield, and after making a good opening passed to Fraser, to Buckle, on to Massey-Westrop, who completed the movement by crossing the line well out, and then going round and scoring in a good position, and Buchanan converted. Glebe, 8 points; South Sydney, 3 points.

NEWTOWN BEAT ST. GEORGE.
19 TO 6.

In the presence of some 800 spectators these teams met on the University oval. Newtown won by 19 points to 6.

Teams:—

Newtown.—P. Luscombe (full-back), C. Hamey, E. E. Booth, A. Dunbar, F. Luscombe (three-quarters), F. Talbot, L. West (halves), W. Watson, S. Gilroy, R. Wighton, A. Tilley, G. Pugh, R. Hill, E. Dibley, P. Gilroy (forwards).

St. George.—E. Brown (full-back), H. Mullarkey, R. Tuffy, D. B. Carroll, M. Revell (three-quarters), L. Hatfield, A. Bond (halves), H. Billingham, R. Freeman, Crouch, W. Williams, M. Krumbach, J. Proudfoot, J. Byrne, J. Howard (forwards).

St. George kicked-off against a strong wind, and for the first few minutes play was of a very even character. St. George lost a chance by "knocking on" near the "blues'" line. Play was suspended for a while, Mullarkey sustaining injuries which necessitated his return to the pavilion. Lippiatt came on in his place. In play again, Talbot made a bold bid to get through, but was not allowed to go far, being splendidly tackled near the "25." Newtown then pressed, and St. George were penned inside their five-yards line. Luscombe centred nicely, and a score seemed imminent, but Brown managed to clear. He tried an impossible kick from a free a few minutes later, and Newtown returned to the attack. One of the latter's forwards secured, and made for the line, but the ball was unceremoniously taken from him by Tuffy, who transferred play. An excellent chance was lost near the St. George line, Luscombe mulling when there was little or no opposition. St. George then put in some fine work, and as a climax to some dribbling and passing, in which Tuffy and Revell were prominent, the latter got over. The try was not converted. In play again, Newtown were not long in equalising. The ball was flung out from the centre and Dibley passed to Dunbar, who, evading the tackle, scored a try. White failed at goal, and the scores were 3 all. The "blues" kept up the attack, and just before half-time Hill added another try, the outcome of some close work in front of the St. George goal. White had no difficulty in adding the extras. Half-time: Newtown 8, St. George 3.

On resuming, play was quiet for a period, the only item of interest being some fine defence by Dunbar, a possible try being nipped in the bud by very nippy play. St. George were having a shade the best of matters, and from a melee close to the blues' line Gilroy snapped up and fell over. Brown missed a very easy goal. A weak return by Brown gave Newtown an opportunity, and from a scrum the ball passed through several hands, finally reaching Talbot, who had no difficulty in getting over. The try was not converted. Newtown were now playing a winning game, and some fine passing rushes kept the St. George representatives constantly on the defence. Luscombe was the next to score, running straight from the St. George "25" and getting over in a very easy manner. In spite of these reverses, St. George played a great uphill game, but they lacked system. Their kicking was good, but in scrum work they were a long way behind. Newtown managed to secure another try, the result of a fine chain of passes. The ball went from Dunbar to Talbot, and then to F. Luscombe, who raced over. Hamey converted. The whistle then blew, leaving Newtown victors by 19 to 6.

NORTH SYDNEY BEAT BALMAIN.
12 to 8.

Played at Epping (Forest Lodge), in the presence of about 100 spectators, and won by North Sydney by 12 points to 8. Teams:—

North Sydney.—H. Thomas, full-back; W. Thomas, S. A. Geddes, J. Ryrie, S. Gilbert, three-quarters; L. Mayo, five-eighths; L. A. M'Kenna, half-back; C. H. Hicks, B. D. Hughes (captain), H. M. Mitchell, R. Sayers, H. J. Johnston, T. Britton, N. Graham, A. O. Hodgson, forwards.

Balmain.—E. Wicks, full-back; S. French, R. Featherstone, J. D. Jones, H. Craig, three-quarters; J. Flukes, five-eighths; A. Johnson, half-back; A. Love, P. Morgan (captain), H. Kirkby, F. Kirkby, R. Nelson, W. Watson, D. Christianson, F. Plumb, forwards.

There was a strong wind blowing across the ground, and North Sydney winning the toss took advantage of it. Morgan set the ball in motion for Balmain, and open play followed, Johnson doing good work for Balmain but being unsupported. North Sydney pressed, and French being penalised H. Thomas landed a good goal. North Sydney, 3 to nil. Soon after a scramble took place in Balmain's 25, and after some clever passing W. Thomas got across. H. Thomas failed to convert. North Sydney, 6 to nil. Balmain livened up and good aggressive work was done by the Kirkbys, Christianson, Featherstone, and Plumb; but the defence of North Sydney was too good, and the attackers were driven back. Half-time scores, North Sydney, 6 to nil.

On resuming Balmain had the strong wind in their favour, and their supporters thought they would make up the deficiency. But the ball had not been long in motion before M'Kenna snapped up, and running well, passed to Hughes to Mitchell, who scored near the posts. H. Thomas again failed at goal. North Sydney, 9 to nil. Balmain again met with disaster. Mitchell secured from a line out, but lost the ball. Mayo, who was handy, picked it up, and running in great style, covered half the field, and scored between the posts. Hughes failed at goal. North Sydney, 12 to nil. The black and gold now attacked, and French had an opportunity of scoring from a penalty, but the attempt was a poor one. Then Johnson, who was playing well, obtained in the loose, and breaking through passed to Plumb, to French, who lost, and the ball went out. From the line out H. Kirkby and Christianson dribbled to the goal line, and F. Kirkby, coming at the moment, scored cleverly. H. Kirkby failed to convert. North Sydney, 12 to 3. Balmain now made desperate attempts to secure the victory. A good combined rush of their forwards resulted in F. Kirkby picking up and passing to Flukes, who scored. Christianson made no mistake at goal. North Sydney 12, Balmain 8. Balmain again attacked, and it looked as if they would score every moment, but the final whistle sounded with North Sydney the victors by 12 to 8. Mr. J. Nicholls referee.

WESTERN SUBURBS DEFEAT EASTERN SUBURBS
23 TO 11.

Played at Rushcutter Bay, and won by Western Suburbs by 23 points to 11. The teams were:—

Western Suburbs.—Full-back, A. Wilkinson; three-quarters, D. Watson, O. H. Dean, W. C. Prentice, H. Prentice; halves, Ward Prentice, A. Prentice; forwards, B. Webster, W. Tully, H. J. Leddy, R. Alderson, T. Edgington, R. Creasy, C. Prentice, D. C. Reid.

Eastern Suburbs.—Full-back, H. Newman; three-quarters, A. Wickham, T. Millner, C. Davis, H. Scully; halves, H. Corbett, B. Bolton; forwards, J. Duffy, F. Morris, H. Baker, F. Fahey, P. Butler, H. George, H. Coglan, P. Russell.

Mr. N. B. Martin, referee.

Eastern Suburbs kicked off to a cross wind against them. The tri-colours' guernseys flashed over to the opposing 25's, but they were sent back by a well-timed kick by Ward Prentice. Somewhere near centre Ward Prentice cross-kicked, and A. Prentice and Watson handled, the man being last taken by Dean, who fell over the line as he was tackled. Ward Prentice failed at goal. Western Suburbs, 3-0. Give-and-take play followed, but some fine footwork by Ward Prentice kept the Eastern packs back on several occasions until a scramble in Easterns' territory ended in A. Prentice again whipping up and passing to Dean, who zig-zagged across and beat the full-back. Ward Prentice added the goal points. Western Suburbs, 8-0. Now roused, Eastern Suburbs tore in like tigers, and ran over the blue and whites. Twice they stormed the line, and on one occasion some mishandling spoiled an apparently certain try. Easts forced twice. Their opponents were then given a free. The ball was centred, and George obtaining wriggled across. Baker failed at goal. Western Suburbs, 8-3. Both teams made things lively and kept the spectators on the tip-toe of expectancy, but on the whole the blue and white were more machine-like and mostly in the ascendant. Eastern Suburbs losing one fine opportunity by a throw forward. After a period of attack by Western Suburbs, in which the tri-colours were kept very busy, Dean again scored in a passing rush started by Ward Prentice from near half-way. Quick pass and tackle were the feature of this bit of play. Ward Prentice's kick for goal was successful. At half-time the score was 13 to 3 in favour of Western Suburbs.

After the intermission Eastern Suburbs worried the opposing side considerably. Their backs were not equal, however, to the Western men, who in turn advanced up-field. Baker was very conspicuous for his side, and on one or two occasions led it in dangerous dribbling rushes. Wests' backs, however, were always equal to their task, and the ball found the line advantageously. In one of these charges Baker made good an opportunity. He gathered in and racing along fended off several tacklers, and the big Eastern Suburbs forward placed the ball comfortably behind the posts. The kick for goal went astray. Western Suburbs, 13-6. Following this Wests held the advantage for some time, and succeeded in stemming several vigorous onslaughts. A mix-up in front of Easts' goalposts kept both teams busy for a couple of minutes, but the ball finally found lodgment in Dean's hands, and it was whipped across. Again Ward Prentice added the extras. Western Suburbs, 18 to 6. Catching the Eastern men when in a somewhat demoralised condition, Dean shortly after raced along from near mid-field and scored. Ward Prentice once more converted. Western Suburbs, 23 to 6. The remainder of the game was fast and even, Baker scoring a fine try and also converting for East. When the whistle blew the scores were:—Western Suburbs, 23 to 11.

GOULBURN, Saturday.

At a general meeting of the Central Southern Rugby Football Union a letter was received from Orange, asking if the union would be willing to send a delegate to a proposed conference in Sydney to alter the Rugby Union rules to bring them more into line with those of the League. Mr. Parry (secretary) moved that the C.S.R.F. Union could not see its way to fall into line with the proposal. An amendment was moved embodying the motion, but with the addition that if a conference were held a delegate would be sent. The amendment was defeated, and the resolution carried by a large majority.

RUGBY LEAGUE.

TEAM TO MEET NEW ZEALAND.

SELECTION FOR ENGLAND.

The New South Wales team to play against New Zealand on Coronation Day (June 22) will be selected by Messrs. W. Flegg, D. Lutge, and C. J. B. White on Saturday next. In all probability the first batch of players—numbering eight—who are to form the team to visit England—will also be chosen. All of these men will be New South Welshmen. After the first match another eight will be picked, and after the Saturday match another four, leaving eight to be selected subsequently. On the form shown by the Queenslanders in Sydney, the northern State will be represented by few, if any, in the Australasian team. The selectors have to pick the players on their merits, and if there be no Queenslanders chosen it will be owing to the fact that they have no players in their ranks possessed of the necessary ability.

TEAM FOR WYALONG.

The following team, selected from the members of the Newtown Club, will leave Sydney to-day to play at Wyalong on Wednesday:—W. Neill, L. Algie, V. Farnsworth, O. Clutton, A. Ward, W. Farnsworth, M. Lee, T. Knight, P. A. McCue, W. Noble, F. Griffin, F. McCarron, F. Kerr, A. Ryan, W. O'Donnell, S. Burdon, and J. Gannon. Manager, Mr. T. Vaughan. The team will return to Sydney early on Friday morning.

METROPOLIS v COUNTRY.

The metropolitan and country selections played the opening match at the Royal Agricultural Ground on Saturday. The teams were:—

City (red and black).—Full-back, A. Morton (North Sydney); three-quarters, S. Strickland (Eastern Suburbs), M. Muggivan (Glebe), Roy Norman (Annandale), Rex Norman (Annandale); five-eighths, F. Greshier (Annandale); half-back, W. H. Hayes (Newtown); forwards, F. Burge (Glebe), G. Green (Eastern Suburbs), W. Maher (North Sydney), H. Butler (South Sydney), M. Frawley (Eastern Suburbs), S. Griffiths (Glebe).

Country (black and white).—Full-back, W. Keir (Hunter); three-quarters, R. Miller (Hunter), W. Bailey (Northern), E. M'Guinness (Northern), J. Dix (Northern); five-eighth, E. Patfield (Northern); half-back, J. Coleman (Northern); forwards, D. Russell (Hunter), W. Murray (Northern), B. Rees (Hunter), J. O'Toole (Hunter), F. Moore (Hunter), J. Hardy (Hunter).

Referee: Mr. L. Kearney. Touch judges: Messrs. H. M. Poulton and L. Hansen.

It was an even and featureless game for 20 minutes, but then it began to liven up, and after a series of exchanges Strickland got hold for the City, and after a good run passed to Butler, who scored a try, which Morton failed to convert. More even play and then Roy Norman dashed along the wing and transferred to Burge, who scored. Morton converted. Smart play by Muggivan, who had been distinguishing himself in the open play, gave the next score to the City. Strickland attended his brother three-quarter, and the pair beat a bunch of opponents. Muggivan drew the opposing tacklers to the wing, and passed accurately to Strickland, who got over. Morton failed at goal, and the half ended in favour of the metropolitan 13 to 11 points to nil.

The countrymen strained every muscle to score in the second half, and went close to the City line in one rush, but Morton was reliable, and put an end to the effort. Then Morton ran the ball to the northern end along one wing, and started a fine piece of play, which was carried on to the other wing by Butler, Frawley, Rex Norman, Green, and Hayes, and the lastnamed got over. Morton converted.

W. Butler was the next try-getter for City. Morton failed. At last the countrymen got a figure on the scoring board. Patfield from a scrum secured and passed to M'Guinness, who put his weight into a 10-yard struggle southward and scored a try, which was not converted. Green, Rex Norman, and F. Burge left the country team nonplussed by one passing attack, which ended in Burge scoring. Greshier kicked the goal. The country team pressed the City men back, and were within an ace of scoring twice. Miller appeared to score, but the referee ruled against him. Moore, who was also playing well, got a try a few seconds later, and M'Guinness converted. City 24 points; Country 8 points.

Strickland after a fast run passed to Roy Norman, who crossed and scored a try, which Butler converted and the game ended in favour of City by 29 points to 8.

NEWCASTLE GAMES.

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

On the Rugby League ground yesterday Glebe (Sydney) defeated a team representing the Newcastle Rugby League by 10 points to 8, after a very evenly-contested game.

AUSTRALIAN RULES.

A bright day, with a cold westerly wind, greeted the players as they took the field on Saturday, and big crowds were in evidence. The match between Sydney and East Sydney attracted over 3000 spectators. Although the final scores show Sydney to have a majority of nearly three to one, the actual play was close and exciting throughout, the inaccuracy of East's forward line accounting for the difference in the totals.

The best match of the day was at Erskineville Oval, where about 600 enthusiasts saw the downfall of last season's premiers, through the fine play of Newtown. Y.M.C.A. played a plucky game throughout, but the locals prevailed in the end.

North Shore followed up their success against Paddington by beating South Sydney, although there was only a difference of one in scoring shots. North won by their accuracy in goal shooting.

Paddington scored rather an easy win over Training College. Although the latter flattered their supporters at times by some brilliant work, the effort was not sustained.

RESULTS AT A GLANCE.

Sydney, 6 goals 9 behinds, beat East Sydney, 2 goals 5 behinds.

Newtown, 6 goals 7 behinds, beat Y.M.C.A., 5 goals 7 behinds.

North Shore, 9 goals 4 behinds, beat South Sydney, 3 goals 9 behinds.

Paddington, 10 goals 13 behinds, beat Training College, 3 goals 8 behinds.

NEWTOWN (43) beat Y.M.C.A. (37).

This match, which produced one of the best finishes yet seen in Sydney, was played at Erskineville oval. Mr. G. F. Petrie, field umpire. Each side were minus the services of a brace of their best players, but were, nevertheless, strongly represented.

Newtown had the advantage of a diagonal breeze toward the SE. goal, and made good use of their opportunities in the first term, scoring a couple of minors in quick time. Entwisle, Ryall, and Dickson putting in excellent work for Y.M.C.A., helped the ball along to Cooper, who caused the two flags to appear. Newtown immediately responded, and brilliant play by Provan, Dawson, and Ellis landed the ball in A. Dartnell's hands, Newtown's first six going on the board. Despite Y.M.C.A.'s efforts to beat back the opposing forces, Woods, Laver, and A. Dartnell each added a goal before the first bell, the scores at quarter-time reading:—Newtown, 4-3; Y.M.C.A., 1-0.

In the second term Y.M.C.A. were the attacking party in place of Newtown, and it took the latter all their time to stave off the attacks, despite which, Cooper, Andrews, and B. Dickson scored goals. Newtown on several occasions seemed on the point of scoring, but Y.M.'s defence was superb. A fine rush by Young, Forster, and Tennant gave Woods possession within distance, and a great effort by the latter had the bad luck to hit the goalpost. Y.M.C.A. returned to the attack, and Murtagh and Hedger, putting in fine work, had the Newtown goal in jeopardy as the half-time bell rang. The scores then were:—Y.M.C.A., 4-6; Newtown, 4-4.

Anybody's game was the unanimous opinion as the players entered the field after the interval. They settled down to strenuous play from the bounce, and a few minutes after resuming Whitfield had given Newtown a lead of 4 points by registering a goal off a free kick. Y.M. made amends for the breach a few minutes later, as B. Dickson snapped up the ball close to Newtown's sticks, and once more Y.M. were in front. The fast, even play was very much enjoyed by the crowd, and a shout went up from the Newtown supporters as Cutts, marking from Provan, scored Newtown's sixth goal. Three-quarter time scores:—Newtown, 6-6; Y.M.C.A., 5-6.

The final quarter was productive of great football. Each man straining every nerve in his endeavour to snatch the victory which hung in the balance. The game was particularly free and open, and grand defensive work was shown by Newtown, who successfully beat back repeated onslaughts by Y.M.C.A. Each side managed a single in the last quarter, and the final tally read:—
Newtown 6-7 (43).
Y.M.C.A., 5-7 (37).

SYDNEY (45) BEAT EAST SYDNEY (17).

A large crowd attended Moore Park to view the contest between these hitherto unbeaten teams. Both sides were represented by their full strength. The strong wind kept the play on the eastern boundary, and the crowd, encroaching on the ground, tended to a great extent to depreciate the brilliancy expected from two such teams. Nevertheless, a solid, strenuous game was put up, in which the forward division of East Sydney failed to rise to the occasion, as numerous chances to score were lost through congestion toward the centre when attacking. East led off with a fine rush, when the play was started, and three singles were registered in the first 10 minutes, each of which should have been goals. Then Sydney got going, and they also had three shots, each of which were of full value. Quarter-time scores: Sydney 3-1, East Sydney 0-4. Sydney's fine combination was evidenced in the second quarter, and the way they kept their places was an object-lesson to all clubs—as each man did his share of the work he dropped back to his place immediately. W. Fleming, of East Sydney, was an exception on his side. He stuck to his man, W. Koochew, and a grand battle ensued, honours being easy. Easts' ruck-work was superior to Sydney's, but where they lost the game was in the place men straying. Sydney put on 2 goals 2 behinds in this quarter, whilst East failed to add to their score. Half-time scores: Sydney 5-3, East Sydney, 0-4.

East rallied in the third term, and had several opportunities of scoring, but want of cohesion in the forward division nullified all the good work of the remainder of the team. At the same time, Sydney's defence was superb, Ryatt, Muggivan, Vincent, Conn, and Blackerly doing great work—the play of Ashley, Thomas, Cope, and Barry was equal to the best they have yet done; and, had the remainder of the team imitated their example, the result would have been much closer. In this term East put on 7 points to Sydney's 2, and the last term was fairly evenly contested, Sydney scoring 1 goal 4 behinds to East Sydney 1 goal 1 behind. The final scores were:—Sydney, 6-9 (45); East Sydney, 2-5 (17).

NORTH SHORE (58) BEAT SOUTH SYDNEY (27).

A large crowd was attracted by the meeting of these two teams for the first time. The former had 13 scoring shots to the latter's 12. Mr. W. G. Prince acted capably as field umpire. Charles Shipton, who has just been elected captain of the South Sydney team, set his team an excellent example by his clean, unselfish play, and so well did they do in the first half that a single point only separated the scores. During the second half South were not in the hunt, and North Shore ran out winners by 31 points, the final scores being North Shore 9 goals 4 behinds (58), South Sydney three goals 9 behinds (27). Kitt, Keissling, Scott, Wilson, M'Lean, and Robertson did splendid work for north.

PADDINGTON (73) BEAT TRAINING COLLEGE (26).

The field umpire, Mr. B. Sheils, said, referring to the match:—"This has been one of the most pleasant in my experience. My duties have been lightened by the absence of breaches of the rules, both teams playing a good, clean game. Paddington team was an improvement on that which has represented them during the past three weeks, whilst the collegians are quickly acquiring the finer points of the game, and must soon take a more prominent position on the premiership list. Paddington started off strongly, and had a couple of goals recorded in the first five minutes, a concerted rush by the lads from the college ended in a beautiful goal being scored by Headley. Paddington added another brace of sixes in the first half, the scores at the interval reading: Paddington, 4 goals 6 behinds; Training College, 1 goal 5 behinds. The third term saw Paddington at their best, and so well did they play that 28 points to 1 was the record for the quarter. They made great efforts in the final term, but could only add 2 goals (Wright and Addicott) 2 behinds towards wiping off the deficit. Paddington ran out easy winners by 10 goals 13 behinds (73 points) to 3 goals 8 behinds (26 points). Paddington's goal-getters were: Clark (7), M'Rae, Mahoney, and Dunn, who, together with Strang, Lanson, and Baker, played well.

YOUNG AUSTRALIAN COMPETITION.

MARRICKVILLE (26) BEAT NORTHERN DISTRICT A (22).

One of the best matches this season was played by these clubs at Moore Park, the accurate goal-kicking of Marrickville landing them winners by 2 points. Northern District were first to score, a goal being credited to them soon after the commencement. Marrickville replied with three goals in quick succession, and, before the half-time bell N.D. had posted another sixer. This was a fine exhibition of goal-kicking, five goals to no behinds for the first half, being a record hard to beat.

The second half was fast and exciting, during which Marrickville scored a goal, and Northern District replied with 1 goal 4 behinds, the former running out winners by 2 points.

ASHFIELD (20) BEAT ALEXANDRIA INSTITUTE (9).

The lads from the western suburb continued their victorious career, by putting up a fine game at North Botany Park against the local 18, the final scores were: Ashfield, 2-8; Alexandria, 1-3. Dunbar and Perrin for the winners, and Skillicorn, Taylor, and Abbott for the losers, played best.

BALMAIN (42) BEAT SYDNEY II. (20).

These teams, which up to Saturday last were leading with Newtown II. in the competition, met at Erskineville Oval, and put up a most interesting contest, the fine combination of the "Seagulls" proving too good for the metrops. The final scores were:—Balmain, 6-6, to Sydney 2-8.

PADDINGTON II. (52) BEAT NORTHERN DISTRICT B (2).

This was the only one-sided match in the competition, Paddington were masters of the situation from the bounce, and had their goal-kicking been as good as their general play, they would have done even better—6-16 to 0-2 being the scores at the final bell. Stephenson (4), Peel, and Chapman were the goal kickers, whilst M'Cann, Gray, Coffey, Baker, Cotter, Morris, and Hawkins were always prominent for the winners. Gordon and Kirkwood shone out for the losers.

MELBOURNE, Saturday.

The attendances at the football matches to-day were considerably affected by unfavourable weather, and the grounds were heavy and sloppy. Following are results of the League games:—Essendon (55) beat Fitzroy (20), South Melbourne (52) beat Geelong (39), Carlton (55) beat Collingwood (22), Richmond (42) beat St. Kilda (26), Melbourne (67) beat University (29).

PERTH, Sunday.

Results of Saturday's League matches at Perth:—Subiaco, 6 goals 12 behinds, beat Perth, 5 goals 7 behinds; East Fremantle, 16 goals 14 behinds, beat North Fremantle, 6 goals 10 behinds; and East Perth, 8 goals 5 behinds, beat South Fremantle, 5 goals 14 behinds.

BRITISH ASSOCIATION.

H. M. S. POWERFUL STILL UNBEATEN.

The Rawson Cup matches decided on Saturday resulted as expected. Balmain, however, had to be content with a very narrow win against the Glebe team, which did not include J. Christie. The Powerful team is still ahead, and looks like continuing to remain at the top of the competition, unless the old Pyrmont team, which has again come to life as West Sydney, can reproduce its 1909 form. Balmain's run of victories in the Association Cup was stopped by Garden Island, an even draw resulting. This is the first drawn game in the first league competitions this season. The form of Northern Suburbs appears to be on the up grade, judging by the display against Newtown. West Sydney (Association Cup) improved its goal average at the expense of Glebe, but not to an extent commensurate with the number of shots.

First League results:—

RAWSON CUP.

The Navy (H.M.S. Powerful) beat Granville by 4 goals to 2.
Balmain beat Glebe by 1 goal to nil.
Sydney beat Canterbury by 3 goals to nil.
Newtown received a forfeit from West Sydney.

ASSOCIATION CUP.

The Navy (Garden Island) drew with Balmain, 2 goals all.
West Sydney beat Glebe by 5 goals to nil.
Newtown beat Northern Suburbs by 1 goal to nil.

FIRST LEAGUE.—RAWSON CUP.

THE NAVY (H.M.S. POWERFUL) v GRANVILLE.

Played at Clyde, and won by Powerful by 4 goals to 2.

H.M.S. Powerful.—Horton, goal; Turner and M'Ewen, backs; Smith, Doherty, and English, halves; Grogan, Keating, Chandler, Baxter, and Brooks, forwards.

Granville.—Mobbs, goal; Halls and Day, backs; Thompson, Hilder, and Peaty, halves; Willisford, Brickley, M'Grath, Bell, and Fairweather, forwards.

Hilder secured for Granville soon after the kick-off, but, in preparing to send on to the forwards, he lost the ball to Doherty, who passed out to Grogan. A characteristic run ended in a centre to Baxter, who landed first goal for the sailors. Through a miss in the face of a Granville forward rush, M'Ewen was able to send the ball through the Powerful goal, thus making the scores 1 all. Powerful forwards then showed some brilliant football, and Baxter and Grogan quickly added goals. Powerful, 3 to 1. Before half-time Granville had a penalty kick. Horton stopped the ball in grand style, but M'Grath, rushing up, kicked through the goal. Powerful, 3 to 2.

Granville put in some excellent work in the second half, and only by consistent defence did the naval men prevent a score. Turner's tackling was particularly effective. Keating and Grogan at length broke away, and after a brilliant spurt the former sent a shot past Mobbs. Powerful, 4 to 2. By dint of vigorous effort, Granville made the rest of the game fairly even, but there was no alteration in the score at full-time. Mr. W. Lincoln, referee.

BALMAIN v GLEBE.

Played at Wentworth Park oval, and won by Balmain by 1 goal to nil.

Balmain.—Hughes, goal; Rose and Thompson, backs; Byers, Moore, and Pryde, halves; M'Donald, Robinson, Ferrier, J. Ferguson, and O'Hehir, forwards.

Glebe.—Storey, goal; Haynes and M'Donald, backs; Rowe, Wheat, and Kelly, halves; Patrick, Sentree, Martin, Swift, and Laird, forwards.

Glebe started well in individual forward attacks, though Laird, after a good run, made a feeble attempt to centre. Robinson was not long in working into a good position for Balmain, but Rowe and Haynes defended stoutly, and Kelly assisted in giving his forwards chances for attack. Laird's next centre from the left wing was an excellent one, bringing Hughes out of his goal to clear. Glebe kept up the pressure, and had a couple of good chances of shooting, but Swift and Martin missed them. There was no score by either side at half-time.

The sterling defence of Thompson, Pryde, and Rose saved some hard shots by Laird and Swift early in the second spell, but Balmain forwards soon asserted themselves. Robinson and O'Hehir, however, were inaccurate in their shooting, missing the goal completely on half-a-dozen occasions. As time approached, Pryde was sent up to the forward line in lieu of J. Ferguson. The change brought Balmain success, for Pryde kicked the only goal of the match with a short, low shot, after Robinson had passed across from the right wing. Storey came in for a good deal of work right up to the end. He stopped a shot by Robinson just at the post—a very close thing—within a minute of full time. Mr. F. West, referee.

SYDNEY v CANTERBURY.

Played at Campsie, and won by Sydney by 3 goals to nil.

Sydney.—Shalders, goal; Kirkpatrick and Elliott, backs; Cotterill, J. Meehan, and Blackham, halves; Menzies, Gallagher, E. Hughes, F. Nicholls, and I. Nicholls, forwards.

Canterbury.—Geering, goal; Caldwell and Winter, backs; E. Haigh, J. Haigh, and Dean, halves; Garde, Bagnall, Hillyard, Bennett, and Dickenson, forwards.

Canterbury had little hope of winning from the outset, though the wind interfered a good deal with Sydney's control of the ball. The Canterbury forwards were unable to make any headway against Elliott and Kirkpatrick. Fine combination was shown by the Sydney forwards, and Gallagher opened the account by scoring a neat goal. Geering's splendid defence in goal kept Sydney's score down to 1 to nil up to half-time.

Canterbury spurted after the interval, Bennett, Hillyard, and Dickenson being prominent, but to no purpose. Sydney practically controlled the game afterwards, the forwards working up some first-class combination. Gallagher and F. Nicholls put through goals, the latter showing rare speed in the many dashes that took place in the second half. Sydney won by 3 goals to nil. Mr. W. Machin, referee.

NEWTOWN v WEST SYDNEY.

The West Sydney team, which included the majority of the renowned Pyrmont eleven of 1909, were late in arriving at Kogarah, and Newtown were declared winners by forfeit. On the arrival of the West Sydney players a scratch match took place, Newtown winning by 4 goals to 2. Teams:—

Newtown: Redforn, goal; Dennis and Tracey, backs; Bywater, Grummett, and Lawrence, halves; Murphy, Milton, Harper, James, Blake, forwards.

West Sydney: Spencer, goal; Condon and Barbat, backs; J. Carey, Lyons, and W. Hooke, halves; W. Davidson, W. Carey, C. Timms, Parry, and Shaw, forwards.

FIRST LEAGUE.—ASSOCIATION CUP.

WEST SYDNEY v GLEBE.

Played at Wentworth Park Oval, and won by West Sydney by 5 goals to nil.

West Sydney: Coleman, goal; Harley and S. Anderson, backs; Stone, O'Brien, and Milner, halves; Callaghan, A. Quill, Lambert, Carroll, and J. Warrior, forwards.

Glebe: Dimmock, goal; A. Gray and G. Lever, backs; Wilson, Manderson, and Drummond, halves; Dummett, Hodge, Flanagan, Bastock, and Powers, forwards.

Glebe commenced the game with ten men, and Lever, the solitary back, came in for more than his fair share of defence. West bombarded the Glebe goal before play had been long in progress, J. Warrior striking the bar, and Carroll shooting wide. Bastock made one or two spurts for Glebe, but they were easily stopped by Harley, and Anderson had no difficulty in keeping out the attacks on the right wing. Dozens of shots were sent in by the West Sydney forwards, most of them very wide of the mark, and Dimmock saved the straight ones in such a convincing manner that the first half was scoreless.

West Sydney held their opponents very simply in the second spell, and Quill (3) and Milner (2) got the ball past the Glebe keeper, who, however, cleared a multitude of shots that looked like scoring, two by Carroll in particular. Glebe were very disjointed, and gave Coleman no trouble, West Sydney winning by 5 goals to nil. Mr. H. G. Smith, referee.

BALMAIN v THE NAVY (GARDEN ISLAND).

Played at Easton Park, and drawn, 2 goals all. The naval team is improving, having been beaten early in the season by West Sydney by 9 goals to nil, and Balmain later defeated Wests by 1 to nil. Martin and Page scored for Garden Island, thereby registering the first goals against Balmain this season.

NEWTOWN v NORTHERN SUBURBS.

Played at St. Leonards, and won by Newtown by 1 goal to nil. The North Sydney players met opponents nearer their own standard than any they have previously encountered, and were thus enabled to make an interesting game of it.

FEDERAL LAND TAX.

NEW REGULATIONS.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The Federal Executive Council has passed the following new regulations under the Land Tax Act:—

Add after regulation 51—"leasehold estates." In the case of land coming under section 33 of the Act the part of the unimproved value of the land corresponding to the unexpired term of the lease, as mentioned in section 35 (3a) of the Act, shall be calculated under table 1 in the schedule to statutory rules, 1911, No. 8, upon the assumption that the annual unimproved value of the land is 4½ per cent. of the capital unimproved value.

Onerous conditions.—For the purpose of an assessment under section 28 (3b) of the Act of the amount (if any) which ought to be added the value of the rent reserved under a lease on account of onerous conditions imposed upon the lessee for constructing buildings, works, or other improvements upon the land, or expending money thereof, the table in the schedule hereto shall be applied for the purpose of ascertaining the sinking fund required to replace the value of expenditure under onerous conditions as may be determined upon by the Commissioner.

The Commissioner (Mr. G. A. Mackay) explained on Saturday that in the computation of leasehold interests it had been decided to adopt the rate of 4½ per cent. and the average earning rate of mortgage investments. In an order issued to his deputies on this point he says:—"The fact that in some cases a rate different from 4½ per cent. is represented by the proportion between the reserved rent and the stated unimproved value of the land as at the date of lease may be disregarded, as any such statement of unimproved value is necessarily unreliable in the absence of evidence of sale value as at date of lease, the only definite factor is the reserved rent, and there is no absolute proof in any case that money invested in land at the date of lease had a higher earning value than 4½ per cent."

In connection with the onerous conditions regulation, Mr. Mackay says it is clear that where a lessor accepts a low rent with the expectation of an increased reversionary interest he will not be taxed in his proper proportion of interest on the unimproved value if his reserved rent only be capitalised. The lessor cannot be debited for taxation purposes with more than the total unimproved value of the land, and he is entitled to deduct from this the value of the leasehold estate. Subject to any action taken by the commissioner to increase his interest by reason of the onerous improvement proviso, the lessee can only claim to be relieved of part of the tax he pays on the unimproved value by passing it on to the lessor in the form of an increased rental, presumed also to be attributable to the unimproved value. When it shall have been determined that, prima facie, the circumstances are so exceptional as to warrant action by the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner, the following method is adopted as approximating an equitable apportionment:—(1) If the estimated life of an improvement is less than the term of lease the lessee should have no relief. (2) By applying a recognised scale of depreciation applicable to the class of improvements under covenant, and calculate their value at the termination of the lease. (3) Ascertain the present value at 4½ per cent. of a sinking fund to recoup this amount; during the term of lease regard this as an addition to reserved rent applicable to the unimproved value of the land. (4) Proceed as in estimating the value of an ordinary leasehold interest.

TORTURED DAY AND NIGHT.

"My son, when two years old, had eczema very badly. He had great sore places on the edges of his bones, the lobe of each ear had a great split, the sores extending over the jawbone on to the cheek, and on the cheek bones against the eyes were some more sores, making him look ghastly. He had a large sore on each hip and all up his spine, and in the bend of his arms and knees. The latter were so bad that the child could hardly walk. Whenever the child scratched himself some watery matter would come from the places like great drops of perspiration. He was tortured day and night with the awful burning and itching sensations. I had tried several remedies, and then I went to the doctor, but the stuff I had from him made not the slightest impression. The child was getting quite ill for the want of proper rest.

"I gave up going to the doctor, as a friend, a nurse, gave me some Cuticura Ointment to try and see if it would relieve my boy. I used it for a week, and by that time the places were looking decidedly less angry, and were not nearly so irritable. I got some Cuticura Ointment and Soap, and persevered with them. He was in such a state I could not make a tin of Ointment last ten days. I used to smear the places over two or three times a day. The eczema kept coming back, but as soon as it showed I used Cuticura Ointment. The boy is now thirteen, and not the least sign of eczema." (Signed) Mrs. A. Oliver, The Gardens, Egerton House, Egerton, nr. Ashford, Kent, England, May 11, 1910. Cuticura Remedies are sold everywhere. Send to R. FARM AND STATION.

THE CATTLE TICK.

PREPARING FOR MR. TREFLE.

The people living in the tick quarantine areas are preparing for the Honorary Minister of Agriculture's visit to the North Coast. The matter is a very serious one from the local standpoint, both in the eyes of those who support the present regulations and those who are opposed to them. From the outside stockowner's point of view the matter is also a serious one, and one in which they are interested. It is certainly desirable that Mr. Trefle should visit the quarantine areas, and that the people there should put a definite concrete statement before him, getting right down on to facts. That is badly wanted in the Kyogle district, where an influential section strongly condemns the regulations and their administration.

Therefore a good step has been taken, and one that it is rather a pity has been delayed so long in that locality. A meeting was held at Kyogle last week in connection with Mr. Trefle's promised visit, and a Tick Board was formed, consisting of eight members representing different parts of the district. The board will deal with grievances, substantiate and bring them before the Minister. This is a practical, sound step, and it will be extremely interesting to see these grievances put in a clear, definite form. That is, of course, grievances that could be ameliorated without abolishing proper control. If this can be done the Minister, it may be depended upon, will come to the stockowners' assistance. Whether it can be done remains to be seen, but so far there has been a singular absence of any sound proposals from the critics of the present situation. As we pointed out recently, the last batch of requests and proposals that came from Kyogle could not possibly be accepted as a whole by the general community, and are not even generally supported in the district itself. That is, apart from the suggestion to allow stock out after two dippings, which we support, always providing that steps are taken to have the dips regularly tested. That means having a properly qualified analyst in the district.

In truth, when this Tick Board gets to work it will probably find that many grievances are unavoidable, and that in some aspects of this important question there are very great differences of opinion. The Kyogle people as a whole are against the regulations, but they by no means agree when it comes to saying what should be done and what should not. The Minister is justified in expecting that stockowners should at least agree amongst themselves. For instance, at the above meeting one speaker said "as a large property-owner in Queensland he could say he saw more ticks on any one beast there than are in the whole Kyogle district, and the harm they did was nothing to what the restrictions were doing here." If that means anything it means that the system in Queensland is better than that in this State, and consequently we should follow Queensland's example. This, perhaps, is the view of "a large property-owner in Queensland;" is it the view of the members of the Tick Board? The public has the right to know. One thing is absolutely certain—it is not the view of the dairy-farmers on the Tweed, in the outside country, and we would not be surprised of the small men even in the Kyogle district.

Everything points to the desirability of the grievances that the Kyogle people consider they have, being put plainly in black and white. That there will be some is certain, although it is quite on the cards that the board will have to reject many unless it is going to advocate following Queensland's example, in which case it may as well get out of existence at once for all the serious consideration it would merit. But where there are genuine grievances—and they are inseparable from a system of quarantine, as we have repeatedly pointed out—Mr. Trefle's difficulty will be to relieve them with safety. Take Mr. Lee's speech in Parliament, for example. It is typical of the local complaint. Mr. Lee candidly said it was what the people locally say. He stated, for instance, "if a horse be taken from clean country into infested country he must be smeared before he is allowed to be taken in at all, and before he can be taken out he has to be smeared twice. So that it will be understood under what difficulties people carry on their business." This is definite without qualification. Yet the writer recently drove from Casino (clean country) to Kyogle (infested country), and the horses were not smeared going in and were not smeared going out, let alone being smeared twice, as Mr. Lee states is done. The driver carried a permit, stating that the horses (brands and descriptions were recorded) were smeared on a certain date, and that allowed him in and out of the area for eight days with those horses.

Mr. Lee also referred to the teamsters in the timber trade being deprived of their occupation, as no working bullocks are allowed to go out of the quarantine area. As far as we could learn the teamsters are earning higher money than has been the case for years—£2 a day, we were informed. They are given permits to work along a certain beat, which meets their requirements. Certainly the constant examination and periodical dipping must be a nuisance, and no doubt temporarily affects the bullocks adversely, but it is not easy to see the position as stated by Mr. Lee. Another point made by this gentleman, that an owner cannot move cattle from one paddock to another across the road, appears at first blush an extreme position. But we have already pointed out that there is danger of the road being infested. Cattle may go across a road in safety many times; they may be infested the first time. In any case, gates of paddocks on two sides of the road are not always opposite to each other. They may be a mile apart or more. If stock are allowed to go that mile they may as well be allowed to go right along the road without dipping. So this apparently extreme case is simply an essence of the whole principle of controlling moving stock. It is of course quite logical to consider dipping when moving inside the area is not necessary, but it is not, as we have previously pointed out, logical for men to support free movement inside the area, and at the same time say they would not allow any cattle off any road on to their clean country without dipping.

While Mr. Trefle need not, therefore, all things considered, allow Mr. Lee's remarks to unduly worry him, he should certainly visit the districts affected as soon as possible. No date has yet been fixed apparently, but the local people are anxiously awaiting investigation by the Minister, as recently promised, and it is best in every way that such investigation should be made.

ITEMS.

Messrs. Lowcock and King, Tamworth and Gunnedah, in conjunction with Messrs. Jacob and Anderson, of Boggabri, report the clearance of the whole of the Booroomin Estate subdivision, comprising an area of 5127½ acres, cut into 10 blocks. The whole area averaged £3 7s 3d per acre, equal to about £4 3s 9d freehold.

POULTRY BREEDERS' CONFERENCE.

The promise of a fine day, a good outing, and the possible solution of the vital problems of successful poultry-breeding drew a large gathering of breeders and others interested in poultry to the third annual conference at the Agricultural College, Richmond. The party left by the 8.55 train from Sydney, and arrived at Richmond at 10.45, when drags from the college conveyed the ladies—of which there was a good number—to the college. The men meanwhile walked. The visitors were met at the college by the principal, Mr. H. W. Potts, who, after according them a hearty welcome, announced that luncheon was awaiting in the large dining hall. The hall was taxed to its utmost capacity, about 270 people sitting at one time. After luncheon a move was made to the competition pens. All the birds look well, and the pens contain plenty of grass, but the recent frosts have browned it, and destroyed its food value, so this is being burnt off in most pens to allow of the dew drying quickly during the cold mornings. Great interest was taken in the measures now adopted to keep out the cunning foxes. Barbed wire entanglements have been erected around the whole poultry block. The foxes have taken altogether some 500 head of poultry in six weeks, despite the careful watch kept and electric light and guns. About six have been shot and a couple poisoned, but yet they are somewhat troublesome. After inspecting the laying competition pens the company assembled in the Lecture Hall, where the presentation of certificates to the winners in last season's competition took place, and afterwards followed the discussions on several important matters on poultry-breeding.

Subject No. 1 was "The causes of losses of chickens during incubation and the first few weeks after hatching." Papers were read from Mr. Leach (Belmore) and Mr. Thorman (Ingleburn), and opinions given by many breeders of great experience, including Messrs. S. Ellis, W. Harris, H. E. Kelly, D. S. Thompson, and others. Most of these breeders had entirely different views on the matter.

Subject No. 2, "Which are the best months for hatching for winter layers—heavy breeds and light breeds?" Mr. L. Ducat, of Bankstown, sent in a paper on this, and after a discussion, in which Messrs. F. J. Brierley, H. E. Kelly, G. E. O. Craft, W. H. Forsyth, J. Gamble, H. Bloomfield, and D. S. Thompson, and others took part, the general opinion formed was that heavy breeds were best hatched in July and August, and the light breeds in August and September. As this is the method usually adopted, nothing of note to prevent moulting in the "dear egg" months was disclosed.

Subject No. 3, "Is green food essential for prolific egg production?" This subject was given a fair debate by leading breeders, with various reasons for and against the "green feed" for laying hens. Most breeders seemingly favour green food. The general opinion was that "green food" is essential in making an evenly-balanced ration for laying hens, and that it is best fed at the most convenient time for the breeder.

Subject No. 4 was "How to house chickens when they leave the foster mother." Mr. S. Ellis gave his opinion that he favoured removing the chicks to the cool "dummy" brooders from the heated nurseries at about five weeks old, and that he had not found that they overcrowded when put in in large numbers together. This is, of course, not the general opinion of breeders, who find that overcrowding is responsible for many losses at this period. Mr. Ellis's method of preventing this was by placing plenty of straw in the corners.

Upon the question "Which is it better to feed, fresh livers or the dried meat meals," no one ventured an opinion.

"Is it advisable to breed from pullets" was not fully dealt with owing to want of time. Many could not agree to the proper definition of the word "pullet." Generally speaking a pullet is a female chick under 12 months old, but pullets to breed from should be nine months old. Any well-fed and properly-reared pullets from 9 to 12 months old are safe to breed from to give good results for laying purposes and general utility; but hens in the second year are best to breed from for exhibition purposes. This is the opinion shared with the majority of breeders throughout the world.

Time having arrived for afternoon tea, Mr. Potts moved a vote of thanks to Mr. A. A. Dunnicliffe, the secretary of the conference, for the services rendered to the breeders generally. This was carried by acclamation. Mr. W. Harris proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Principal (Mr. Potts) and to the poultry expert (Mr. D. S. Thompson).

MANURE FOR WHEAT.

Mr. J. M. Hattrick, F.H.A.S., N.D.A., writes drawing attention to an error in our issue of May 10 last, when Mr. Reynolds, of the Department of Agriculture, was reported to have recommended at Forbes, for manuring wheat, a mixture of one part of sulphate of potash to three parts of superphosphate, 56lb of the mixture to be used to "a gallon of water." This should obviously read "an acre of land."

TOBACCO CULTURE.

CHINESE INSPECTING LAND.

WAGGA.—It is reported that a number of Chinese have lately been inspecting land in the Tarcutta district with the view of engaging in the culture of tobacco. This is said to be one of the effects of the recommendation by the Public Works Committee of the proposed line of railway from Wagga towards the Upper Murray. Tobacco-growing was some years back carried on in the Tarcutta district, but the industry soon languished, although there is no question of the suitability of the soil and the climatic conditions for the profitable production of this plant.

RURAL WORKERS' CLAIMS.

DAIRYMEN RESIST DEMANDS.

ABERDEEN.—At a largely attended meeting of the Dairymen's Union it was unanimously decided to join with the Scone and Muswellbrook branches to more effectively combat the unreasonable claims of the rural workers.

Mr. M'Adam, manager of the A.C.F. Works, counselled vigilance, urging every dairyman in the district to join the union. If the rural claims concerning factory hands were granted local suppliers would have to pay an extra farthing per lb for buttermaking, which meant roughly, each farmer would lose £30 yearly in that respect alone. His company was at present working under 12 unions.

NORTHERN TERRITORY LAND.

ADELAIDE.—In a report to the Government Mr. Lionel Gee, as a result of several expeditions he made, speaks highly of the pastoral possibilities of the Tanami country, Northern Territory, a large area of which consists of rolling downs. Much of this is covered with spinifex, but whereas this is generally regarded as an abomination elsewhere, two of the three Tanami varieties contain nutritive qualities and are good fodder plants for stock. About 50 miles east of Tanami there is a block with an area of 500 square miles of good country, carrying Mitchell grass and saltbush. The country is subject to dry spells, but not of any abnormal length.

DEMAND FOR LAND.

WALGETT.—At a public meeting held on Saturday the following resolutions were carried:—"That the Government be asked to introduce legislation at once empowering them to resume leases in Walgett district to enable present holders to acquire a living area, the residue of such leases, if suitable, to be made available as original holdings." "That the Minister be asked through the member for the district to have the eighth of the western land leases, liable to resumption, made available without further delay, and that he be urged to introduce legislation having for its object the resumption of land in the Western division within reasonable distance of the town of Walgett for closer settlement purposes."

POTATO TROUBLES.

BRISBANE.—The Department of Agriculture, Western Australia, recently issued a proclamation prohibiting the importation of the potatoes to that State from Queensland, but permitting their importation from other States under certain conditions. The Queensland department promptly inquired why this State should be penalised. A reply has now been received stating that it was because the Western Australian authorities feared that importers might transfer Tasmanian and Victorian potatoes to Queensland ports, with a view to introducing them, presumably as Queensland potatoes. The reply goes on to say that if Queensland is in a position to issue a certificate and so safeguard Western Australia the proclamation will be altered.

WAR AGAINST FOXES.

LAND-OWNER'S EXPERIMENT.

DUBBO.—Mr. J. H. Ower, of Wychitella, Obley-road, Dubbo, is emphatic in a statement that he has solved the trouble arising from the fox pest, after much experimenting. When killing a sheep for mutton, he soaked a bag, which had plenty of mouse holes in it, in the blood, and into this bag he placed the offal and the contents of the stomach and intestines. He fastened this bag behind a spring-cart, and made a trail about a mile and a half long. Over this trail he afterwards went, and at intervals of about 200 yards he placed strychnine poisoned baits of liver and heart, each bait about the size of a pigeon's egg. The poison was placed in deep slashes made in the baits, which were put in little holes, and dusted over. After the first night's experiment in this way nine foxes were found dead. In about a week's time the experiment was repeated, and four more foxes were killed. Since then Mr. Ower has not lost a fowl or a lamb.

PREVALENT PEST IN WAGGA DISTRICT.

WAGGA.—Foxes have become so numerous in the Wagga district that they may be seen on the common and quite near the town any day. Latterly they have developed a taste for sucking pig. On the outskirts of the town there are numbers of dairies and slaughtering establishments where pigs are kept, and many of the young pigs have been carried off in the night. The foxes have become so indifferent to the presence of man that they commence foraging early in the afternoon, and may be seen roaming about quite close to homesteads.

DAIRYING.

MURWILLUMBAH.—The eleventh half-yearly meeting of the Tweed Co-operative Butter Company was held on Saturday morning. About 35 shareholders were present. There was a full attendance of directors. The chairman (Mr. F. P. Chambers) presided. The report and balance-sheet were unanimously adopted. During the half-year 684 tons of butter had been manufactured, as compared with 628 tons in the corresponding period of last year. This was considered highly satisfactory, in view of the fact that an additional butter factory has been established at Uki. During the whole period the highest market quotations were obtained for all first-class butter manufactured. The marine insurance fund had increased by £400, and the balance to the credit of this fund was now £2863/9/9, after providing the addition of £400 to the marine insurance fund and for depreciation on buildings and plant. There remains a credit at profit and loss of £203/1/5, which it was recommended be carried to the next half-year. A resolution was carried authorising the directors to take into consideration the establishment of bacon curing premises. The whole of the plant is in excellent working order.

PASTURES PROTECTION BOARDS.

BATHURST.—The rabbit inspector reported to the last meeting of the Pastures Protection Board that he had visited the Orange division chiefly during May, touching the localities of The Rocks, Vittoria, Lucknow, German's Hill, Borenore, Molong Creek, Canobolas, Springhill, and Millthorpe. He noticed that a great deal of wire-netting had been erected in the Orange division during the past year and consequently a lot of rabbit harbour had been destroyed. The majority of land-owners apparently believed in trapping as the best means of keeping rabbits down. Market trapping was being carried on, but despite the fact that large numbers had been removed the pest was still numerous on the farms. However the weather during the past month had been against the landholders in their efforts at eradication, and for that reason he would not make any recommendation for prosecutions.

KIAMA.—Messrs. George Lindsay, Thomas Armstrong, William Brown, and James Sharpe have been elected directors of the Kiama Pastures Protection Board.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

BLACKTOWN.—The westerly winds have blown down many hundreds of cases of citrus fruit, chiefly in unsheltered orchards in cold situations. Windfalls will now glut the market. The common native thorny bushes are carrying more waxy scale than has been observed for many years. Orchardists consider eradication out of the question.

COOMA.—Reports from Paupong state that sheep-owners have lost a number of sheep owing to the depredations of wild dogs. Meetings held have decided to employ an expert dog-trapper.

MOLONG.—During the past week heavy frosts have been almost of daily occurrence, and showery weather has generally prevailed. Where late ploughing is in progress the earth has been hardened by the frosts, but the effect on the wheat plants and barley has been very little. The grass is not coming too strong, as the result of the cold spell. Sowing is still going on in odd places, and there is a lot of seed to go in yet. The rains have freshened the crops and grass up around Amaroo, and herbage is plentiful, as well as water. There the frosts have also been severe. The grasshoppers did a lot of damage around Amaroo, but the fresh growth makes up for the loss of herbage. Farmers are hopeful that the eggs in the ground will be destroyed by the frosts. Maize crops and potatoes are yielding satisfactorily here. Rabbiters are securing good hauls. The rainfall for May was 271 points, but more is wanted. Around Manildra ploughing is practically completed. The cultivation area has been largely increased. Early-sown crops are now showing well above the ground. Around Cumnock the recent rains have had a beneficial effect, early crops showing well. Bumberry has had several severe frosts, and ploughing is still going on, but the ground is easily worked, the fall having penetrated the sub-soil. The winter lambing has been fairly successful, but the flies are causing a lot of trouble. The crow nuisance has not been so bad with lambing ewes, a fact attributed to the bonus allowed for crow scalps. The rabbits are coming in in large numbers, and carcase buyers are operating freely for the freezing works at Dubbo and Blayney. 720 crates left the Molong station alone this week, and large quantities are being sent away from the sidings.

PARKES.—At the police court on Thursday C. Fisher, sen., H. A. Jones, and L. Mazoudier were each fined £2 and costs, for neglecting to continuously destroy rabbits. The case against F. Gray, who was charged conjointly with Mazoudier, was withdrawn, as it was shown that the partnership between them was dissolved before the date of the offence.

TEMORA.—Mr. F. Pinkstone, of Cootamundra, a member of the executive of the Farmers' and Settlers' Association, delivered an address to the Ariah Park branch on Wednesday night, when he explained the objects of the association, and emphasised the great need for combining to combat by all legitimate means the claims of the Rural Workers' Union.

WINGHAM.—Mr. P. Carle is experimenting in sheepbreeding on the Dawson. Sheep, it has been proved, do fairly well on parts of the Manning, and on the Dingo quite a number of them are to be seen.

CATHOLIC MARRIAGE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Finding your columns open to matter regarding our legislation, etc., against rashly contracted marriages, I beg to write you a few words, controversy apart.

In the Christian dispensation matrimony is a true, even "a great sacrament," having relation also to civil society. By divine institution, therefore, its administration belongs essentially to religion, and by certain effects it comes under the jurisdiction of the State.

Hence the supreme pastors, from Peter to Pius X., often with the aid of general councils, have had nothing more at heart than to procure the worthy and salutary reception of this "great sacrament." Now, the essential element being the very matrimonial contract, for so the Divine Master and Restorer enacted, it follows that the contracting parties are to themselves mutually the joint ministers of the sacrament. Upon the accordingly the Church imposes her salutary laws affecting sometimes the liceity, sometimes the validity, of their actual consent. One of such is the law against the grievous evil of clandestinity, i.e., against marriages contracted privately without authentic witnesses or proofs. This reform, introduced by the General Council of Trent, is perfected by the recent legislation or decree of Pius X. Catholics by baptism may not now in ordinary conditions anywhere make a valid marriage unless in the presence of two or three witnesses, together with the parish priest or the chief pastor of their diocese or district, or the delegate of either.

The binding force of this law results from the terms of the commission of the Divine Founder of the Church. "All power is given to Me in heaven and on earth. . . . Behold, I am with you all days, even to the consummation of the world. . . . Whatever you shall bind on earth is bound in heaven." Hence cases of marriage are amenable to civil legislation in civic effects; but marriage, made a sacrament by Christ, is essentially subject to the laws of His Church, and may be impeded by her laws as to either liceity or validity, independent of the civil powers.

Now in many countries, as in Australia many find themselves (may I suggest deplorably?) outside the Catholic fold committed by Christ for all time to Peter and his successors, with the promise of indefectibility in their faith. Well all these stand on their self-chosen ground. They are expressly exonerated from the legislation in question, and regarded by Catholics as entitled to all the respect due to sincere conviction. Were this disposition towards mutual confidence and civic equality generally prevalent among religious denominations society should be happier and its institutions more successful.

But we have only arrived at the crux of our thesis—the marriages of mixed denominations or of mixed religions. With your permission it shall be left over till an early date. It is a troublesome point, which, though provided for quite reasonably and definitely, rarely, if ever, affords content. I am, etc.,

RIFLE SHOOTING.

M'CALLEY CUP COMPETITION.

WINTRY CONDITIONS AT RANDWICK.

The rifle shooting at Randwick on Saturday was carried out under most disadvantageous conditions. A bitterly cold wind blew throughout the afternoon of sufficient variableness to necessitate frequent changes of the wind gauge. Chief interest centred in the M'Calley Cup, and in this competition, which was advanced another stage, the Parramatta Club succeeded in putting up the highest score, viz., 1265, with the Australian Rifle Regiment's "A" team second, with a score of 1245. In the club events Sydney was again in the forefront with a competition between teams captained by the prominent club members. The Naval Brigade also made a good showing on the range, while amongst the military units represented on the range were the first and second infantry regiments, the Scottish Rifles, the Engineers, the Garrison Artillery, and the Australian Army Service corps.

ANOTHER RIDER APPROVES THE MOUNT HE PURCHASED FROM US.

To the man who wants to know how long and how well a "B. & B." cycle will serve him, we invariably reply—"Ask the man who owns one."

The answer is always the same. You cannot find a B. & B. rider who is not satisfied with his mount—for he has the best.

Here is a letter we recently received from a man who has had his machine for eleven years. His opinion should be worth reading.

"In 1900 I purchased one of your bicycles in Western Australia. I had not previously had a cycle, and it was the machine on which I learned to ride. Since then my machine has been over many a long journey. It carried me four years in Western Australia, and in the time rolled off some 12,528 miles. I afterwards left Western Australia, and it served me seven years in South Australia, where it did thirty-nine trips from Hahndorf to Adelaide—a distance of eighteen miles each way. This is not a bought testimonial nor would you get one if it was not a true service that the bicycle gave me. The cycle is still in order as it was eleven years ago, and I recommend these machines before any I have ever known."

If you propose to get a new cycle let us send you a copy of our new catalogue. It is well illustrated.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

THE AGREEMENT.

PLANS FOR ALTERATION OF THE BUILDING.

MR. HOLMAN'S VERSION.

Mr. Holman, the Acting Premier, has, since the debate on Government House in the Legislative Assembly, looked up the early history of the agreement. He states that action in the matter was initiated by Mr. Flowers, the Acting Chief Secretary. When the matter was brought up in Parliament by Mr. Wade, he (Mr. Holman) had had no notice of his intention of doing so, and had to rely upon some verbal information he was able to obtain on the spur of the moment, the officers not being then available. "I now desire," he said, "to give the information which I would have given to Parliament had Mr. Wade seen fit to let me have some intimation of his intention to bring this matter forward.

"First, as to the annual expense which the State is under in connection with this building. I said in the House that I understood it was £7500. As a matter of fact, the average annual expenditure by the State since 1901 has been £7,685, making a total of £76,850, which the State is already out of pocket during the ten years of Federal tenancy. This includes interest on buildings and furniture, of which the capital cost is a good deal over £100,000, and sums expended on improvements and repairs by the State Government. But this does not include any rent charge for 34 acres of very valuable land included, which would amount to another sum almost as great for such a site in the heart of Sydney.

"It must not be forgotten than during this same period of ten years we have also purchased Cranbrook as a State Government House at a total cost to the State during that period of £52,107. Of this sum, £22,000 was the original purchase money, the rest having been laid out in structural alterations and repairs. It will thus be seen that during the ten years the State has (apart from the purchase of Cranbrook) spent a sum considerably in excess of £100,000 in upkeep expenses of the two Government Houses.

THE AGREEMENT.

"Now, as to the alleged 'contract' concerning Government House, undoubtedly some agreement of the kind was entered into in 1900, though I may say it is absolutely impossible to trace out any definite contract, or even the terms of one, from the correspondence of that date between the parties concerned. This point, however, I do not wish to stress. The agreement was given a more definite form in 1902, when Sir John See (then Premier) agreed to place Government House at the disposal of the Commonwealth upon the terms and conditions offered by the Victorian Government with regard to the Melbourne house. It is of no importance what those terms and conditions were, because that agreement has long since terminated, as will be seen.

"In the year 1906 Mr. Carruthers substituted for that arrangement a definite agreement in legal form between the Federal and the State Governments. This agreement was ratified by an Act of the Commonwealth Parliament (No. 2 of 1906), section 3 of which says:—'The Governor-General may enter into an arrangement with the Governor of the State of New South Wales for the use and occupation by the Commonwealth, for a period not exceeding five years, of Government House, Sydney, as a residence for the Governor-General.' In pursuance of the powers thus given, the Commonwealth Government did then enter into the present agreement for five years, commencing on August 5, 1906.

"This agreement is the only one between the Commonwealth and the State upon the subject. It is limited to five years. It was so limited by the express action of the Commonwealth Government in inserting the words 'for a period not exceeding five years' in the Governor-General's Residences Act. That agreement has been honourably and faithfully carried out by the Government of New South Wales, and will be observed both in spirit and in letter by us. It terminates in August next. When it does we are absolutely free and unfettered by any existing agreement, and have then to determine what is to be our future course of action with regard to this magnificent asset.

"The time has gone by when it can be regarded as the duty of the State to find the appliances with which the Federal Government is to carry out its functions. The finances of the two are now definitely separated—and rightly so. The State gains nothing by saving the Commonwealth expense, as it did under the bookkeeping system. It is no more the business of the State to keep up Federal Government House because the citizens of this State desire to have it than it is the State's business to lay out a hundred thousand pounds in additional telephone appliances because citizens of Sydney desire to have them. Telephones and Governor-Generals are alike Federal matters. Both are concerns of the Federal Parliament. The citizens of this State have for the past three or four years had an undoubted grievance in the inadequate telephone supply. No one has suggested that it was in any way the business of the State to rush in and cope with the deficiency by tendering the Commonwealth Government the use of £100,000 worth of its assets. On the contrary, pressure has been brought to bear, quite properly, upon the Federal Government to get the deficiency in its own service put right by its own efforts, and to-day that is being done, though perhaps not quite as rapidly as some of us might wish. So here, if it is really a matter of great popular desire that arrangements should be made to give the Governor-General a second residence in this State, then that desire must be met by the Commonwealth Government, who are responsible to the people of this State as well as to the rest of Australians, and who are directly responsible for arrangements connected with their own Governor-General.

THE DETERMINATION.

"We therefore have to consider how we can most advantageously use the 34 acres of almost priceless land and the £100,000 of invested capital which this asset represents to us. I have not thought it necessary to get a precise valuation of the land made, but I am well within the mark in saying that the total value of the asset is over a quarter of a million. This quarter of a million pounds' worth of property comes into our hands on August 8, and we are responsible for its future disposal. Two courses then present themselves. The one is to shut this land up again, as it has been for a period of ten years, and reserve it for the occasional and apparently constantly diminishing occupation of one distinguished gentleman and a few of his guests. The other is that it should be devoted in some worthy and effective way to the general recreation and well-being of the public.

"We have decided upon the latter course.

"The beautiful building, itself a structure of great architectural and historic interest, will be accessible to all, and the grounds around it will form a valuable addition to the park lands of the city. Beyond the immediate advantage involved, their possession will enable the Government to deal in an adequate way with the increasing necessities of the Sydney Hospital and the Law Courts, which can only be extended by some encroachment on the, at present, all too narrow area of the Domain. No one is vandal enough to suggest that the building should be injured or defaced. It may not be generally known that the plans are already in existence for its extension as a residence—plans which could be carried out without in any way impairing the unity of its architectural style. If at any time additions were found necessary for the public purpose to which we design it shall be finally devoted—that is, a National Museum—they could be made on a plan slightly modified from this, maintaining intact the two principal faces of the existing building, but adding annexes of the same general design.

"When the National Library is completed, and the temporary use which we propose to make of Government House to relieve the pressure at the Macquarie-street library has ended, it could readily become a Museum of Natural History. The valuable exhibits which are now huddled away in College-street could then be displayed to proper advantage, and there would be the same change in their educational value as was effected in London when the famous British Museum exhibits were carried over to South Kensington. It will be one of the most effective steps that could be taken for diffusing a healthy interest in science study, and would relieve our capital city from the reproach of being, as it is to-day, almost destitute of any popular institutions for maintaining that interest."

The Acting Prime Minister, Mr. Hughes, so far does not seem to have received Mr. Holman's letter containing a definite offer to allow Federal occupancy of Government House to continue till the end of the year. Mr. Holman stated on Saturday that the letter was posted to catch the mail on Tuesday night, and why it was that Mr. Hughes had not seen it he was unable to understand.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I have read with much interest your able leaders on this subject, and also the letters which have appeared dealing with it.

It seems to me, however, that enough stress has not been laid upon the necessity of doing something immediately. A meeting should be called at once, in order that an emphatic protest may be entered against this most foolish proposal.

We often hear it said that here in Australia we are lacking in historical associations, and this is, to a certain extent, true, by reason of the comparative youth of our country as part of the British Empire. This being so, is it not all the more necessary that we should prise the little bit of history and historical associations that we have in the shape of Government House? It is absurd for members of the Assembly to say they are not aware of Government House possessing any historical value, and that it would be better to provide hospitals for the poor. Talk such as this is merely the stock-in-trade of the professional politician. The indisputable fact exists that Government House has these historical associations and does possess historical value, and it should be remembered that these things cannot be bought and sold. They have no equivalent value in pounds, shillings, and pence. The argument that the grounds are wanted for a park is ridiculous. Our city is well provided in this respect, and the facilities now possessed will be added to as it grows. Again, why should cheap sneers be indulged in as to a "privileged few" visiting Government House, especially when the very person using this expression is not conspicuous by his bashfulness in accepting invitations when the opportunity occurs.

New hospitals and libraries are from time to time required in London, but no one there ever suggests the advisability of taking Buckingham Palace or the Tower for such purposes. Neither do intelligent (?) persons advocate that the Royal Family should take up their quarters in a city hotel.

Your able leaders, Sir, are good, the earnest letters of your correspondents are good; but something else is needed, and that is that the citizens of our city assemble in public meeting at the earliest possible moment, and in no uncertain way denounce the slur which it is proposed to cast upon the community. I do trust my appeal for a meeting will not be in vain, and that steps will be taken in that direction at once, so that we may not have to mourn over a lost opportunity, which, once past, we shall never have again.

I am, etc.,
ACTION, FRONT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Since the Labour party managed to scramble into power, principally through the ballot on the licensing question taking place simultaneously with the voting for the members of Parliament, they certainly have not shown any statesmanlike qualities. Their first act is to convert the Government into a company of brickmakers, and their second is to go stone-quarrying. Both of these movements should have been left to private enterprise, the existence of which is the life of a country, and which the Labour Government seem determined if possible to stifle.

They now propose to commit an act of vandalism and to take Government House and grounds and make them a free gift to the people. Leaving out of consideration for the present the great loss of prestige that will be occasioned to the capital of the colony by their conduct, let not the people suppose that the gift will be a free one. The Governor-General's residence in Sydney involves an expenditure of at least thousands per annum, and this annual expenditure will all be lost to the State. These thousands per annum will, I think, be a heavy rental to pay for the acquisition of a house and some 40 acres of ground.

I earnestly hope that the Lord Mayor of Sydney, to whom we are so much indebted for the vast improvements which have been and still are in progress in our beautiful city, will at once convene a meeting at the Sydney Town Hall, and take the opinion of the citizens upon what I cannot but consider a short-sighted and injudicious piece of vandalism.

I am, etc.,
R. HART DYKE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The vague utterances of the Federal Minister for Home Affairs re Government House in to-day's "Herald" are characteristic, and, like most vague words, unsatisfactory. More still, totally undignified. He is reported to have said he is not much concerned about losing the use of our Government House. As our Federal Minister, is not this part of the work he is being handsomely paid to transact?

Not concerned about the proper and dignified housing of our King's representative! We do not thank Mr. O'Malley for his expressions. His words do not accord with our notions of loyalty. He speaks glibly of settling our Governor-General and Federal Parliament in Yass-Canberra in six years. Why for that six years should our Governor-General not have the chance of as good a home in Sydney as hitherto? If Mr. O'Malley is not concerned, it would appear to be because Melbourne gains during that period. His term of six years may mean 60. For the man who speaks of building a Federal capital and vice-regal dwelling as if as easily erected as an insignificant bush township must either be utterly innocent of knowledge on the subject or take his hearers for absolute dolts. Ten years have elapsed since Melbourne obtained first Federal honours. Twice ten may now follow if deprived of our Government House. It is found easier to administer Federal affairs from their present location than even to wander off on periodical picnics to view the proposed capital site. No doubt some of the Federal politicians have had almost enough picnics during the past 10 years. The people whom they are supposed to represent, of course, defrayed the cost of the pleasure parties to Yass-Canberra and other equally likely and lively places.

Once our Government House is closed as a vice-regal abode, of course Sydney takes rank below Melbourne. If we let Labour politicians thus play into the hands of the Federal Labour party, we should have cause to regret it all our lives. More—we should be making trouble for those who come after us. Our children have the right to expect us to do our best for our country and State.

I am, etc.,
A WOMAN ELECTOR.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Why Mr. Holman desires to emasculate the grand historic associations connected with Government House it is hard to fathom. If it is the outcome of a socialistic fad to show how wildly democratic this Labour Government can be by refusing hospitality to the King's representative, which in duty alone he should receive, then I can safely say it is not with the sanction or support of the majority of Labour electors. If he considers that two Government Houses are superfluous, why not dispense with Cranbrook, and if necessary enlarge the Macquarie-street establishment to admit of the Governor-General being a guest of the State Governor during his temporary stay in New South Wales?

The people have not asked for an enlargement of the Botanic Gardens, nor do they need it; and they would not miss a small portion of the Domain to increase the hospital accommodation. Therefore there is no necessity to adopt the course proposed by Mr. Holman and his supporters.

If the ideal site for a Government House does not appeal strongly to every Australian, it most assuredly does to every visitor entering Sydney Harbour from distant countries, and in my humble opinion it would be a shameful and impolitic act to utilise that fine structure for anything but a Government House for at least many years to come.

I am, etc.,
ACACIA.
June 9.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In view of this disgraceful proposal of Messrs. Holman and Co., backed up by the Trades Hall, to acquire our lovely Government House and grounds for the housing of books which few want to read, it is time that the women electors of New South Wales should let their voices be heard in no uncertain tones, and proclaim throughout the State, "Hands off, Mr. Holman." What of Mr. M'Gowen, who at the present moment is being royally treated in England? Will he endorse the action of his representative here, or will he take a stand against such an insult to his King? It is time these vandals were made to understand "money value" is not everything.

The old saying is, "Whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad." Messrs. Holman and Co. are certainly riding for a fall, for these and other acts, viz., the reprieving of murderers of defenceless women, will not be forgotten by the women electors of New South Wales at the next election; and it won't be their fault if these politicians are not relegated to the obscurity from which they should never have emerged. I am, etc.,
A STRANGER IN GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

THE "BROWN BACKS'" NIGHT.

There was a strong flavour of the surf at Sargent's Cafe on Saturday night, when the members of the Coogee Surf Club held their first annual dinner. About 100 "brown backs" were present, and everything was in keeping with the occasion. The decorations were reminiscent of the popular summer sport, and if anyone had a doubt as to the nature of the gathering, one glance at the menu cards was sufficient to dispel that doubt. It was an artistic production, the cover representing swimmers shooting the breakers, while the life-lines, reels, and other paraphernalia used by life-savers were prominent. The viands were appropriately named, and the dainties included such dishes as "shark consomme," "fried sand whiting and surf sauce," "seahorse cutlets and cockles," "clubhouse beef and extension gravy," "flotsam, albatross, and seaweed," "cunje pudding with undertow sauce," and "blue-bottle jelly and ammonia." The toast list included "The State Parliament," proposed by Alderman D. M. Cooper (Mayor of Randwick), and responded to by Mr. D. Storey, M.L.A., "The Municipal Council," proposed by Mr. T. W. Henderson, "Kindred Associations," proposed by Mr. F. Randle, and "The Club," proposed by Mr. F. Thorpe.

RHEUMATISM,
LUMBAGO, and SCIATICA.

RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, and SCIATICA are three of the most common and painful complaints, and are especially prevalent in cold districts. They practically arise from the same cause, and the names only distinguish the location of the disease. If the arms and legs are affected it is called Rheumatism; if the loins, Lumbago; and if the hips, Sciatica. The attacks are generally brought on by chills when the body is overheated, or by exposure to damp or cold draughts, which act not upon the bones or muscles, but upon the Uric Acid in the Blood, which is the cause of the disease. Uric Acid is found in small quantities in many articles of diet, which, when consumed, pass into the blood. The failure of the Liver and Kidneys to filter and absorb this Acid leads to an accumulation in the system, tends to clog the circulation, and hardens the tissues forming the blood vessels. Thus every movement of the affected parts causes you intense agony. The pains are affected more or less by cold or heat. A damp day will double you up, or the warmth of the bed will intensify the suffering. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been wonderfully successful, not only by affording permanent relief, but by restoring the joints to their original suppleness.

Rheumatism for 40 Years.

Miss A. Mantle, of Eastern-terrace, Queenstown, Otago, N.Z., writes:—"I have much pleasure in stating that my mother (Mrs. Mantle) has received great benefit from your very valuable Liniment for Rheumatism, after trying many others, and receiving more pain than benefit in the last 40 years; it is the only one that has really done good, and she is now telling it to everyone she meets. My mother has suffered much for many years, being now 74 years of age, and is in better health than I have seen her for years, for which I have to give you many thanks, and hope to see Comstock's Nerve and Bone Liniment continue in its good work."

Severe Lumbago.

"My occupation taking me out in the wet," writes Mr. P. H. Quinn, of 29 Bay-street, Glebe. "I contracted a cold some time ago, and it settled in the system, causing me to suffer severely from Lumbago. I was under a doctor, who said I was suffering from Rheumatics round the heart. I however came to the conclusion he was not correct, so thought I would doctor myself, and started on Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills. At times I suffered such pain that if I sat down I could not straighten myself up except by degrees, but I was pleasantly surprised to find Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were doing wonders. I started on two at a time, and then afterwards reduced the dose to one. I do not suffer at all now, and attribute my recovery to their use. I take about a bottle a month to keep me in good health, and cannot speak too highly of them. After a full meal I take one, which assists the Liver in its action, aiding digestion. You may use this if you wish."

Sciatica Relieved.

Mrs. W. Cox, of 187 Pyrmont-street, Pyrmont, writes:—"I have had recourse to Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills for Indigestion and Constipation, also for very bad headaches, and pains in the back like a knife thrust when breathing. My husband has also taken them for Sciatica, and he finds they are the only things to give him relief, after trying many other remedies without effect. He would get such bad attacks that stooping was impossible, and we had to put his boots on for him. He is quite well now, but he always has them handy, and to regulate the system he occasionally takes a dose on retiring at night, which keeps him in perfect health. You may use this for any purpose suitable."

Those who suffer from Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, or Neuralgia, will find Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills very successful. Much immediate relief, however, may be obtained by the use of COMSTOCK'S NERVE and BONE LINIMENT, in conjunction with the Pills. This liniment has been thoroughly tested, and will be found invaluable in all cases of Nerve, Bone, and Muscle Pains. SATURDAY'S PLAY.

THE RAWSON CUP.

The qualifying round of the Rawson Cup competition was played on Saturday, and resulted in Manly, Petersham, Balmain, and St. George being knocked out of the competition. This leaves four strong teams in the semi-final, viz., Chatswood, City, Mosman, and Waverley. Each of these clubs had a fair majority on Saturday. In fact, in each of the four games there was good all-round play shown by both sides. The only breakdown was in the rink captained by Lawson, of Petersham, who was playing against a city team captained by Anderson. Anderson and his men made 28, but Lawson could not rise above the figure 9.

Badmington's team from Manly were also outclassed by the rink led by Chapman. The champion of Chatswood, scored 35, while Badmington got 12. Gartrell and Knox had a close go. They finished up with only a point between them. It was in these three rinks that Chatswood scored. Jago's quartette was their weakness. He met the champions of Manly, Fuller and Laurence, and went down by 8 to 18.

In the City v Petersham match, with the exception of Lawson's breakdown, the scoring was good, and the totals close. In fact, Black and Morgan finished up 18 all, while 2 points only separated the scores of Thorpe and O'Neill. Harris, however, was too good for Cropper, and beat him by 7 points.

In the Mosman v Balmain game Reeder was the only Balmain captain to get home with a majority over his opponent—Walters. In the other three rinks Mosman had a fairly decent majority.

In addition to the Rawson Cup contest, there were a number of interclub matches, and club competitions were also advanced a stage or two. The remaining match in the semi-final of the champion of champions, between Dobbie, of Hunter's Hill, and Burton-Smith, of Mosman, was decided. It was a splendid game, the men being 13 all at the 20th head. Then Dobbie had a big run, and it looked as if he must win, but Burton-Smith stuck to him pluckily, and beat him. The winner will now meet Widerstrom in the final.

The following are the details of Saturday's programme:—

CHAMPION OF CHAMPIONS.

SEMI-FINAL.

On the North Sydney green the second match in the semi-final of the champion of champions contest was played between Burton-Smith (Mosman) and Dobbie (Hunter's Hill). Throughout it was evenly contested, and no less than 40 heads were necessary before its completion. Even pegging carried the players to the twentieth head, when the score was 13 all. The Hunter's Hill representative then went ahead, and carried his score to 26 to his opponent's 14—Dobbie having added 13 while Burton-Smith added one. The Mosman champion however, playing in his best form, made his run, and caught his opponent at 27. The excitement was intense when Dobbie scored in the next head, but it was his last effort, as Burton-Smith in the two succeeding heads ran out the winner by 31 to 28. It was a game worthy of champions.

ATHLETICS.

NOVICE CROSS-COUNTRY CHAMPIONSHIP.

C. FOSTER WINS FIVE MILES.

Under the auspices of the East Sydney Club the novice five miles' cross-country championship was run on Saturday. The course was from Rose Bay baths, round the Naval Reserve, across the Royal Sydney golf links, towards Watson's Bay, and back along the New South Head-road home. It was a stiff course, and the winner was C. H. Foster, an East Sydney club member, whose running time was 33m 20s. The pace started pretty fast, but Foster was in it all the time, and finally ran ahead of F. Colbert (Cumberland Harriers) by over a hundred yards. C. Bonham (South Sydney) was a close third. Forty-four started, and most finished, the race being run as an open sealed handicap.

The championship results were:—C. Foster (E.S.A.A.C.), handicap 55s, running time 33m 21s, 1; F. Colbert (Cumberland Harriers), 70s, 34m 2s, 2; C. Bonham (South Sydney Harriers), 55s, 34m 14s, 3; S. Mortimer (East Sydney A.A.C.), 55s, 34m 17s, 4; C. W. Gibson (East Sydney A.A.C.), 65s, 34m 55s, 5; E. Austen (Redfern Harriers), 75s, 35m 5s, 6; E. Wake (East Sydney A.A.C.), 80s, 35m 25s, 7; T. Hynes (Redfern Harriers), 70s, 35m 38s, 8; R. Fazackerly (Botany Harriers), 55s, 35m 58s, 9; G. H. M'Gill (East Sydney A.A.C.), 80s, 36m 11s, 10.

The above include starts in the sealed handicap, in which the positions were only altered in the case of the last two men mentioned, Fazackerly giving way to M'Gill.

SOUTH SYDNEY HARRIERS.

The South Sydney Harriers and the Redfern Harriers combined will hold a club road race from Pick's Hotel, Moore Park. The members of each club will be handicapped by their own club officials.

MELBOURNE, Saturday.

D. Taylor, a member of the Malvern Harriers, who intends taking part in the N.S.W. Marathon Championship, to be held in Sydney on June 22, had a trial run to-day at Albert Park. Although the going was heavy, Taylor completed the 24 miles in 2 hours 45 minutes.

ROWING.

The Kemp Heavy Boats Handicap was rowed on Saturday afternoon, over a course of about 1½ mile, on the Parramatta. The water was very rough, owing to the strong breeze blowing down stream. There were 25 starters, but only those who were expert watermen had any chance. The boats were blown along in the fierce wind, and good steering was out of the question. A half-mile from the finishing point S. A. Kemp, the scratch man, was in the lead, and he eventually won by a length from his younger brother, whom he allowed 15 seconds. C. Foote (25s) was third, close up to the second man. W. Stevill (75s) was fourth.

UNIVERSITIES' EIGHT-OAR RACE POSTPONED.

ADELAIDE, Sunday.

The eight-oar boatrace between Sydney, Melbourne, and Adelaide Universities, which was to have been rowed on Port River on Saturday afternoon, was postponed on account of rough weather. A south-west wind made the water so turbulent that rowing was out of the question. The crews and launches went out to the post, but returned almost immediately. It was decided to hold the contest on Monday, at 12 o'clock, in the view of the fact that the Sydney and Melbourne crews wish to return by Monday's train. The annual dinner, at which the presentation of the cup is usually made, has been abandoned.

No fewer than 12,178 prisoners were discharged from Wandsworth Prison last year. Of this number 1503 were assisted by the Surrey and South London Society for the Employment and Reformation of Discharged Prisoners.

In a list supplied to us by the Diocesan Registrar, and published in Saturday's issue, it was stated that the Rev. W. E. Coates had been licensed as curate at St. Thomas', North Sydney. Mr. Coates has been appointed to St. Thomas', Balmain, not North Sydney.

METAL FOR STREETS.

The City Council evidently attaches very little importance to the assurance recently given by the Minister for Works (Mr. Griffith) that he is in a position to supply metal from State quarries at a very much lower rate than that now ruling, for the aldermen have not only renewed the yearly contract, but extended the term to two years. The Emu and Prospect Gravel and Road Metal Company, Limited, has been informed that its tender has been accepted at the rate of 8s 6d per ton for metal and for screenings for this year, and at the rate of 8s 6d per ton for metal and 8s 9d per ton for screenings for next year.

These teams also met at Cook's River. The game resulted in a draw, each side scoring 2 goals. H. Gibbons and A. Gibbons scored for Ramblers, and Soden scored twice for Barbarians.

GOULBURN, Saturday.

The Gladiator Hockey Club defeated Wheelmen by 4 goals to 3.

FLY-CASTING COMPETITION.

WET FLY COMPETITION.

The New South Wales Anglers' Casting Club held a competition for wet fly casting for accuracy and style (championship conditions), at four oblongs, placed at distances from 19ft to 51ft from the casting point, on Saturday at Centennial Park. It was open to A and B classes. A class competitors had three casts at the four oblongs, whilst B class cast four times at each of the three closer oblongs. The weather conditions were not favourable for high scores, still some very good work with the fly rod, in spite of the heavy westerly wind which prevailed, was witnessed. Following are the scores:—First, Mr. H. J. Solomon (B class), 243 points; second, Mr. W. E. Wilson (B class) and Mr. C. H. Gorrick (A class), equal, 230; fourth, Mr. F. L. J. Tompson (B class), 222; fifth, Mr. H. O. Chidgey (B class), 202; sixth, Mr. A. D. Padley (B class), 190; seventh, Dr. S. Brandon (B class), 189; eighth, Dr. S. H. Hughes (B class), 186; ninth, Mr. D. A. Solomon (B class), 179; tenth, Mr. H. K. Anderson (A class), 154; eleventh, Dr. H. C. Moxham (B class), 141; twelfth, Mr. J. Scoular (B class), 97; thirteenth, Mr. — Lomas (B class), 92. Three others competed.

Next Saturday an event new to competition, viz., dry fly difficulty casting for accuracy and delicacy, will be held. This event entails great skill to successfully bring the line back for the fly to score in the closer targets, which must be done whilst the fly is in the air, the line cannot be drawn off the water, excepting once (then only a few feet can be retrieved) at each ring. Interest will centre in this competition, as it involves work frequently practised on the trout streams.

SHIRE COUNCILS.

BELLINGEN (Bowraville).—During the week the councillors of the Bellingen Shire Council, accompanied by the engineer, made a tour through the Nambucca portion. Starting on Monday, they visited Bellinger Heads, Nambucca Heads, and Macksville. Next day they journeyed to the southern boundary of the shire, where it adjoins the Kempsey Shire, returning via Unkya and Congarini. At Laverty's Crossing they were met by 50 residents, who desired a bridge at the spot. A second deputation represented the necessity for another road by which a dozen settlers would gain access to the main road. The councillors promised portion of the road would be made immediately. The bridge, which will cost £600, will be discussed in council. At night the councillors were entertained at a banquet. Other portions of the shire were visited during subsequent days. At Bowra a deputation asked for the erection of a wharf close to the town. Councillors pointed out that if the request were granted the wharfage dues would be 1s 8d a ton. Storekeepers expressed a willingness to pay those rates, rather than suffer the losses and inconvenience they were now subject to. The councillors promised to consider the matter when put before them, in proper form.

TWEED (Murwillumbah).—At the regular meeting of the Tweed Shire Council the arrears of rates in the three ridings were given as £2066, and it was decided to sue for all arrears unpaid by August 1. A deputation from the municipal council in regard to the desirability of erecting suitable premises to be occupied jointly by both councils failed to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion, the shire wishing to come in as joint owners of the premises, and the municipal council desiring the shire only as tenants. A sub-committee was appointed to again confer on the matter.

Words would fail our love to tell;
But in heaven we hope to meet him,
Jesus doeth all things well.

THE INVESTMENT SENSE.

Never before have the people of the Commonwealth had greater need of developing the investment sense than to-day. This because never before have they had at their disposal a larger volume of uninvested funds. And, judging from present prospects, there is every reason for expecting a further large increase as the result of next season's wool clip. As to the coming harvest, it is yet too early to dogmatise. All that can be said in this connection is that at the moment the outlook is not unfavourable either from a producing point of view or in the matter of prices in the world's markets. It is, however, of the present rather than of the future that we desire to speak, for it seems to us that the abundance of money is tending to a little recklessness in the choice of investments. In the past the people of this State earned a reputation for caution, and this we fear they are now running the risk of losing. It had been almost impossible to excite them into taking an interest in speculative enterprises. In the other States we were described as "slow," and undoubtedly our people lost some good things through their excessive caution. They also avoided many traps set for the unwary, and on the whole, though they may not have made such big "punches" as their more hazardous neighbours over the border, they at least had the satisfaction of getting into many sound and progressive undertakings. The old moneyed school still retains its pristine prudence. It is the growth of a new class of investors, whose good fortunes do not extend beyond the last few bounteous seasons, that has brought about the present problem. They are readier prey to the wiles of the mala fide promoter and of the boomster.

If the investment sense be developed in the hard school of experience the lessons there taught may be well earned, but the education is expensive for the student. Like other branches of learning, it may be acquired in a less painful way, though never without hard thinking. The question is, "Into what shall I put my money with the prospect of a reasonable return, and with little risk of my losing my principal?" Some prefer to place their funds at fixed deposit with the banks. The interest thus earned may be small, but it is sure. This is a class of investment suitable enough for some, and especially for such as have neither the opportunity of nor the skill for going into the merits of enterprises that promise greater returns. It is a form, however, that shows a lack of enterprise, and if generally followed would lead to comparative stagnation. Others, perhaps even more conservative in their ideas, prefer to exchange their money for Government securities. These, too, are eminently safe, but the yields are low, and too much money might easily be invested in this way to the detriment of wholesome forms of industry. Were too great a proportion of the savings of the people handed over to swell the public loan account the Government would be encouraged to extravagance, and its credit would fall. For trustees, for insurance offices, and for funds held in a fiduciary way, Government securities afford a legitimate outlet.

Then we come to the more speculative forms of investment. There are some having the gambling instinct largely developed who, whenever they have a few pounds to play with, promptly put them into mining shares. These almost invariably lose money, often principal as well as interest. Sometimes, as is so often the case with the punter on the turf, they have their good days, which generally lead them into deeper plunges, with a more picturesque collapse at the close. It is true that fortunes have been made out of mining, but these have usually been secured by those "in the know," and not by mere outsiders. The few exceptions to this rule are the decoy ducks that have led so many to their ruin. For the uninitiated public to plunge on the mining side of the Stock Exchange is for the amateur to play with the expert. The former may win, but the chances are against him. There are others who eschew shares, but like a little flutter in land. If they are cautious enough not to buy more than they can pay for there is not much of a gamble about this form of indulgence. Whatever happens, the land is still there, depreciated though it may be, with rates and taxes to be regularly paid as a first charge. But, with a little judgment as to locality, and a strict determination not to purchase more than can be comfortably financed, not much harm is done. Country lands are on a different basis from city or suburban lands. The former have a more readily ascertainable productive value, and are hence less speculative. But the capital value must be estimated on the yields of average, and not of abnormal seasons. Valuations made on the basis of the last five years would be apt to lead to disastrous results. Investment in rent-producing properties is also subject to calculations more or less exact. It is not everyone, however, who can become a successful landlord. Like other businesses, it is one that is not without its worries; and while it is fashionable to gird at the greedy landlord, he not infrequently has something to say in his own defence. We doubt not that bad tenants are quite as common as bad landlords, and that the latter are not infrequently the results of experience of a series of the former. Closely allied to real property is the business of lending out money on mortgage. This is best left to those solicitors who specialise in this form of investment, for, though their fees have to be paid, their experience is usually worth the money. Mortgages are never really satisfactory, unless the personal character of the mortgagor is taken count of quite as much as the character of the security he proffers.

Another big group of securities is afforded on the investment side of the Stock Exchange. These extend all the way from gilt-edge to wild-cat. Excluding Government stock, which forms a class of its own, bank shares and a few other proved industrial undertakings of the higher order head the list. These form a safe investment, though they do not give a very satisfactory return at present market prices. But it must be remembered that "low returns" and "good security" are convertible terms on 'change. Lower down on the list are the industrials. These, because more risky, yield better, and there has been something of a run on them of late. If these be selected the investment should be well spread. Not over many eggs should be placed in one basket where industrials are concerned. Those concerns carrying on business in more than one State, too, are usually to be preferred to those with more restricted operations, unless perchance the latter partake of the attributes of monopolies or quasi monopolies. In this case the possibility of State interference has to be weighed. Altogether, the cultivation of the investment sense is one that will of itself yield handsome results to those who give time and thought to the task.

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

The result of the debate on Mr. Harcourt's proposal for a standing committee of Dominion representatives is a matter for grave regret. The nature of the proposals, as well as the reasons for their adoption were best summarised in the second speech of Sir Joseph Ward. At present there is no connecting link between one conference and another. Mr. Harcourt, on behalf of the Imperial Government, refused to admit that the Colonial Office machinery was in any way deficient for all Imperial purposes. But, as a matter of fact, there are many matters which, from the point of view of the Dominions, ought to be considered, which it is the duty of no department nor of any Secretary of State to consider, and which are therefore ignored. Sir Joseph Ward had to go back no further than the resolutions of the last conference to find instances in support of his case. The resolutions then passed on the subject of double income tax, death duties, and Suez Canal dues have had no effect, because there has been no committee in existence for the purpose of threshing out details. Such a committee would have been created had Mr. Deakin's scheme for an Imperial Secretariat been carried into effect. But, as Mr. Fisher suggested, the want of a link is greater than ever now that the Dominions have been taken so much more completely into the confidence of the Home Government. Is the link to be supplied by more frequent meetings or by the institution of advisory committees. The Australasian delegates were alone in favour of the committees which, since Mr. Harcourt asked for a unanimous acceptance, were therefore abandoned. As he has already done so often, Sir Wilfrid Laurier expressed his entire satisfaction with the working of the Colonial Office and his dread of any interference by the Imperial authorities with the Dominions. We share Sir Joseph Ward's astonishment at the idea that any such interference would have been rendered probable or possible by the acceptance of Mr. Harcourt's proposals. Autonomy is not the same thing as isolation. The Dominion Governments would have had exactly as much independence as they have now, together with the added power of being able to co-operate with the United Kingdom with a knowledge of what was needed. The committees would indeed have had no more control over the Dominion Governments than the Imperial Conference has at present. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attitude, if logically maintained, would, in fact, compel him to regard the Imperial Conference as another disguised encroachment on the rights of his country. The conference is, however, accepted as a vital element in the Imperial organisation, and will be maintained. How, then, can there be any hesitation between accepting this or some similar scheme to make its work effective, and repeating the confession of resigned impotence, which the Canadian delegates have used throughout the debates?

As a statement of results Mr. Burns's speech is by far the most satisfactory yet made to the conference. The increase in the proportion of the total number of British emigrants going to the Dominions from 54 to 80 is a matter which has certainly justified the work of the Emigrant Department. Mr. Harcourt's suggestion that the element of competition be as far as possible eliminated from the department, is one to which Australians will willingly accede. We have already had abundant proof that the best help we can ask for is a supply of accurate information. The department, if organised with this object in view, will be the best ally we can have. But the Imperial Government must recognise that a country in the position of Australia cannot relax its efforts to secure more immigrants, and these of the best type. Mr. Burns's approval of our treatment of juvenile immigrants is very welcome, though we ourselves see much room for improvement. We recognise that the immigrant who is caught young is most likely to make the settler we need. But it is just because we ourselves are young that we need to exercise the utmost vigilance in our reception of adults. We wish, as far as possible, to keep ourselves free from those characteristics of life in the old world which are the inevitable accompaniments of age. The resolution passed as amended by Mr. Harcourt records a very satisfactory rate of progress, and is one to which none of the delegates could hesitate to agree. But Australians must realise that before they can get the full benefit of British co-operation they must co-operate amongst themselves. We want not only to capture some of the 20 per cent. who wander from the fold, but to attract a larger proportion of the remaining 80 per cent. to our shores.

THE LABOUR MAJORITY.

We were told some time ago that brotherly love had been restored between the Labour members and the Political Labour Leagues; but it seems there is still a rift in the lute, making but broken music of the Labour song of triumph. It is not likely that Mr. Page will be asked to resign his seat, and however unpopular he may have become with the league, it is still less likely that he will resign and contest an election merely to show that he retains the confidence of the constituency. It is no doubt obvious that the erring members have stirred up much bitterness in their own camps, and if there happened to be a general election just now they would probably find themselves left in the cold, which shows how much respect Labour has for any thing like independence of act or thought. But, as everyone knows, Labour itself was very much divided on the referendum vote, and to a large extent preferred to take no part in the matter. No doubt, therefore, men like Mr. Page and Mr. Dacey would still find a following in their districts, and would contest an election in defiance of the leagues. But it all goes to show that Labour solidarity is not quite so solid as it is claimed to be. Solidarity is far easier to attain to in opposition than in office. In the first case, there is little that can arise to cause a split; in the second the mere fact that some men are enjoying the Ministerial benches is enough to make other members of the party gnash their teeth. That is very much the present position, and though the trouble is not likely to come to a head just now, it is likely to grow in silence, until it becomes a serious problem when members have next to face their constituencies.

The situation throws a rather lurid light on the acrobatic feat of the Government in continuing to hold office. If they lost a single seat, say that of Mr. Page, they would no longer have a party majority, and would be liable to be turned out at any moment—indeed, the strong probabilities are that they would be turned out neck and crop. Now, no Government can be blamed for holding office even with a majority of one, so long as it is able to carry on the business of the country, and we certainly do not blame the Labour party for trying to do so. What we do think is that it is most inappropriate that a Government so situated should act as though it had an overwhelming majority at its back, and refuse to take advice from its candid friends, or even from its enemies. It is clear that a Government so placed has no moral right to force its views against a unanimous expression of disapproval. And similarly in regard to legislation it has no right to force a doctrinaire principle which it knows will be reversed at the first opportunity. It should have the courage of its convictions, and it is justified in giving expression to them as far as possible. But if it has any political wisdom, or any regard for its own skin, it will do well to listen to criticism and endeavour to profit by it. One other point is worth mention. It must lead its own party, or go to the wall. There are many Cabinet makers at the Trades Hall who are only too ready for a job.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

Mr. Holman's further statement, published in this issue, in the matter of Government House shows the Acting Premier as supporting his curious theory of Ministerial responsibility in various ways. We are not much concerned with that supporting argument, either in its relation to Mr. Wade's speech on the subject or to the precise liability of the Commonwealth in respect of a residence for the Governor-General. In that latter respect, however, Mr. Holman's argument, from telephones to Governors-General, seems to show how hard put its apologist is for the proposed vandalism. But our ground of opposition to Mr. Holman's idea is quite other than any suggested by him. We appeal neither to political finance nor to political sophistry. Our contention on the subject is that voiced by numerous correspondents during the past week, and, again this morning. It is a contention which is based upon that elusive but unmistakable influence which political leaders out for the popularity of the obvious so often lose sight of—the influence that is of sentiment. It is a dominating influence on occasion, and the tone of our correspondence shows how it is rising into expression in the present instance. The suggestion that the Lord Mayor should call a public meeting in regard to the matter has our cordial support. But it is hardly fair to expect him to do so except by the direct appeal of a public requisition. We trust that that appeal will be made.

Of course, if the sternly utilitarian point of view is the only basis of Mr. Holman's outlook he has a case. Government House is not often in use in that capacity—he says, in effect—let us therefore turn it to a purpose in which it will be more constantly useful. But that principle of narrow limitation to the obvious has only to be examined to be found unworthy of serious thought. It is a principle which would make life a dull business, and human beings a prosaic set of automata. For, of what use on a strictly utilitarian basis is any adornment of life whatsoever, from the pictures in our homes to the architecture of our cities? Or, to take another aspect of it, loyalty itself is the merest sentiment, and loses its value in proportion as it is inspired by thought of material advantage. Logically, the utilitarian politician to whom such an institution as a Government House, for the service of the King's representative, is an obstacle in the way of public reforms, should esteem loyalty only so far as it secures to him material favours not otherwise at his disposal. That, indeed, may be the view of some Labour politicians in respect of loyalty, but it is not at all the view of the majority of Australians. To that majority loyalty is a fair sentiment, and it will persist as such. And similarly the wish to preserve Government House is the result of sentiment which indications show to be very widespread. It is a sentiment which regards as worthy of retention a fine old house, rich in historical association, for one thing, and we are especially a people who can ill-afford to destroy such slender witness to the past as we do possess. And, for another thing, Government House is for a very large body of the community an outward and visible sign of the true basis of our Commonwealth constitution, its foundation that is in the Empire tradition which attaches us to the King through his representative the Governor-General. It will need very much more than Mr. Holman's suddenly-discovered financial burden, or his ardour for public services easily to be met in other ways, to dispossess the thinking public of that idea of Government House and its value to the community as it stands.

Labour Government and Country Members.—In the Lieutenant-Governor's speech at the opening of Parliament, the Government announced that it was intended to repeal the Conversion Act. As soon as the Labour Ministry took office Mr. Nielsen stated that freehold was at an end, and there was accordingly a rush on the Lands Department, the country electorates fastening on to the idea that leaseholders would be refused the right to convert. The members of the Labour party who hold seats in the country districts accordingly have not had the smoothest of paths when visiting their headquarters. Several have told the Government that they are unable to vote for the repeal of the Conversion Act unless it is framed so that all existing rights are preserved. The Government has stated that homestead selection holders will be given till the end of the year or a little later in which to convert their holdings. There are many settlers, however, who will be unable to find it convenient to make the move in the time allowed, and they are pressing their members on the question. Precisely how the bill is to be framed has not been stated. Whether it will be brought in at all remains to be seen. If it is, many members of the Labour party will want a say in its terms. The general opinion is that it will be quietly dropped.

Shortage of Labour Commission.—The Royal Commission inquiring into the shortage of labour in New South Wales has been given accommodation in Richmond-terrace, a row of Government buildings facing the Domain. The work will commence on Wednesday. The staff of the Fisheries branch of the Chief Secretary's Department, which was formerly in the terrace, has now been moved to quarters in the main building in Macquarie-street.

Two More Australian Universities.—Before the end of the year Western Australia will have a university of its own. The Government has guaranteed a minimum yearly grant of £13,500, and Sir Winthrop Hackett has endowed a Chair of Agriculture. "That's not a bad start," said Mr. Walter Kingsmill, M.L.C., on Saturday. Mr. Kingsmill represented Western Australia at the inauguration of the Queensland University. "An Act has been passed in Western Australia," he continued, "which provides that within a fixed time a senate shall be appointed, and with the appointment of the senate the university comes into existence. Western Australia, of course, will be starting a university at a much earlier stage of her development than Queensland. There are three statutory faculties in the northern State—arts, science, and engineering."

Royal Commission on Miners' Safety.—The Royal Commission, of which Mr. W. Newbery is chairman, appointed to investigate certain matters in connection with the Maitland coal mines, will inquire into the best method of working the thick seams in the Maitland-Cessnock district, having in view the necessity for protecting the lives of the miners from accidents, and for extracting as large a proportion of the coal as possible, so that there shall be no loss of revenue to the State. The matter of the conditions under which occupants of houses on the Pelaw Main and the Stanford Merthyr leases hold their residence areas, and whether any better title can be given, are also to be inquired into. The proceedings of the Commission are not expected to commence until after the Coronation celebrations.

Ideal Site for Zoo.—Mr. Walter Kingsmill, M.L.C., also acting president of the Western Australian zoo, has inspected the proposed site for the Sydney Zoological Gardens on the foreshores of the harbour, and thinks it would be difficult to find a better position. "I was surprised," he said on Saturday, "that Queensland is not provided with zoological gardens. While in Brisbane I met the members of the Zoological Society—a body of enthusiasts, headed by Sir Arthur Morgan—who are striving to establish a zoo. They have a magnificent site in view, easy of access, and with every natural advantage. It now only remains for the Government to provide the necessary funds. In Sydney I have had an opportunity, through the kindness of the council of the zoo, of inspecting the proposed site on the northern side of the Harbour. No one could avoid being impressed by the immense advantages offered by this very fine situation, as compared with the present cramped and congested site, and in justice, not only to the public, but to captive animals and birds, who must suffer from the dust and noise of the surrounding traffic, it is greatly to be desired that the welcome change of position will soon be made."

"Cheap Labour" State.—Is Tasmania unfairly competing with the other States of the Commonwealth? The island is held up as a cheap labour State in a letter from Tasmania received by Mr. E. J. Kavanagh, secretary to the Labour Council of New South Wales. The letter draws attention to what is termed a new industry, which is a porcelain enamelling process, recently started in Tasmania. The writer seeks to show that this industry was merely started in Tasmania because of the cheapness of labour in that State. He points out the danger to the workers in States where industrial conditions are better if industries are taken to Tasmania on that account, and urges that some action should be taken.

Women on Wages Boards.—It was stated in the "Herald" last week that objection was taken to the attempt by the Storemen's Union to secure the appointment of a woman as representative on behalf of the chemical workers (women) on the Drug Board. It transpires that there was no absolute objection on the part of the employers to the appointment of a lady, but they were taken by surprise with the nomination, and desired time for consideration. It is now probable that the employers may also nominate as one of their two representatives a lady who conducts a chemical factory. Thus there promises to be two women sitting as representatives on the Drug Board, which should make it unique in the history of wages boards.

Traveller's Grievance.—"Is it equitable," asks a correspondent signing himself "A Victim," "that the holder of a season ticket on the railways should be made to pay a single fare rate and fine when, on a rare occasion, he leaves his pass at home in another pocket?" He suggests that all that would be necessary would be to take the passenger's name and address for the purpose of verifying the statement that he is the possessor of a season ticket.

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Sunday.

The Government has decided to let the law take its course in the case of a Maori youth, Tahi Kaka, sentenced to death at Auckland for the murder of an elderly gumdigger named Freeman, at Puhipuhi, on April 5.

PERSONAL.

VICE-REGAL.

Her Excellency the Countess of Dudley, accompanied by Adeline, Duchess of Bedford, and attended by Sir Alexander Napier, was present at the Hospice concert at the Town Hall on Saturday evening.

Mr. T. F. Brimage, a member of the Legislative Council of Western Australia, and Mrs. Brimage arrived in Sydney by the Southern express on Saturday, and will remain here for a week.

Mr. Walter Kingsmill, M.L.C., Chairman of Committees in the Western Australian Legislative Council, and ex-Colonial Secretary and Acting Premier of the State, left Sydney by the Melbourne express last night, en route to Western Australia.

Sir Hartley and Lady Williams and Miss Lillian Williams, who left England in January on an extensive tour of the world, arrived at Brisbane yesterday by the steamer Prinz Sigismund. They will probably stay in Sydney several days, and in Melbourne some weeks. Sir Hartley was at one time a Judge in the Victorian Supreme Court.

Mr. Tsai Yun Tsang, secretary to the Chinese Consul at Sydney, was a passenger by the steamer Prinz Sigismund, which arrived at Brisbane yesterday.

The Misses M'Gowen were presented with diamond and ruby bangles by the Lord Mayor on Thursday last as souvenirs of Coronation year. After all expenses in connection with the farewell banquet given by the citizens to the Premier had been met it was found that there was a substantial balance in hand, and it was decided to make presentations to Mr. M'Gowen's daughters and to hand over the remainder of the funds to the committee of the South Sydney Hospital.

Sir Kenneth Douglas and Mr. and Mrs. Hammond were included in the passengers who left by the Union Company's steamer Moeraki on Saturday for Wellington and other New Zealand ports.

Mr. A. G. Daw was on Saturday presented by the employees of Messrs. Edward Arnold and Co. with a silver tea and coffee service on the occasion of leaving the firm to take up a position with a firm of engineers.

Miss Josephine Rutter, who for the past 16 years has been matron of the Parramatta District Hospital, has been appointed matron of the Carrington Convalescent Hospital at Camden, in succession to Miss Emilie Tunks, who recently resigned on account of ill-health.

By the recent death of Mr. Thomas John Evans at Sydney at the age of 71 years an important link in the coal industry was severed. Mr. Evans was born at Merthyr-Tydvil, South Wales, in the year 1839. His young days were spent in the employ of the Dowlais Iron and Coal Company, and he was for some years manager of Harris' Deep Navigation Coal Company, Limited, South Wales. He first took charge of the West Wallsend mine in 1888, and for some years was manager of the Woonona colliery, now the property of the Bellambi Coal Company, Limited. Mr. Evans was also the first man to locate the splendid clay now being used at the Bulli pottery works. In 1898 he made successful experiments with the Port Stephens iron ore, from which castings were made at the works of Messrs. Morrison and Bearby, of Newcastle. In 1905 he took charge of the Morisset coal mine, in Lake Macquarie, which he worked for several years. He was also the pioneer of the Newcastle-Belmont Collieries, Limited, which property he had under observation for a number of years before it was floated into a limited company, and he was up to his death a director of this company. He acted as consulting and mining engineer, and reported on many well-known properties. He was looked upon as an authority on the coal and shale deposits of New South Wales and Queensland. Mr. T. J. Evans's father and grandfather were in the coal business, and all his sons are well known in the coal business in New South Wales. One of his daughters is married to Mr. Henry Davies, the South Wales mining expert, who is also the author of many books on mining. In addition Mr. Evans was an authority on Welsh literature, and a prominent figure in the eisteddfods of Wales.

The will of the late Sir Richard Chaffey Baker, who died on March 18, has been sworn for probate purposes not to exceed £64,000. For her long and faithful service the sum of £200 is bequeathed to Mary Lawler. To his son John Richard Baker is left all his share and interest in the partnership of Baker and Barlow, solicitors, also the insignia of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, two Delhi Durbar medals presented by the Governor-General of India, the pedigree from the Heralds College, coat of arms, and oil portraits of the late knight's father, mother, and wife, also one of himself, which are at present at Morialta. The furniture and silverware, including racing cups, are bequeathed to his son and daughter, Robert Colley Baker and Adelaide Edith Baker. The residuary estate is to be divided between the three children. John Richard Baker and Robert Colley Baker are trustees and executors.

TIDE OF IMMIGRATION.

TOWARDS THE WEST.

SEVEN THOUSAND COMING.

BOOM IN SYDNEY.

At the present time Western Australia is attracting more immigrants than any other State. Within the next few months no fewer than 7000 people will arrive there from the British Isles.

Mr. Walter Kingsmill, M.L.C., who passed through Sydney on Saturday, stated that much developmental work was going on both in city and country. "Large numbers of immigrants are coming in," he said, "and, better still, they are being absorbed. There is work for every immigrant who presents himself. Things are booming in Perth in the building line. Most of the newcomers are just the sort of men needed to develop a young country, and many of them have a fair amount of money.

"By the way, only recently we had the Premier of South Australia (Mr. Verran) and other Parliamentarians inquiring into our system of spur railways. In our State the spur railway system has been carried to a fine art.

"But if one thing has struck me more than another during my trip it is the wonderful strides that have been made in Sydney. I was amazed at the number of large buildings now in course of erection, to say nothing of those that have been put up in recent years. One has only to look at the magnificent pile in Martin-place, opposite the General Post Office, to realise what has been done within the last five or six years."

THE RUSH FOR SYDNEY.

ENGLISH PASSENGERS' PREDICAMENT.

HOBART, Saturday.

Out of 300 passengers for Australia who landed at Hobart by the R.M.S. Athenic, which arrived on Thursday from London, about a score found themselves in an awkward predicament, and waited on the Chief Secretary, Dr. Butler, and laid their case before him.

They said that when booking in London for Sydney they were informed a steamer would be in waiting at Hobart to take them to their destination, and that they had sent their money to the Sydney agents of the Shaw Savill line, to which the Athenic belongs. On arrival here they found that the steamer for Sydney did not sail until Monday night, and they had not sufficient money to pay for board whilst waiting.

The Chief Secretary agreed that the Government would pay the board. The large number of passengers landing at Hobart by English steamers for transhipment to Australia is taxing the accommodation of the interstate steamers. The Manuka, which left for Melbourne on Thursday night, was unable to take all wishing to go, and there are 200 ex the R.M.S. Athenic to go by the Paloona on Monday for Sydney. These make 1400 passengers landed at Hobart by English steamers this year for transhipment to Commonwealth ports.

THE FUTURE GOVERNMENT OF SYDNEY.

(BY JOHN D. FITZGERALD.)

IV.

CONCENTRATION OF POWER AND ENERGY.

The changing of the form of our civic government enables the citizens of Sydney to do something really great. They can, first of all, relieve the central Government of work of a civic nature which impedes the legitimate tasks of the central Government. The late Premier, Mr. C. G. Wade, admitted to a deputation that the solution of problems of Sydney government was blocked by others of more direct import to the whole State which came suddenly in the road of the Government's best intentions. A strike at Newcastle might put back the Greater Sydney question; a political crisis or a vote of censure might prevent the carrying out of the plans of Sydney improvement. It will, therefore, be a splendid thing for the State if the heavily laden central Government can disembarrass itself of problems of administration which are peculiarly the business of the citizens of Sydney. No Government should crowd itself with municipal functions when there is bigger game about.

When the change is under consideration, therefore, we ask for a wide consideration. It has been said with regard to the planning of the Federal capital that a splendid opportunity exists to embody all the experience of the ages, in town planning, and all the knowledge of to-day to secure the perfect plan. So in regard to the future government of Sydney, we should seek the perfect form of civic government, if perfection can be evolved from the systems in vogue in the world to-day as applied to the government of cities. A word will be necessary as to the existing civic government of Greater Sydney, for here a system exists which most thoughtful civic men believe leads to waste of energy, unnecessary expense, and smaller results than the amount of energy expended is capable of producing under happier circumstances.

The civic government of Sydney to-day is split up among so many authorities that the whole of our deficiencies—the whole of the "chaos" said to exist in our civic sphere—are to be attributed to that fact. No scheme for the future government of Sydney would be of any value unless it provided for the centralisation of powers of administration in some adequate body. There must be some central council for the whole area—some body which will be elected by the citizens of the Greater Sydney area for purposes which concern those citizens; a body which will be able to operate over the whole area for the benefit of all; which will bring co-operation where confusion now exists; which will be powerful enough to undertake functions now divided among heterogeneous and irreconcilable bodies; and popular enough to command alike the confidence of the workers, who want better living conditions, and the merchants and captains of industry, who desire their commercial services to be brought to the stage of efficiency, and to have a plan in advance to order future growth.

Co-operation among the present executive bodies on the area is impossible in the nature of things. The structure of the bodies themselves sets up unnatural jealousy and antipathy. There is a central city council, and 40 odd suburban councils. The latter are, apparently, afraid of absorption by the former, although no serious proposal has been made to absorb them. On the contrary, the Greater Sydney proposal practically offers the suburban councils the opportunity to absorb the city of Sydney, and thus to obtain the dominant share of control of the commercial zone of Sydney, in which all are equally interested; for the good administration of this zone affects the circulation of the life blood of the whole area. It is a deliberate misrepresentation to say that Greater Sydney means the "swamping" of the suburbs by the city. Five hundred thousand people cannot be "swamped" by a hundred and thirty thousand.

Then these councils—city and suburban—find themselves often in conflict with, often waiting upon the action of, the various Government departments and upon the Board Governments. In the true sphere of local government, no council should have to depend upon the goodwill or regulate its progress by the plans of any Government authority save one—the Minister who presides over the Local Government Department. The creation of a proper central municipal authority means that the citizens of the whole area shall be their own masters, and will no longer, as now, be the servants of Board Governments; that their collective credit shall be equal to the prestige of the city; that the value of their citizenship shall be enhanced; that the tasks of their municipal representatives shall be ennobled; that a better field shall be provided for the employment of energies which in other cities have produced a new form of statesmanship of the highest value to the nation.

And in considering the change we must never lose sight of the premise I have laid down, that not only the interests of the people of Sydney are at stake, but those of the people of New South Wales. In the careful diagnosis of the disease from which we suffer by the Royal Commission on Sydney Improvement, it is clearly shown that, hitherto, the whole of New South Wales has looked to Sydney as its commercial entrepot; all our products for oversea export have come through Sydney, as through a funnel; and most of our imports come through the same conduit pipe. The interests of the people of the whole State, therefore, cannot be separated from the interests of the dwellers in Sydney when we are considering the question of the future government of the capital. If there is an unnecessary enhancement in the cost of handling merchandise at our wharfs and in our streets, the increase is charged to the whole community; and, therefore, from one point of view, the man at Bourke is as vitally interested as the man at the Glebe or North Sydney.

There is no warrant for the retention of 40 odd separate municipal and a number of shire councils on the greater Sydney area. A powerful central government, devolving its executive agencies through every part of the city, could do everything that the separate councils do to-day, and could, over and above, do some things which no separate council or no voluntary combination of councils under the present law could do. There is no warrant for freeing such bodies as the Board Governments from the control of the citizens, or for making them masters instead of servants; nor is there any possible justification, with all their individual merit, of releasing them from laws which make for efficiency and economy through avenues of co-operation.

This part of my argument, summed up, amounts to this: The future government of Sydney, if it is to be worth while, must be carried out by a council which will dominate the efforts and harmonise the plans of the Board Governments in all matters relating to the civic administration of Sydney, and in all matters which are vital to the whole area; which will absorb the city and suburban councils; and in all large matters of common concern within the civic sphere shall be the sole administrative authority. Such matters are easily catalogued. They are universally administered by progressive centralised civic government, in one form or another, throughout the civilised world wherever the problems of modern city growth have to be met and conquered. They include the provision and handling of commercial facilities, public health, city improvement and communication, beautification, control and ownership of public services, housing of the people, directing the growth of the outer boundaries, cleansing and sanitation generally, the stamping out of preventible and the curing of curable disease, the extirpation of slums and slum conditions, and such cognate questions as are at the root of the problem of the survival of the race itself, in which regard the city is the trustee of the whole nation, and the proper guardian of the nation's children within its borders.

In the next article an inquiry will be made into the various models of city government which have been found effective in other parts of the world. I will divide them into (1) government by commission (U.S.A.), government by burgomaster (Germany), unified city government (Great Britain), and composite city government (London and Boston). Examples are to hand in the cities named above, and in Glasgow, Berlin, Birmingham, Galveston, and other American cities. We must approach the problem with an open mind, and see what form of constitution is most suitable to our conditions.

THE BRITISH SINGERS.

TOUR OF TRIUMPH.

"THE SPIRIT OF MUSIC AND THE EMPIRE."

SHEFFIELD CHOIR ARRIVES.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

The Sheffield Choir arrived by the Zealandia on Saturday, and were received by the Premier, Mr. Denham, and publicly welcomed in the Botanic Gardens.

In replying Dr. Coward said the choir were adding a quota to the development of the Imperial spirit by means of song. They did not come to teach, but if the advancement of music was achieved they would be very pleased.

To an interviewer Dr. Coward expressed delight with the welcome extended in Canada and the United States. Enthusiastic as the Canadians were the United States people were even more generous. It was a tour of triumph everywhere. In the last two days in Vancouver 5000 persons attended three concerts, a record for the tour. Dr. Coward retains a wonderfully youthful appearance and spirit. He looks twenty years younger than his age, 62. He attributes it to music, which he has always loved. He only turned to it professionally when 40, but had devoted five nights a week to it for ten years as an amateur. Asked in what direction he considered the choir excelled, he said, "We simply try to make the spirit of music live. We picture out the sentiments we sing, and we are not afraid, singing restrainedly or letting ourselves go out as the occasion demands." He is very partial to Bach, and sings more Bach music than anyone in England. Bach's "Sing Ye," which the choir will give in Sydney, is a wonderful work.

Eight programmes have been prepared for Sydney, including "Elijah," "The Messiah," Elgar's "The Dream of Gerontius," "The Golden Legend," Berlioz' "Faust," and Beethoven's Choral Symphony.

The visitors are delighted with their first impressions of Australia, and thoroughly enjoyed the trip up the Brisbane River to the city. The most notable result of the tour so far has been the helping of the binding of interests between the people of the United States and England.

Future arrangements are concerts in Sydney, New Zealand, Tasmania, Melbourne, Ballarat, Adelaide, Perth, and South Africa.

Lady Norah Noel, a daughter of the Earl of Gainsborough, who is a member of the choir, is accompanied by her brother, Viscount Campden. Both are small and fragile-looking. Lady Norah is a charming little lady, bright and vivacious, and an enthusiast in music, and full of the pleasures of her trip. She wore a smart navy-blue travelling suit, the coat curved like a man's paget coat, and draped round her shoulders was a scarf of brown satin edged with brown fur. The quaint little Puritan bonnet of gold-coloured tagel straw was finished with a small rosette of brown silk.

Lady Norah said she had always longed to come to Australia—indeed, since she was a very young girl and read that exciting book "Robbery Under Arms." And, further, she had wished to get out of the ordinary trammels of society and see the world under other aspects than her own little circle. Becoming a member of the choir also offered her a splendid opportunity of doing something for herself. Her fondness for Australia was enhanced by her love for music and the country's reputation as the land of song. Music was her hobby. She studied under the best masters in Brussels, and joined Dr. Coward's choir for the advantages of the musical tour.

ARRANGEMENTS IN SYDNEY.

ROYAL RECEPTION.

CONVOY OF STEAMERS FOR THE ZEALANDIA.

Dr. Harriss will arrive early this morning by the mail train from Melbourne, thus preceding the arrival of the choir by about six hours. The latter will enter the Heads at about noon.

On his arrival Dr. Harriss will receive from Mr. Southwell, the Australian manager, the welcome news that Sydney is thoroughly awakened to the importance of the visit, and that the concerts here are going to be magnificent successes.

Dr. Harriss will form one of the reception party on the steamer that conveys the Acting Premier and Mrs. Holman to the Heads to meet the choir. In all there will be eight steamers, all crowded with representatives of musical societies, the citizens' committee, the Yorkshire Society, and 40 chorister boys from St. Andrew's Cathedral. The Zealandia will be conveyed to Circular Quay by this small fleet of vessels, and will berth at the Orient Company's wharf at about 1 o'clock. After a greeting on the wharf, to which admission may be gained by steamer ticket, the first formal greeting from Sydney will be given by the Acting Premier.

A great array of 40 motor cars, supplied mainly by members of the Automobile Club of Australia, will be drawn up outside the wharf, and in these the choir will be driven to their respective hotels. During this drive the opportunity will be taken to show them the principal parts of the city. They will be taken over a route from Macquarie-street, Bridge-street, George-street, Park-street, and Elizabeth-street to the Queen's Statue, from which they will separate to their various hotels. When they arrive there they will receive their invitations for the week's festivities and a handsome itinerary book all under one cover. The list is formidable enough. It commences with a conversazione and dance for the whole choir at the Town Hall to-night, given by the Royal Philharmonic Society.

Dr. Harriss and Dr. Coward, however, will be formally received by the Lord Mayor at the Town Hall at 5 p.m. to-day. The Acting Premier, Mr. Holman, will also be present.

During the week the choir will have a large number of engagements to fulfil, and each evening there will be a concert, commencing with the "Messiah" to-morrow night.

The Australian manager, Mr. Southwell, who has had a laborious task in the local organisation of this great musical venture, is highly elated with the financial prospects. He states that the booking for the "Messiah" has never been equalled before in this part of the world. He has had to arrange for several additional rows of seats to be made available this morning.

SOUVENIR OF SIMPSON.

DISCOVERER OF ANESTHETICS.

MEMORIES OF EXPERIMENTS.

ADELAIDE, Sunday.

Apropos of the celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Sir James Young Simpson, the discoverer of anesthetics, mentioned in recent cablegrams, there resides in Gover-street, North Adelaide, a niece of the great surgeon, Miss Simpson, who recollects the experiment days of chloroform away back in the forties. Miss Simpson was a daughter of Mr. David Simpson, an elder brother of the doctor, and came to South Australia when 22 years of age in the ship Storm Queen, 52 years ago.

"We lived in Edinburgh," she informed a reporter of the "Register" on Saturday, "and I remember my Uncle James as a nice, kind man. He had a great horror of seeing people in pain, and this led to his efforts to discover something to alleviate their sufferings. He and his assistants, after having worked for some time, hit upon the anesthetic one evening. How it came about I cannot say now, but when I was about 10 I remember him coming to father's house, and giving us a little sniff of it. We seemed to go off into a beautiful sleep. It appeared to us as being very funny, and my father, who had returned from a train journey, said it made him feel as though he had been driving the engine. We children began to look for chloroform whenever we had any pain, and, in fact, we thought we might take it for toothache. As we grew older, however, we decided that we had better not experiment any more. Of course, chloroform in those days was not as pure as it has come to be latterly, but we suffered no ill-effects. When the discovery was made known it occasioned much talk, and came as a great relief to many a sufferer. Naturally I have always taken a great interest in the subject, and when we came to Australia we brought chloroform with us. Uncle James was always studying for something or other."

Over 50 years ago Miss Simpson was visited by the doctor's only surviving daughter, with whom she still corresponds.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

EMIGRATION QUESTION.

"TRUST THE MOTHER COUNTRY."

MR. BURNS'S APPEAL.

"DO NOT EMPTY THE TANK."

LONDON, June 9.

The Imperial Conference resumed its sittings to-day, Mr. Harcourt (Secretary of State for the Colonies) presiding.

Mr. Fisher (Prime Minister of Australia) formally moved the following resolution:—

"That the resolution of the Conference of 1907, which was in the following terms, be reaffirmed:—'That it is desirable to encourage British emigrants to proceed to British colonies rather than to foreign countries.

"'That the Imperial Government be requested to co-operate with any colonies desiring immigration, in assisting suitable persons to emigrate.

"'That the Secretary of State for the Colonies be requested to nominate representatives of the Dominions to the committee of the Emigrants' Information Office.'"

Mr. Batchelor said that the conference would doubtless agree to encourage emigration within the Empire. Australia, like other parts of the Empire, was drawing upon Great Britain for a portion of its population, and was naturally anxious that its own race should be kept within the Empire.

There seemed, he added, to be some lack of precise information in the Emigrants' Information Department. He suggested the inclusion on the committee of representatives of the Dominions in order to increase its knowledge.

Sir Joseph Ward (Prime Minister of New Zealand) said that the Dominion did not favour a system of wholesale immigration. It naturally preferred Britons, and a strict test was imposed merely to exclude aliens. He saw no reason to change the views he expressed in 1907.

Mr. John Burns (President of the Local Government Board) said that since the last conference the objects of the resolution had been secured to a great extent. The Dominions in 1901 received 54 per cent. of British emigrants, and in 1910 68 per cent., while if the figures for the four months of 1911 were maintained this year, they would show 80 per cent. In the first four months of this year Australia and New Zealand had received 10,000 more immigrants than for the corresponding period of 1910. The increase justified the work of organisation in the Emigration Department. The type of emigrants had also improved.

The emigration in 1910, he added, represented 60 per cent. of the Kingdom's natural increase, and the lower death rate and lower infantile mortality had alone prevented the drain being serious. With the diminishing birth-rate it would be unsafe for Britain to exceed 300,000 emigrants yearly. The Dominions were entitled to the overflow, but they must not empty the tank. He advised the conference to let well alone, and trust the mother country. He wished to say that he had nothing but praise for the way the Dominions cared for the emigrant children passing through. His department had occasional complaints of the rigorous standards as regarded adults, but these lately had been more generous.

Mr. Batchelor, commenting on Mr. Burns's figures, said that any effort to reduce the 20 per cent. at present going outside the Empire would be appreciated.

Sir Joseph Ward: If we are receiving 80 per cent., that is as much as could be expected. He suggested altering the resolution to express approval of the policy pursued; otherwise it might appear that they were dissatisfied with what had been done.

Mr. Fisher said that he would not object.

Mr. Harcourt suggested eliminating the proposal for the appointment of Dominion representatives on the Emigrants' Information Committee. The department was not designed to promote emigration to any particular Dominion, its only object being to supply accurate information. If representation of the Dominions were introduced competition might arise. He undertook to keep the information up to date.

Mr. Fisher said that the education test was not applied to Europeans, although for five years a thousand newspapers had vilified them for doing so. There was greater knowledge of Australian affairs in England to-day than nine years ago, and he recognised the good work of the various departments in effecting the change.

Mr. Harcourt moved as an amendment that the present policy of encouraging emigration to go to the Dominions in preference to foreign countries be continued, and that full co-operation be accorded the Dominions desiring immigrants.

The amended resolution was adopted.

DESERTING HUSBANDS.

RECIPROCAL PROVISIONS APPROVED.

June 10.

At the Imperial Conference yesterday Sir Joseph Ward formally moved the following resolution:—

"That, in order to relieve both the wives and children, and the poor relief burdens of the United Kingdom and her dependencies, reciprocal provisions should be made throughout the constituent parts of the Empire with respect to destitute and deserted persons."

Dr. J. G. Findlay, Attorney-General for New Zealand, said that reciprocity was needed to enforce the decisions of one part of the Empire in another. Wife deserters from England at present could not be compelled to contribute in New Zealand to the support of their wives, except by an expensive process under the Fugitive Offenders Act; and a similar condition of affairs existed as between the Dominions. He hoped that legislation would shortly be enacted to enforce Australian maintenance orders in New Zealand.

Mr. Fisher said it would be beneficial if they had a federal law on the subject. He suggested that Sir Joseph Ward should omit the reference in the resolution to poor relief burdens in Britain, as they had nothing to do with it.

Sir Joseph Ward agreed to this suggestion.

Mr. John Burns said that although they might agree on the principle, it would be somewhat difficult to find a practicable application. His department considered that the enforcement of the suggestion would prove disproportionate to the benefits that would accrue. If the Dominions referred the question to their law officers, he would discuss with the British law officers the feasibleness of the remedy of making desertion a deportable offence.

Dr. Findlay thought the matter was simple. When an order was issued in New Zealand the man could be called upon in London to show cause.

Mr. Harcourt suggested that the resolution should read "That, in order to secure justice and protection for deserted wives and children, reciprocal legal provisions should be adopted."

Dr. Findlay acquiesced in the suggestion, and the motion in the amended form was agreed to.

The Conference adjourned till Monday.

MR. HUGHES'S OPINION.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

"It seems quite probable," said the Acting Prime Minister (Mr. Hughes) on Saturday, "the result of the conference will not be to remodel the practice and traditional policy which has governed the relations of Great Britain to the overseas dominions, yet it is a most excellent thing that the representatives for the various portions of the Empire to meet and bear each other's views. In some such way as this one may hope to attain greater uniformity and to avoid misunderstanding."

THE LAURIER PROPOSALS

DISINTEGRATION OF THE EMPIRE

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The proposal of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to endow the dominions with power to make treaties with foreign countries is regarded by Mr. Hughes as "completely opposed to what may be termed the Imperialistic ideal." Sir Wilfrid Laurier's proposals were a complete negation, for instance, of the Imperial Zollverein idea, and if they were adopted it might very readily happen—as, indeed, it would happen in the case of Canada—that some portion of the Empire would have better tariff terms with a particular country than another dominion had. On the face of it this would make for disintegration of the Empire. Of course, the question was of enormous scope, and with only the bare facts available in the cable messages, and in the absence of information as to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's arguments and reasons, final judgment must be suspended.

BERLIN SENSATION.

BERLIN, June 11.

A sensation was caused in the Friedrichstrasse, the most frequented street of the city, yesterday.

A well-dressed youth denounced the police for offering violence to a woman of the unfortunate class. Three police followed him into a tavern, and summoned him to come to the police station.

The youth drew a Browning revolver and killed the three policemen, and wounded a waiter in the lungs. Failing to make his escape, he returned to the bar and shot himself dead in the presence of a number of other police constables and terrified patrons of the tavern.

His identity is at present unknown.

MR. M'GOWEN IN BERLIN.

BERLIN, June 10.

Mr. M'Gowen, Premier of New South Wales, yesterday, inspected the vehicle and foot traffic tunnel, which is being constructed under the River Elbe, as a solution of a problem which presents similar features to that in regard to Sydney and North Sydney.

WORLD'S WALKING CHAMPIONSHIP.

VANCOUVER, June 11.

George Goulding, the Canadian, defeated Larner, the English athlete, in a contest for the world's mile walking championship. The time was 6m 32s.

G. H. Goulding, the conqueror of G. E. Larner, the English record holder for the mile walk, is a famous Canadian walker, who holds the world's amateur record, his figures being 6m 25 1-5s, though another authority gives them as 6m 25 4-5s. The record walk was accomplished at Winnipeg on July 17, 1909. Larner's English record is 6m 26s. In the last Olympic games, held in 1908, Larner defeated Goulding easily in the 3500 metres walk.

PRINCE OF WALES.

GARTER INVESTITURE.

A STRIKING PAGEANT.

LONDON, June 11.

The ceremony of the investiture of the Prince of Wales with the Order of the Garter took place at Windsor Castle yesterday.

The Knights and Officers of the Order assembled in the Waterloo Chamber, whence they were summoned to the Throne Room, where King George and Queen Mary King Manoel, the Duke of Connaught and Prince Arthur of Connaught, and Prince Christian were seated at the head of the table.

The scene was one of great beauty and interest.

The Duke of Connaught and Prince Arthur of Connaught led in the Prince of Wales and King George buckled on the Garter. The Prelate of the Order then pronounced an admonition, after which the King invested the Prince with the insignia of the Order, and gave the accolade.

The Knights present congratulated the Prince, who bore himself throughout the trying ordeal with dignity.

A procession to St. George's Chapel followed. The Duke of Argyll, Governor and Constable of Windsor Castle, and Viscount Esher, Deputy Governor, led the Military Knights of Windsor, twenty-three Knight Companions, Heralds and Officers of the Household, who moved in stately fashion between a double line of Life Guards and Coldstream Guards.

The Royal Knights accompanied the Prince. Four train-bearers in scarlet held the robes of the King and Queen, who walked hand in hand. Queen Mary wore the insignia presented to her by the Marys of the Empire.

The Castle was crowded with spectators, who witnessed a pageant, of which the like has not been seen since the time of Charles II.

NATIONAL INSURANCE.

THE CHANCELLOR AT BIRMINGHAM.

"MORE TO THE PAWNBROKER."

LONDON, June 9.

There are over 2000 applications for tickets for Mr. Lloyd-George's Birmingham meeting in connection with the National Insurance Bill.

June 11.

There were 4000 persons present in the Birmingham Town Hall last night when Mr. Lloyd-George delivered his address on the National Insurance Bill.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer was accorded a great reception. His voice proved to be but little affected after a speech lasting an hour and a half.

He explained the provisions of the National Insurance Bill, and stated that workmen at present paid more to the pawnbroker than the fourpence required for insurance under the bill.

He added that the benefits now being offered were only a beginning—the rest would accrue without additional charge.

"The first essential is clear," he said, "Britain has foul habitations in her great cities, and I would treat a man receiving rent or ground rent from an insanitary dwelling as a receiver of stolen property."

CHEAP CABLE RATES.

LONDON, June 9.

Mr. Fisher (Prime Minister of Australia) is inquiring into the feasibility of the suggestion of Mr. Thomas (Australian Postmaster-General), that a shilling cable rate should be charged between Australia and Montreal, and that the messages should be mailed thence to Great Britain.

The Postmaster-General, Mr. Josiah Thomas, said yesterday that Mr. Fisher was taking action following upon a message sent by Mr. Thomas to the Prime Minister, asking him to bring the matter before the Pacific Cable Board.

"A cablegram from Australia to England to-day costs 3s a word, and our Government regards that as practically an impossible rate for social purposes, leaving the matter of press and business messages out of consideration. We have been trying to make arrangements to cheapen the rate. Two sections of the cable, from here to Vancouver, and then overland to the Atlantic seaboard, are under the triple control of the Australian, Canadian, and British Governments, but the section over the Atlantic to England is privately owned, and that privately controlled section is our trouble. We are seeking to have it nationalised, but the influences against us are strong, and, although we believe that ultimately the Atlantic cable will be nationalised, till it is we want to do the best we can so as to bring the cable more within the reach of people generally. Hence our present scheme.

"The proposal to be submitted to the Pacific Cable board is to charge 1s a word from Australia to the Atlantic seaboard, and carry the messages by mail across the Atlantic. This will mean that for 1s a word a message can be sent and a reply received in Australia in eight days, which will be a big improvement on the impost to-day. Take a message with a few words: when the address is paid for it really works out at 8s or 9s a word for the actual message. I may say that a proposal to nationalise the Atlantic cable will be brought before the Imperial Conference at the suggestion of Australia."

MEXICO AND CHINA.

THE TORREON MASSACRE.

INDEMNITY AND APOLOGY DEMANDED.

CHINESE WARSHIP DESPATCHED.

WASHINGTON, June 10.

The Chinese Government is demanding an indemnity of 12,000,000 pesos (about £1,200,000) from Mexico in consequence of the recent slaughter of 300 Chinese subjects at Torreon.

China also demands an apology, and a warship is now en route to Mexican waters.

It appears that the Federals abandoned Torreon without giving notice, and the ruffianly element broke loose and started the massacre, which was taken up by the incoming rebels.

Heads of the murdered Chinese were rolled along the streets, and their bodies were tied to the tails of horses.

Twenty-five Chinese were murdered in the Chinese bank alone.

Only intervention on the part of foreigners stayed the slaughter.

Lord Plunkett, who presided, stated that persons with experience of the oversea peoples realised that sentiment was a tremendous factor in the growth of the Imperial ideal and the maintenance of a united Empire.

Mrs. Rollett (New Zealand) said that the league was doing good work in assisting young Englishmen to fit themselves for the life of a farmer. She pleaded for a more systematic method of welcoming immigrants.

An English delegate suggested the interchange of teachers.

Watts or Morgan, should participate in any further negotiations in regard to the Ely Pit dispute.

By a ballot the Amalgamated Society of Engineers decided to make a levy of 6d per head in support of the strikers in South Wales. The levy will raise £2600 for the strike fund.

M. Marra was burned and crushed in the wreckage.

MOROCCAN AFFAIRS.

THE FRENCH ENTER MEKINEZ.

MULAI-EL-ZIN A PRISONER.

MADRID, June 10.

It is officially announced that the French force has entered Mekinez after severe fighting, in which heavy losses were sustained on both sides.

Mulai-el-Zin, who was recently proclaimed Sultan by the revolting tribesmen, has been taken prisoner.

Mulai-el-Zin has been for a considerable time a state prisoner prior to his being proclaimed Sultan by the revolutionaries. He is 25 years of age, has the reputation of not being fanatical, and is said to like Europeans. In a letter to a friend just after his proclamation he stated that he accepted the throne only because Mekinez would otherwise have been sacked. He accuses Mulai Hafid of selling his country to the French. On May 26 it was reported that Mulai-el-Zin was mortally wounded in the stomach during a fight with the hSereefian troops, and it was in consequence of his being placed hors de combat the Sherara tribe submitted.

INTERNATIONAL QUESTION.

SPAIN COMPLICATES MATTERS.

MADRID, June 9.

Spanish troops, hitherto aboard ship in the port of Larache, Morocco, have now occupied the town owing to a harmless Moorish raid at Alcasar.

Every Spanish advance in Morocco under the impulsion of the military party in Spain increases the anxiety of France, and is tending to complicate the international situation and to enable Germany to interpose demands.

THE POLO CUP.

WON BY UNITED STATES.

A BRILLIANT GAME.

NEW YORK, June 10.

The second test polo match between teams representing Great Britain, and the United States for the America Cup resulted as follows:—

United States, 4½ goals.
Great Britain, 3½ goals.

The British team was once on even terms with its opponents during the middle game.

It is generally maintained that the British team was outridden. The match was full of brilliant play, and the 25,000 spectators were enthusiastic in their demonstrations of approval. The strength of the British players lay in their mallet work, and their goal defence was especially splendid.

The Americans lost a goal and a half by fouls, and the British lost half a goal through Edwardes crossing. Whitney and Edwardes made all the goals in the game.

The American critics concede that the British defeat was due to lack of good mounts. Lloyd played through six periods with only two ponies. On the other hand, the American mounts were the best procurable.

UNITED STATES POLITICS.

WASHINGTON, June 10.

In the House of Representatives last night Mr. Warburton (Republican) attacked the Wool Tariff Revision Bill. He declared that the Democrats were afraid to reduce the tariff further, lest the industry should be prostrated, and the Democrats should suffer at the next election.

Mr. A. J. Peters, of Massachusetts, defended the Democratic programme on the ground that the wool tariffs were unlowerable, because of revenue exigencies.

WASHINGTON, June 11.

The debate on the Wool Tariff Revision Bill was continued in the House of Representatives yesterday.

Mr. D. R. Francis (Ohio) favoured a lower duty on manufactured woollens. He contended that the lowering of the duty on raw wool would wipe out the United States sheep industry.

BELFAST PRESBYTERIANS INDIGNANT.

PICTURESQUE CRONULLA.

OPENED BY TRAMWAY.

ANOTHER METROPOLITAN SUBURB.

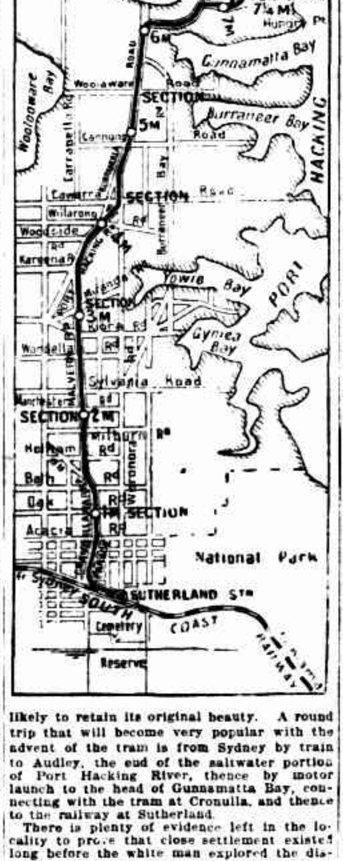
To-day the new tram line from Sutherland to Cronulla will be opened for traffic, although the official ceremony will not take place till next Saturday week.

This extension (writes Mr. Frank Cridland) adds another large suburb to the city of Sydney, and that one of the beauty spots of New South Wales. Hitherto Cronulla and Port Hacking have only been accessible to those who owned their own vehicles, or were prepared to put up with an uncomfortable coach ride, with the possibility on holidays and week-ends of having to return to Sutherland station on foot. At present, although Cronulla, and almost all the Port Hacking frontages are closely built on, the district is practically a week-end resort only, owing to the difficulty of direct communication.

Anyone who compares the place to-day with only five years ago is astonished at the change that has taken place. Cronulla has developed into a town. The almost unbroken green wooded foreshores that flanked the inner bays five years since are now dotted with substantial boat-houses, green lawns, and the red roofs of dwellings, ranging from the humble week-end camp to the pretentious stone villa, while fine residences are being erected on the hills overlooking Cronulla and the port.

Small wonder the district has become such a popular resort. Cronulla boasts one of the longest and finest beaches in the State, and one of the safest for surf bathing. Port Hacking itself, particularly in its lower reaches, is perhaps the prettiest inlet on the coast. Steep green shores meet the water everywhere, sandy beaches and deep water alternating, with no mangrove or muddy swamps to mar the effect. One particular charm in the main reach from Lillipilli Point to the heads is the ever changing view as the tides run in and out. High tide shows an unbroken expanse of apparently deep water from shore to shore. As the tide recedes white reefs of rippled sand show their surfaces all over the bay, making dazzling little white capes and islands on a sunny day.

The southern shore of the port is the boundary line of the great National Park, so that one side at least of Port Hacking is always likely to retain its original beauty. A round trip that will become very popular with the advent of the tram is from Sydney by train to Audley, the end of the saltwater portion of Port Hacking River, thence by motor launch to the head of Gunnamatta Bay, connecting with the tram at Cronulla, and thence to the railway at Sutherland.



There is plenty of evidence left in the locality to prove that close settlement existed long before the white man explored the district. The names given to the various points and bays bear witness, but if stronger proof is wanted a trip to, say, Burraneer Point, dividing Gunnamatta and Burraneer Bays, will furnish ample evidence. Under overhanging rocks can be seen great mounds of shells mixed with the remains of camp fires that evidently burnt for years till the debris nearly reaches the roofs. I have several skulls dug out from these kitchen middens, as I believe they are termed. Stone axes and complete skeletons have also been unearthed, but the most interesting proofs of former occupation are the carvings on the flat rocks. In one place the outline of a whale 40 feet in length is clearly defined, sharks and stingray portrayed life size, shark with bream inside, cut into the rock. The outlines of fish are perfect. Rough caricatures of human beings also remain carved on the rocks. Unfortunately this bluff point, which has the most commanding view of the bay proper, also the Heads, ocean, and National Park, is all now privately owned, and the records are gradually disappearing. The clear shallow waters of the port must have made an ideal fishing ground for the blacks, where they could use their spears to advantage, whilst the size of the oysters, judging by the shells to be seen on the southern shore, dwarfs anything that can now be found.

The driving road from Sydney through St. George district and across St. George's River by the Tom Ugly's punt is an enjoyable trip, and up till recently it was a favourite trying-out track with the owners of fast trotting horses. Regular week-enders vied with each other in possessing the horse that could throw the journey behind in fastest time. The possessor of a fast trotter or well-matched pair of sociable horses held pride of place on the road, and proved their mettle in a dash for first position on the punt, traffic constables being scarce in the district. But a change has come o'er the scene during the last two or three years owing to the popular use of motor cars. The poorest car passes the fast trotter on the road in the same manner as the trotting horse distances the lumbering market gardener. Now some of the keenest doyens of the trotting days have purchased cars, and can be heard anathematising their old friend the horse when he blocks their impetuous way. Hitherto the great drawback to the road trip has been the blocks at Tom Ugly's punt. This drawback is now being removed by the addition of an extra punt. This, taken in conjunction with the tram extension, will give people of all means an opportunity of visiting the locality or settling in the district, with a reasonable communication with the city.

INVALIDED TO SYDNEY.

A SOUTH SOLITARY LIGHTHOUSE-KEEPER.

One of the North Coast Company's steamers, which arrived last night from the north, called in at South Solitary, and brought from the lighthouse there Mr. John Fry, one of the keepers, who had met with an accident by falling. The injured man, who had been there for about two years, was formerly connected with the navy at Garden Island. The Rev. J. S. Shearston, of the Royal Naval House, having heard of the man's mishap, arranged for the Civil Ambulance to meet the vessel on arrival and convey him to the Sydney Hospital.

SUNDAY ENTERTAINMENTS.

There were five picture shows open last evening, and in each case there was a crowded attendance. The programmes for the most part comprised items of scenic character, some splendid views of Sydney being given. A number of industrial subjects were also submitted.

BONDI SKATING RINK GUTTED.

EARLY MORNING BLAZE.

WOODEN WALLS FAIRLY MELT AWAY.

The large wooden building in Bondi-road, Bondi, known as the Bondi Skating Rink, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning.

The outbreak originated in the south-western corner of the rink, and was first discovered by the caretaker and his wife, who live on the premises. The fire brigade received the call at about 4.30, and a few minutes after the alarm had been given the Waverley, Woollahra, Paddington, and Randwick brigades were galloping swiftly in the direction of the fire.

Meanwhile the caretaker of the building, which forms part of a little cluster of squat weatherboard structures joined together, had, with the assistance of his wife, got out the fire hose. Attaching it to the hydrant, he turned it on full, but was surprised at the poorness of the pressure. The resulting stream he played on the blaze, but without making any appreciable effect on the flames, which continued to leap skywards and lick up the walls of the building with wonderful rapidity. A strong breeze fanned the flames to fury. Before their onslaught the light dry wooden walls of the building vanished like magic, and when the brigades arrived the whole building was wrapped in a seething sheet of roaring flames, which could be seen for miles around, while the roar of the flames and the crackling of the burnt timbers could be heard above the beat of the surf.

In view of the poor water supply three hydrants were soon at work, but despite the firemen's efforts the fire increased in strength till suddenly with a crash the whole roof of the building fell in, sending showers of sparks skywards.

Soon the walls were demolished, and in a remarkably short space of time after the outbreak was first discovered the whole building was completely gutted, the place where the structure had formerly stood being marked by a blackened, smoking, and hissing pile of charred timbers and bent and twisted ironwork.

The rink was owned by the Waverley Council, and leased to the Casinos, Limited. The refreshment rooms next door to the rink, which were also damaged by the fire, were locked up at 10.15 on Saturday night, but the rink itself was not locked up till shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning, as certain attention had to be given to the floor after the night's skating. The cause of the fire is a mystery. The rink itself was insured in the Aachen and Munich Company by the Waverley Council for £1000, while the contents of the building were also insured by the Casinos, Limited, in the same company for £600. The total damage is estimated at £2000.

SHIPPING ADVENTURES.

THE MAHENO'S VOYAGE.

TERRIFIC GALES AND HIGH SEAS.

The Union Steamship Company's steamer Maheno, from Auckland, entered the Heads at 7 a.m. on Saturday.

The vessel left Auckland at 9.56 p.m. on Monday. After passing the Three Kings, hard westerly winds were encountered until Friday, when their direction changed to north-west, and then again to the south-west. Eventually the blow, sometimes attaining a velocity of 80 miles, veered round to the west.

Enormous head seas accompanied the gale, and the Maheno was put to a severe test. She was in fairly light trim, and thus suffered some slight damage. Several ventilators were broken and torn down, and some deck gear was swept away. The long delay in her arrival at Sydney (about 24 hours) can readily be understood, when at times the steamer was forced to reduce her running speed to about six knots.

LEURA'S ROUGH PASSAGE.

MELBOURNE, Saturday.

The steamer Leura, which arrived this morning from Newcastle, experienced the full effects of the recent storm.

After passing Wilson's Promontory the vessel ran into a south-westerly gale, and the deck fittings were damaged by immense seas. Two lifeboats were stove in, and the after deck house was wrecked, and several portholes smashed.

A considerable amount of water found its way into the saloon, and damaged the piano. It took the Leura 40 hours to run from Wilson's Promontory to the Heads, a distance of 100 miles.

A STORY FROM FIJI.

ALLEGED SLAVERY.

LABOUR COUNCIL'S HELP ASKED.

The secretary of the Labour Council of New South Wales has received a letter from a resident of Fiji, who wishes to enlist the sympathy of the Labour Council in an agitation against what he terms "the enslavement of the natives in Fiji." The gentleman describes himself as one who is fighting "a single-handed battle against tyranny and oppression." He refers to the fact that the matter was before the Labour Council previously, and the publicity then given to it caused the Governor to promise that nothing should occur in future that would justify even a suggestion of so-called forced labour. But he maintains that this pledge has not been carried out.

The road in respect of which complaint was formerly made runs from Suva through Navua along the coast to Madroga and other towns, being the only public thoroughfare between these places. When the former protest was raised the work on the Suva-Navua section was paid for by the Government. The remaining portion of the road, right round the island, however, it is declared in the letter, the natives have been forced to keep in order without payment of any kind. The natives held a meeting, at which 20 towns were represented, and presented a petition to the Governor. They were ordered to go on with the work, but declined to do so pending the Governor's reply. It is alleged, however, that intimidation was used, and that a section of the natives yielded, and "continued their tribute of slave labour."

All the inhabitants of four towns which held out were then prosecuted, and those unable or unwilling to pay fines were imprisoned with hard labour.

Whilst this was going on, the correspondent declares, the Governor and the Native Department remained silent and inactive. A memorial has been sent to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, drawing attention to the existence of such a system of slavery under the British flag.

MR. O'MALLEY'S OPINION.

QUOTES GENERAL GRANT.

LORD DUDLEY SHOULD RENT A COTTAGE.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

If the Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. O'Malley) had his way, the Governor-General would see no more of Australia than the part surrounding Melbourne—unless he paid his way.

While touching on the question of Sydney Government House on Saturday, Mr. O'Malley said he was of opinion that while Melbourne was the seat of government the Governor-General's residence should be Government House, Melbourne, the establishment lent by the State of Victoria to the Commonwealth. If the Governor-General desired to visit Sydney, Adelaide, or elsewhere, he should do just the same as the President of the United States did when he lived away from Washington—secure apartments at an hotel or elsewhere. He remembered President Grant coming to Ocean Grove at one time while he was in office and renting a cottage for himself like an ordinary American citizen. The Governor-General of Australia should do the same thing if he was to live away from the seat of government, concluded Mr. O'Malley.

TROUBLE AHEAD.

FUTURE OF THE LABOUR PARTY.

STATE MEMBERS TO BE DEALT WITH.

THE REFERENDUM SPLIT.

The flutter in the political Labour dovecote—if such a gentle simile may be used in respect of the modern caucus party—may result in nothing but a flutter for the present; but it has served to bring out one weighty fact that may change the whole course of State politics, namely, that before another State election is held the dissident State members will either have to fall into line with the pro-referendum majority or be cast into outer darkness.

There is no doubt about the determination of the advocates of the referendum proposals. They regard the proposal as an essential of the Labour "movement," and those in favour of them constitute a majority of the P.L.L. conference.

In the interests of State solidarity, they may take no immediate action, although many of the leagues are in a state of ferment, and are crying out for the blood of all whom they regard as Labour heretics. But if the ferment is appeased for the present it will break out with redoubled violence when the referendum issues are again raised, and it will then tolerate no form of opposition or passivity.

Even before the next State elections a special conference may seal the fate of the majority of the State party, but that is not probable. It is not probable only because a day of more effective retribution is not far off. Failing a conference, the leagues will be called upon to eliminate from selection all the anti-referendum members. Such action may consolidate the caucus party, but it is sure to produce a complication in State politics—to bring about a readjustment or remodelling of parties that a year ago seemed beyond the range of possibility.

In the meantime Mr. Page—who is only one among a majority of the State Parliamentary party, may breathe freely. There were about 70 financial members of the Botany Labour League present on Thursday night when the vote was cast against Mr. Page. The league has three divisions—North Botany, South Botany, and St. Peters. The South Botany branch is not very active; in fact, it has had difficulty in getting a meeting of its members, so that the line of fire was chiefly directed from North Botany, with assistance from St. Peters.

MR. PAGE'S SEAT.

For some time Mr. Page has not been in the good graces of the North Botany branch of the league, and the position was summed up on Saturday by Mr. Munger, who is one of the Labour members in the local municipal council and an active worker in the local branch of the league. Mr. Munger stated that all the branches were represented at Thursday night's meeting, and that the majority of votes cast against Mr. Page was 10. He added: "It is not so much his attitude on the referendum that our league finds fault with Mr. Page about as his determination to ride the high horse and his want of tact in dealing with public questions. For instance, in the matter of the Zetland tram he went dead against the wishes of the league and the people generally. Then, in respect of the Rosebery Park Racecourse, he sided with the proprietary instead of doing what the majority of the North Botany Council wanted him to do. There are a number of grievances which the league has against him, and we think if he is not with the league then he is against the party, and it is time we had a change. Personally, I believe it would have been better to have let him alone during the remainder of the life of the present Parliament, and simply selected somebody else at the next election. No doubt, that is what the league will do. There are a good many of the league who think the same as I do, otherwise the majority against Mr. Page on Thursday would have been larger than 10."

Despite the strong opposition from the North Botany section of the league, Mr. Page has a host of friends in the Botany electorate who regard with favour his independence of speech and action, and his determination not to be the servile follower of any section of the local Labour party. Botany is purely a working man's district, and not a few speak of the vote of the league on Thursday night as the decision of the Three Tailors of Tooley-street. It is not improbable that a public meeting of the residents will be called, at which a resolution similar to that passed a week previous by the Alexandria Labour League in the case of Mr. Dacey will be submitted.

MR. DACEY SCORES.

The Alexandria league, like the Botany and many other leagues, passed a vote of censure on all the members of the New South Wales Labour party who refused to take part in the referendum campaign. Then Alexandria, like Botany, started to deal with its own member, and called a special meeting a week ago to decide what action should be taken regarding Mr. Dacey, who in turn defended his actions in connection with the referendum, and warned the Labour leagues that they were going too far. He said he had always been an ardent supporter of Labour, and while he remained so he did not want any mercy from the league. This had the desired effect, for the following resolution was then carried by a large majority:—"That this league has the greatest confidence in Mr. Dacey as their member in the Parliament of New South Wales, and hereby expresses its highest appreciation of the whole of his Parliamentary career."

It is a similar motion to this that the friends of Mr. Page will submit to the residents of Botany should a public meeting take place, and they are confident of carrying it without any difficulty.

Apart from the local aspect of the crisis, there is the more important question of the attitude of the executive of the P.L.L. This powerful body had the question before it on Friday night, and as Mr. Page had told the league on Thursday night that he intended to be bound by the executive of the P.L.L. and no one else, the interest at once centred in the decision of the executive.

The matter was carefully considered; most of the leaders of the Labour movement were present. The executive decided to take no action at present, pending the calling of a special conference (if one is called) to deal with the action of the majority of the New South Wales Labour party in refusing to support the referendum. The executive regarded Mr. Page is but one of the rank and file. He had been censured by the local league just as others had been, and there the matter ought to end until the whole question was thrashed out by the special conference, if one should be held.

A prominent member of the executive and a recognised leader in the movement said on Saturday:—"If anybody is to blame in this matter it is the leaders, Messrs. M'Gowen and Holman. We can't single out Mr. Page and make a martyr of him because he followed his leader. If a special conference is held then Mr. Page's action would be under review in the same manner as that of every other State member who refused duty at the referendum."

THE CONFERENCE.

Then comes the question, will a special conference take place? It is doubtful. Under the rules the secretary has power to call a conference with the approval of the executive when demanded to do so by 20 or more State electoral leagues. At the present time Mr. Grant has more than 20 requisitions in hand, but the most of them are from branches of the leagues. For instance, North Botany is a branch of the Botany Electoral Labour League. North Botany sends in a requisition for a special conference, but because the other branches of the Botany league have not followed suit then it cannot be said that the Botany Electoral Labour League has sent in a requisition for a special conference. Numerous branches have in this way forwarded the necessary requisition, especially from the country districts, but these documents are of no avail. There must be requisitions from 20 distinct electoral Labour leagues, before the conference to deal with the action of the New South Wales Labour party can take place.

Is it necessary to hold this conference, and will it take place? Many of the leaders think "No." They say that it will not be necessary, because the Federal Labour party without doubt will again submit the same questions to the people at the next Federal elections. They have promised to do so, and this will put the State Labour party once more on its trial. It will either have to fall into line and openly support the Federal Labour party, or take the consequences of not being selected by the leagues for the State elections, which follow a few months later.

VOLUNTARY SURRENDER.

MR. HOLMAN'S PROPOSALS.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The Acting Premier of New South Wales has written to Mr. Watt expressing gratification at the readiness evinced by the Victorian Government to deal in a practical way with the proposals which he made confidentially immediately after the substantial result of the referendum was taken on April 26 was known for the States surrendering to the Commonwealth Parliament certain of their industrial and other legislative power.

STORMY COAST.

BARQUE PUTS BACK.

GRACCHUS IN A GALE.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

A continuance of strong south-westerly winds and heavy seas was reported along the coast yesterday, but while the conditions were not so coarse as previously, they were still exceptionally trying, and caused considerable detention to shipping. Storm-beaten vessels continued to arrive at intervals, some of them showing unmistakable traces of rough usage.

The barque C.J.S., which left early in the week for Mauritius, was compelled to return to Queenscliff on Friday night. It is considered imperative that she must visit Hobson's Bay to refit. Most of the upper rigging was severely strained during the storm on Wednesday and Thursday, and requires renewing. The main lower topsail yard is sprung, and the decks are leaking. Throughout the vessel's severe treatment only five members of the crew were available for duty. The navigation of the barque depended upon the second officer and apprentices. Captain Legge had a fall on deck, which incapacitated him; while the chief officer was confined to his berth through illness. To add to the crew's trouble, the cargo shifted. Iron stanchions were bent and the deck fittings were washed away.

"Since passing Cape Everard we have shipped hundreds of tons of water," remarked Captain Wills, who brought the Currie liner Gracchus down from Newcastle. "Worse weather," he added, "I have never known, neither do I remember a lower barometer, which fell to 29.6 degrees. Of the continuous fierce squalls which raged, the one that struck the Gracchus at 6 o'clock this morning was of surpassing fury. It lasted an hour and a half, being accompanied by blinding rain-squalls and seas of immense proportions. Big volumes of water breaking on board did much damage about the decks, the most serious of which was the breaking of the bridge ladder. The Gracchus arrived at Williamstown to-day 30 hours late.

Several weatherbound vessels were reported to be anchored at the Heads to-day. Among them was the Narrung, of the P. and O. branch service line, which left Williamstown at an early hour of the morning for London, via Adelaide and the Cape. Had she ventured outside the Narrung would have had to steam in the teeth of the gale, and probably have made little headway at a heavy expenditure of fuel. She was still at anchor this evening. The coastal liners Aramac and Kapunda, both of which left the wharf late last night, also anchored inside the Heads for some time, but continued their passages this forenoon to Sydney and Adelaide respectively.

DR. MAWSON'S EXPEDITION.

A CITIZENS' MEETING.

To-morrow afternoon in the Town Hall a citizens' meeting to consider the general question of Dr. Mawson's Antarctic expedition will be held. The speakers will include the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir William Cullen, and reference will be made to the prospects of obtaining information of high scientific interest and economic value to Australia as the result of the further exploration of the ice-bound continent. The Antarctic committee of the Australasian Association for the Advancement of Science is anxious that the position of New South Wales should be an honourable one as regards the efforts put forth by Australasia in support of this national expedition. Professor David, a member of the Shackleton expedition, will deliver a lecture in the Town Hall on June 30 in aid of the fund.

To-morrow afternoon's meeting is expected to be a thoroughly representative one, the keen interest being taken in the expedition by those identified with scientific research being a guarantee that something more than a mere spirit of adventure and a desire to achieve "furthest south" honours is the mainspring of the present movement. The secret of Australian meteorology is believed to lie in Antarctica, which gives the South Pole a special interest to the people of the Commonwealth.

ORONTES-THELMA COLLISION.

CAPTAIN CENSURED.

NOTICE OF APPEAL GIVEN.

HOBART, Saturday.

The decision of the Court, consisting of the police magistrate (Mr. W. O. Wise) and Captains W. H. M'Arthur and J. Davis, nautical assessors, which inquired into the Orontes-Thelma collision on the Derwent on February 18, whereby Mr. W. B. Townley, owner of the yacht, was drowned, was given on Friday.

The Court was of the opinion that a proper lookout was not kept on the Orontes prior to the collision. The Court was formed by the Governor-in-Council's minute of February 21, and at that date Captain Healey was in Melbourne, on the eve of sailing for England. It was therefore impossible to serve him with a copy of the harbourmaster's report, as required by the Marine Boards Act. Captain Healey was permitted by the Government, at the urgent request of the company, to continue on his voyage, instead of returning to Hobart to attend the inquiry. On Captain Healey's return to Tasmania a copy of the harbourmaster's report was furnished to him on the 6th inst., and notice was given to him to produce his certificate to the Court. On resuming the inquiry on the 7th inst. Captain Healey's counsel stated that another copy of the report had not been furnished before the commencement of the investigation, in accordance with the Act. He had advised Captain Healey not to produce his certificate. The Court under the circumstances was unable to deal with Captain Healey's certificate, but censured him for not taking proper steps to avert the collision, which ended with loss of life. They ordered Captain Healey to pay the costs of the inquiry, amounting to £49.

Notice of appeal was given.

PROTECTING CHILDREN.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

At an inquiry yesterday into the circumstances of the death of an infant, who was scalded through a tea kettle overturning, the coroner, Dr. Cole, said:—"Mr. Stephen Murphy, the Sydney City Coroner, has written to me drawing my attention to the frequency of deaths among children in that city from scalds and burns, and asking for my view of the law. My opinion is that if parents and guardians who are in very special relation to children show negligence, whereby children can injure themselves to the extent of losing their lives, then the person having the supervision of the children at the time is liable to presentment for manslaughter. In this particular case, however, I am of opinion that the occurrence was purely accidental."

SPLIT IN THE CAMP.

ILLAWARRA MINERS.

PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY RESIGN.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

A surprise for the delegates at a special meeting of the Illawarra Colliery Employees' Association at Wollongong on Saturday was the handing in of the joint resignations of the president (Mr. F. Dunleavy) and the general secretary (Mr. T. R. Morgan).

The resignation of Mr. Dunleavy was accepted, and Mr. S. Bird appointed acting president until the position is permanently filled. Mr. Morgan will terminate his connection with the association at the next quarterly meeting, to be held about July 13. As Mr. Dunleavy's resignation takes effect immediately it was unanimously decided to place on record an appreciation of the services he had rendered as president. Mr. J. M'Guire was nominated as temporary representative on the Southern Collieries, etc., Wages Board in place of Mr. Dunleavy. It was decided that nominations for the positions of president, general secretary, and wages board representative be called for, and if required a ballot be taken within three weeks.

"A regular bolt from the blue," was the remark passed by several delegates at the conclusion of the meeting. "Everything seemed to be going so smoothly," they continued, "and now we are faced with one of the most difficult problems that has come across our path for many years." "The whole thing has knocked us quite flat," said one delegate, "and we tried all we knew to induce Mr. Morgan to reconsider his decision, but without avail." It appears, continued the delegate, that pin pricks behind the scenes have been altogether uncalled for, so much so that even a man of Mr. Morgan's stolid temperament found it impossible of late to put up with them. As to Mr. Dunleavy, it was understood he was leaving the association with the object of bettering his position elsewhere.

The retired general secretary has been an officer of the Illawarra Miners' Union in local lodges and district positions for over 21 years. He has occupied the position of district secretary for five years, and eight years as district treasurer, and had considerable experience in Industrial Court work. During the recent strike the general secretary was on the unpopular side in advocating a settlement of the dispute by conciliatory methods in preference to strikes. Mr. Morgan stuck to his guns in a manner that earned the admiration of many of those who were originally against him, as he had the satisfaction of coming out victorious in the end.

On being approached regarding the situation, Mr. Morgan stated that there so many disturbing factors at work in the ranks of the association that he had found of late that the position of general secretary was a most unhappy one. He thought a little hard work would perhaps relieve the mental strain, and improve him physically. "On the South Coast," was Mr. Morgan's concluding remark, "there are a considerable number of men of sterling quality, who give their fullest confidence to the man they elect; but, unfortunately, there are many others who might be termed chronic fault-finders, whose chief mission in life seems to be to irritate and annoy the holder of the position I am about to vacate."

TRADES AND LABOUR.

MELBA GRAND OPERA COMPANY.

Negotiations between Messrs. J. C. Williamson, Ltd., and the Professional Musicians' Union in regard to the Melba Grand Opera Company are practically at a standstill. Simultaneous general meetings are to be held throughout the Commonwealth next week to discuss the position, when it is thought probable that the general secretary will receive instructions to take the matter to the Arbitration Court.

The Musicians' Union has agreements and awards throughout Australia. The Western Australian Arbitration Court has just recently given its award, and there are various industrial agreements and also an award in New South Wales. In Victoria the musicians have applied for a wages board, and in Queensland the Government has appointed a wages board, with two representatives of the employers and two of the employees. A conference has been held between the various theatrical managers and the Adelaide district branch, whereat the terms asked for by the Federal union were practically all agreed to. In the various States the branches are making application for higher rates than those set out by the Federal body.

METAL CEILING FIXERS.

AGREEMENT WITH EMPLOYERS.

An agreement has been arranged between the Metal Ceiling Fixers Union and the employers, the Manufacturers and Distributors of Metal Ceiling Materials, which is to apply to the County of Cumberland and Northumberland. A majority of the employers are parties to the agreement, but as some are standing out, a wages board is to be sought in order to have the agreement made an award binding on all employers in the industry. The principal provisions of the agreement are:—

Forty-eight hours are to constitute a week's work, and the ordinary working hours are to be from 7.30 till 5 p.m. (with three-quarters of an hour for midday meal), and from 7.30 to 11.45 a.m. on Saturdays. The working day, however, may, by agreement, commence any time between 6 and 8 a.m. Overtime is to be paid at the rate of time and a quarter for the first two hours, time and a half thereafter till 12 o'clock, and after midnight or on Sundays double rates.

The minimum rate of pay for first-grade men, defined as men who at the present time are receiving not less than 1s 3d per hour, is 1s 3d per hour. For second-grade men, defined as those in receipt of 9d per hour or over, up to 1s 2d per hour, is to be 1s per hour. A first-grade man in charge of a job where there are not less than four men receiving 1s 3d per hour, is to receive 1s 4½d per hour. It is provided that those first-grade men receiving more than 1s 3d, and those second-grade men receiving more than 1s, are not to have their wages reduced by reason of the agreement.

Apprentices are to be apprenticed for five years, and are to receive:—1st year, 15s; second, 20s; third, 25s; fourth, 32s 6d; and fifth, 40s.

Fares incurred by the employee in travelling to his work are to be paid by the employer; and time occupied in travelling to a job after the first 2d section from the city is to be reckoned as time worked. Employees sent to the country are to be made an allowance of 2s 6d per day extra, including Sundays. A similar allowance to be made for days occupied in travelling, and time spent in travelling is to be reckoned as time worked. The number of apprentices to journeymen is not regulated. Piecework is prohibited. Apprentices are to be supplied with the first set of tools, but thereafter workmen are to provide tools and keep them in order. The agreement is for a period of three years.

CHINESE FURNITURE FACTORIES.

The conditions under which Chinese furniture makers work have long been objected to by the United Furniture Trades Society; and Mr. E. W. Cutler secretary, cordially approves of the remarks of Dr. Ashburton Thompson, published in Friday's "Herald," on the manner in which some Chinese live and work. The books of the Chinese factories had to be kept in English, Mr. Cutler said, but they were not accessible to union officials. He alleged that the award is not being complied with.

When the new inspectors under the industrial laws are appointed, the union hopes that it will secure an officer who will have power to go into these factories and look into the books.

SHORTAGE OF LABOUR COMMISSION.

The Labour Council has been notified that the sittings of the Royal Commission on the shortage of labour will commence on Wednesday. Mr. E. J. Kavanagh, secretary of the Labour Council, has received instructions from the president, subject to the verification of the executive on Tuesday night, and the council on Thursday, to represent the Labour Council at the commission for the purpose of submitting evidence.

SUGAR WORKERS.

The secretary of the Labour Council of New South Wales has received a communication from Bundaberg announcing that industrial trouble is certain within a few weeks. The employees have issued an ultimatum to their employers, and, it is alleged, that the Sydney agents for the firm are engaging men in Sydney to take the places of the dissatisfied workers.

COLD STORAGE AND RURAL WORKERS.

As the result of an appeal for advice by employees in connection with butter factories, as to whether they should join the Cold Storage Employees' Union, the Labour Union or the Rural Workers' Union, the Labour Council recently decided on a line of demarcation between the organising spheres of the two organisations, the workers inside butter factories to be organised by the Cold Storage Employees and those outside by the Rural Workers' Union. The secretary of the Labour Council has now received a notification from Melbourne that the Trades Hall Council has decided to apply the same line of demarcation to the organisations in Victoria.

The Rural Workers' Union is dissatisfied with the arrangement come to, and claims that the Cold Storage Union can only properly represent the men employed on cold storage and refrigerating plants, and that any other workers in factories should belong to organisation. It has made a request that the question of the line of demarcation should be reconsidered.

WRITERS AND ARTISTS' UNION.

At the last meeting of the Writers and Artists' Union, Mr. H. C. Coghlan occupied the chair. The Industrial Arbitration Bill, and the position of the union in regard thereto, were discussed, and it was decided to make certain representations to the Government. The proposals of the committee appointed in regard to holding "corroborees" were adopted, and arrangements for the holding of the next corroboree on June 8 were endorsed. Several new members, having received the endorsement of the executive, were enrolled.

A resolution was moved and adopted with one dissentient:—

"That the union expresses its approval of the Government's proposal to take over Federal Government House for the use and benefit of the people."

It was suggested that in the building space might be found for the establishment of a national art school.

TUCKPOINTERS' UNION.

At the last meeting of the Tuckpointers' Union, which has arranged a satisfactory agreement with the employers on other points, the question of apprenticing youths was discussed. It is felt by both employers and employees that an arrangement should be come to. On Saturday night the employers met to consider the same question. The result of the employers' deliberations will be submitted to the employees.

NEWCASTLE.

KILLINGWORTH COLLIERY.

NEWCASTLE, Saturday.

Killingworth colliery, the scene of a terrible explosion over three months ago, is now considered safe. Ever since the explosion occurred the mouth of the pit has been sealed, in order to prevent the spreading of any fire which might have existed. It is understood that the mine will be unsealed on Wednesday next, and as soon as it is proved that the pit is free from damp and fire an attempt will be made to descend and examine the extent of the damage.

WORK AT THE MINES.

The amount of work performed at the pits in the Newcastle and Maitland districts during the past fortnight, though not quite equal to that of the previous fortnight, was sufficient to show that trade was brisk. Nine collieries enjoyed full time, and eight others worked eight days and over. Lymington colliery, which has been idle since the beginning of the year, made a start and worked 7½ days. The four Teralba pits were idle, but it is expected that they will start on Tuesday or Wednesday next. Particulars of the days worked at the various pits are as follows:—Pelaw Main, Hebburn, Sea Pit, Seaham No. 2, Stanford Merthyr, East Greta, Newcastle A, Hetton, and Ebbw Main, 11 days each; Seaham No. 1, 10½ days; New Lambton, Burwood Extended, West Wallsend, 10 days each; Lambton B and Abbermain, 9 days each; Dudley and Lambton, 8 days each; Burwood and Lymington, 7½ days each; Aberdare Co-operative, 6½ days; Borehole and Whitburn, 6 days each; Neath, 5½ days; Aberdare Extended, 5 days; Waratah and Ellermore Vale, 4 days each; Back Creek and Duckenfield, 2½ days each; Marylands, Wallsend pit and tunnel, 2 days each.

MR. FLOWERS AT NEWCASTLE.

Sunday.

Mr. F. Flowers, Acting Chief Secretary, visited Newcastle yesterday for the purpose of receiving several deputations on matters coming under his administration. In the afternoon he attended the Newcastle Hospital, where a deputation of the hospital committee, headed by the president, Mr. S. S. Cohen, waited upon him, urging the necessity of certain alterations and additions to the institution. After Mr. Flowers had inspected the institution he replied that he recognised that hospitals had become part of the responsibilities of the Government. Every pound the Government spent on the care of the sick would be returned fourfold. "From what I have learned in the past four months," continued Mr. Flowers, "I am more firmly convinced than ever that the present financial control and management of our hospitals are wrong." By this he did not mean to cast a reflection on the good work which had been accomplished by hospitals, but conditions were altering, "and," continued Mr. Flowers, "if any hospital is neglected, if anyone is allowed to linger in pain, or if one life is lost in consequence of lack of money, the criminality of the occurrence, in my opinion, rests upon the Government."

He said he believed the responsibility for maintaining hospitals rested on the Government itself. It was not right that people should have to go into the streets box in hand and collect from casual passers-by money for the maintenance of an institution which was an absolute necessity to the community. From the modern point of view Newcastle Hospital was obsolete. The Government was determined at all hazards to put hospitals on a better basis, and if the member for Newcastle would put their requirements in writing he would give the matter his earnest consideration. He felt sure that even if the Government had to resort to increased taxation for the upkeep of hospitals they would have the whole of the country behind them. Personally he thought a sum of money should be placed on the Estimates to be devoted to the commencement of a comprehensive scheme to provide for the next 20 or 30 years.

OVERWORKED NURSES.

Mr. F. Flowers referred to the splendid work done by nurses at hospitals throughout the State under conditions which were often far from satisfactory. "In any well-equipped hospital," said Mr. Flowers, "proper regard must be given to the nursing staff; the intolerably long hours they are required to work in many cases must be put a stop to. We have no right to ask for this sacrifice of flesh and blood from anyone. It is not right to expect nurses to work ten, and in some cases twelve hours a day. Lives may be lost by the fact that a nurse is jaded and tired at the very moment when all her energy and attention are required." The housing of nurses was another matter needing attention at Newcastle. The best had been done with the means available, but they had to work in narrow limits, and if he possibly could he would provide a sum of money to remove those limits.

FIRE SERVICE CHAOS.

A deputation, consisting of representatives of the different municipal councils and shires in the Newcastle and Maitland district, ters Mr. W. C. Grahame, M.L.A., introduced evening, in connection with fire brigade matters. Mr. W. C. Grahame, M.L.C., introduced the deputation, which besides being large was extremely militant in its attitude towards the Fire Brigades Board. Wickham was to-day paying the board £735 for the same service which previously cost only £100. Waratah was paying £480, and all the extras they had got for it was a couple of bottles of brilliantshine and some waste. The representative of Wallsend stated that his municipality was paying £101 to the board, and they had no fire brigade at all. West Wallsend was provided with a full-blown captain, but he believed the appointment of the captain was the result of a topographical miscalculation. The captain should have been appointed to Wallsend instead of West Wallsend.

For close on two hours Mr. Flowers listened to the complaining councillors on what he himself described as "this burning question." He said there was need for an immediate change. The Newcastle councils had asked him to give them control of the brigades and power to levy one-third of the expenditure on the Government. That appeared to him to be putting the cart before the horse. The responsibility was one which the Government could not shirk. He objected strongly to the principle of this board now controlling the fire brigade, because it was exercising certain powers which should never have been delegated to it. It was practically a government within a government. The Government had no power over either the late or the present Fire Brigades Board. He was almost ashamed of a Parliament that would hand over its responsibilities like that. The whole difficulty could be got over by the Government taking back the power that it wrongfully delegated to the board. The board should be administered from the Chief Secretary's Department, and a fire commissioner should be appointed to control the whole State. District advisory boards should be constituted, not with control of the finances, but to see that the administration was properly carried out. He would, however, be no party to handing over the full control to municipal councils.

ABATTOIRS FOR NEWCASTLE.

At the Newcastle Council-chambers last night, after Mr. Flowers had received the deputation regarding the Fire Brigades Board, Mr. J. Estelle, M.L.A., introduced another deputation, asking for the establishment of abattoirs in Newcastle. It was pointed out that there was only one meat inspector in the Newcastle district at the present time, and it was very likely that diseased meat was finding its way to the consumer. The deputation suggested that a bill which had previously been drawn up for the establishment of abattoirs in the district be brought before the House. Mr. N. B. Creer said the councils would borrow the money necessary for the construction of the abattoirs, and would also make provision for the compensation of the butchers in cases where substantial slaughter-houses had been erected.

Mr. Flowers said he was amazed that they should have put up so long with the intolerable nuisance of having 23 slaughter-houses in their district. He did not think the Government would have any hesitation in putting the bill through. He would make a tour of inspection of the slaughter-houses in order to see if something could not be done immediately, and if the appointment of three inspectors would save one life in the Newcastle district he was in favour of their appointment. "This Government," said Mr. Flowers in conclusion, "is trying to do something for the health and happiness of the people. We are not worrying much about the wealth of the people."

TRANSFERRED PROPERTIES.

CLAIM FOR £80,000 AS INTEREST.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The Acting Premier stated on Saturday that the value of properties transferred from Victoria to the Commonwealth had been settled, and amounted to slightly over £2,250,000. Upon this valuation about £80,000 a year in interest, at the rate of 3½ per cent., had been claimed from July 1 last, and he expected to get that amount. The Victorian Government had also reserved to itself the right to claim interest from the time the properties were taken over within the past 10 years.

COLD, WINTRY CONDITIONS.

STRONG, SQUALLY S.W. WINDS.

SOME LOW TEMPERATURES.

BUT NOT ABNORMAL EXTREMES.

THE COLD PERIOD REVIEWED.

Under the influence of the strong, squally west to south-west winds, cold wintry conditions continued throughout the State during Saturday, some rather low temperatures and frosts being experienced in various districts. During Saturday night the Antarctic storm extended slightly north-westerward into New South Wales. This resulted in the continuation of the boisterous westerly winds, more particularly over the coastal parts, where the force of a strong gale was experienced on Sunday morning—at Kiama, Green Cape, and Gabo—with patches of rough sea on the northern and southern seaboard. Similarly at about 9.45 p.m. a misty shower occurred, but the mean, although measurable, was less than half a point. During last night and throughout Sunday a strong, squally, and cold westerly wind blew, with, if anything, reduced vigour, the mean hourly velocities ranging from 20 to 37 miles. The greatest velocity was 57 miles per hour at 10.50 a.m. on Sunday from the west-south-west.

The mean hourly wind velocities between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. yesterday were the following:—8 a.m. to 9 a.m., 28 miles; 9 to 10, 36 miles; 10 to 11, 37 miles; 11 to 12 noon, 33 miles; 12 noon to 1 p.m., 31 miles; 1 to 2, 29 miles; 2 to 3, 29 miles; 3 to 4, 24 miles; 4 to 5, 20 miles; 5 to 6, 20 miles; 6 to 7, 21 miles; 7 to 8, 19 miles; 8 to 9 p.m., 20 miles.

The storm responsible for these boisterous conditions was situated at 9 a.m. Saturday over the ocean in the south-east of the continent, including New Zealand, and it assumed a cyclonic character. Its area at that hour was probably equal to that of Australia itself, and the centre was about 300 or 400 miles south-west of the Bluff, New Zealand. Judging from the data received on Sunday by the Weather Bureau, the centre of the disturbance had suffered a slight retrogressive movement, resulting in a congestion of the isobars in the south-eastern parts of the continent, and consequently an increase in the wind velocity. Since 9 a.m. yesterday, however, the "high" made a decided easterly movement, and if it continues it should gradually displace the storm conditions of the mainland.

More rain, light to moderate in character, was recorded on the central and southern highlands, and on the far South Coast. The heaviest records were:—Gabo 82 points, Crookwell 58, Kiandra 57, Green Cape 46, Tumbarumba 30, Carcoar 21, Delegate 25, and Blayney 20. The remaining quantities were all less than 20 points.

Generally speaking, temperatures were lower over the State, excepting perhaps on the southern tablelands, where a slight rise occurred in parts. In the metropolitan district on Friday the minimum at Sydney was 47 deg., whilst on Saturday it was 44.9, a decrease of 2.1 deg. At Parramatta the lowest reading on Friday was 45 deg., and on Saturday 32.5, or a drop of 12.5 deg. At Sydney yesterday the minimum was 46.1 and the maximum 55.9.

The lowest temperatures inland were on the north-west slope, where Inverell recorded 19 deg. and Warialda 20 deg.; Cooma (in southern tableland) registered 23 deg., and Bingara (north-west slope) 24 deg. The day-time temperatures were also several degrees lower generally than on the previous day, due to the strong and squally west to south-west winds at the rear of the energetic antarctic storm which has dominated the weather of the past few days.

Although rather low, no abnormal extremes were recorded during the period of the cold spell, the lowest being 9 degrees (or 23 degrees below freezing point) at Kiandra. This reading, however, has been exceeded in point of lowness on numerous occasions, the lowest on record being 20.4deg. below zero (or 52.4deg. of frost) in June, 1881. Other low readings were:—19deg at Inverell, 20deg at Marialda (on north-western slope), 23deg at Picton and Cooma, 24deg. each at Queanbeyan, Coonabarabran, and Bingara, and 25deg each at Molong and Tenterfield.

In the city the lowest temperature recorded in the shade during the period was 40.1 deg. on Wednesday last, the coldest since August, 1909.

Rough seas along the New South Wales coast caused several steamers to seek shelter at Port Stephens. A ketch was hove-to under the north head at noon yesterday, while the ketches Ladysmith, Sarah Hunter, and Candidate and the schooner Aleda were anchored in the Railway Roads at 6 p.m.

BATHURST.—Light snow again fell in Bathurst on Sunday. Heavier falls are expected.

GLEN INNES.—The weather was bitterly cold on Saturday, and snow fell at Guyra and Ben Lomond.

GUNDAGAI.—Intensely cold weather has prevailed during the past few days. Rain, hail, and light snow have fallen. Nearly 2 inches of rain has fallen in the last seven days.

HARGRAVES.—Over an inch of rain fell on Friday. Snow fell on Friday night, being the first fall in town this year. A few days ago slight falls occurred a few miles out. The weather was exceptionally cold, registering 25deg at 10 a.m. on Saturday. Boisterous weather prevails.

KATOOMBA.—Boisterous westerlies were blowing all day Saturday. The weather was very cold.

LISMORE.—Friday was one of the most disagreeable days experienced for a long time. A strong westerly wind was blowing, at times the force of the gale raising clouds of dust. Friday night was very cold.

ORANGE.—Heavy rain fell on Saturday evening, followed by a night's continuous snow. The surrounding country was thickly mantled in white on Sunday, and the weather was intensely cold.

ROCKLEY.—Snow fell on Friday, the weather being bitterly cold.

SUNNY CORNER.—It has been snowing heavily here since Thursday, with a bitterly cold gale of wind. In spite of the very wet state of the ground, the snow is now lying several inches deep in the open, and several feet in the drifts. For the past 18 hours the maximum temperature has been 33deg, and the minimum 25deg.

WALLERAWANG.—Bitterly cold weather is being experienced. Snow fell on Thursday night, but the fall was only slight.

WOLLONGONG.—Boisterous westerly winds were still blowing here on Sunday. The weather was extremely cold. Owing to the westerly gale since Thursday last some large steamers have been berthed in Port Kembla harbour, being unable to get under the shutes.

COUNTRY NEWS.

GLEN INNES, Sunday.

At the police court a local farrier was fined 10s and costs of court for failing to exhibit the award under the Industrial Disputes Act; while Albert E. Norris was fined £2 15s, and 19s costs, for absenting himself from his hired service.

At the last meeting of the municipal council attention was drawn to the inadequate accommodation at the local post-office.

GRAFTON, Friday.

A motor launch, 32ft long by 8ft beam, was conveyed through Grafton on Wednesday on a trolly, and launched at the punt approach. She was entirely built by Mr. A. G. Landerberger, being his first attempt at shipwrighting. The launch, which is named the Sweet Nell, is propelled by a 25-h.p. oil engine, the most powerful of its kind on the Clarence. A high rate of speed was attained on the trial.

Sunday.

At a public meeting held at Maclean on Tuesday a resolution was carried requesting the member for Raleigh to further the claims of the port of Maclean at Ashby to become in the near future a central shipping depot for the north in conection with the frozen meat industry. A report from Mr. F. Sewonberg was read, stating that he had taken soundings along the Ashby frontage, and found ample water for vessels of heavy tonnage.

Mr. H. V. Jackson, of the Department of Agriculture, is in the Clarence district, making investigations on the spread of water hyacinth. He has interviewed the various shire councils, municipalities, and other bodies on the subject. The pest has been spreading rapidly, and the main river at Grafton is frequently dotted with patches of hyacinth.

KURRI KURRI, Saturday.

Mr. Fred Flowers, M.L.C., visited the Kurri district, accompanied by Mr. Conyers, secretary of the Advisory Board. He took evidence of the townspeople in regard to extending the tramway from Maitland to Kurri. The evidence was mainly opposed to the extension, but favoured a tram from Kurri to Cessnock, and strongly urged that the Government should resume the East Greta Company's private railway and connect the line through Kurri. The Minister also visited the hospital, where he was asked for a special grant for the erection of nurses' quarters and X ray rooms, etc., as the accommodation was not sufficient. He promised to favourably consider the requests. The party then left by motor car for Cessnock.

LISMORE, Saturday.

Two road-making plants for the Byron and Tintenbar shires are being put together on the wharf here. They will be taken by their own steam to their destinations.

PARKES, Saturday.

The laying of the mains in connection with the gas scheme is being pushed on rapidly. The price charged for gas will probably be under that originally estimated, owing to the reduced price at which coal can be landed.

The water level in the Bumbury storage reservoir fell one inch last week. The pump borrowed from the Works Department has been placed in position at the old pumping station, and water will be pumped from the draft on Billabong Creek to the service reservoir at the town.

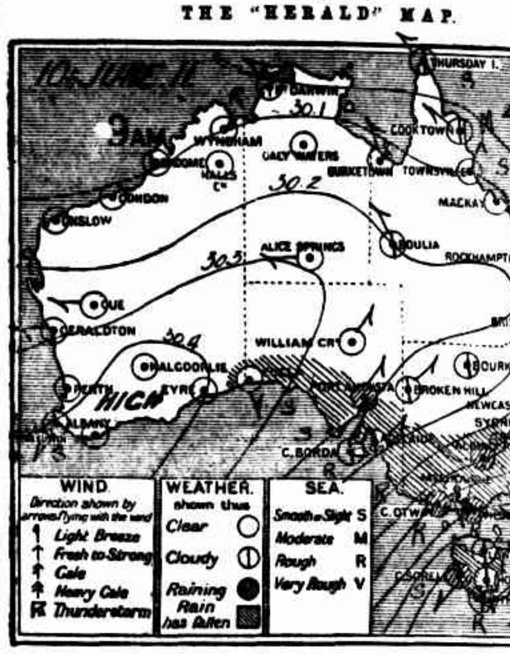
AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.



The Antarctic "storm" which during the past few days has controlled the wintry conditions in New South Wales still covers the Tasman Sea, but its rear portion, which on Friday was situated over the eastern half of our State, now occupies only the south-east quadrant, where fresh to strong, and squally westerly to south-westerly winds are still being experienced. The disturbance has evidently reached Norfolk Island, where at 9 a.m. on Saturday strong north-westerly winds and high seas prevailed. The centre is now shown over the Tasman Sea, between Hobart and the North Island of New Zealand, where it has assumed cyclonic characteristics. The high pressure, which on Friday covered the whole continent, excepting that portion east of a line joining Brisbane and Adelaide, has advanced yet another 300 miles eastward, displacing the disturbance to the same extent. The centre of this weather system is now situated over the southern goldfields of Western Australia, where it has gained about one-tenth of an inch in barometric value.

Ocean Forecasts.—A secondary disturbance off the west coast of Tasmania promises a repetition of the bleak, stormy weather.

MARINE'S BODY RECOVERED.

The Water Police yesterday morning recovered the body of Albert William [illegible] the marine who was drowned owing to the capsize of a naval skiff off Spectacle Island last week. The body was found floating at the Cove-street wharf, Balmain, at a short distance from the scene of the accident. He was attached to H.M.S. Penguin, and was temporarily attached to the guard on Spectacle Island. He was a native of the Midland Counties.

FAIR PLAY TO ALL.

WEST MAITLAND, Sunday.

The Mayor (Alderman Thursby) entertained Mr. Flowers, M.L.C., Acting Chief Secretary, and Mr. S. W. Conyers, and a number of gentlemen, at dinner in the Royal Hotel. Responding to the toast of "The Visitors," Mr. Flowers said the Government desired the right kind of people should be placed on the land, giving fair play to every section of the community, and especially bringing up to a higher standard that particular class he claimed to represent, the great body of workers of the country, by giving them better conditions of living. He claimed that even if it might mean shorter hours and a better wage in the long run, they were not inflicting any injustice on any section of the community. By increasing the purchasing power of the community they were certainly increasing the opportunities for better prices by the man who produced, and better prices for those who sold.

FATHER'S SUICIDE.

PERTH, Sunday.

T. D. Edwards, who had been employed in the railway workshops, Midland Junction, jumped into the Swan River from Guildford bridge on Friday evening, and was drowned. He had been summoned to appear at the court next week on a charge of illtreating his daughter, and it is thought that this led him to take his life.

FINANCIAL.

OUR ANTIQUATED COMPANIES ACT.

"Commerce" writes:—

Sir,—The investing public will be more than under a debt of gratitude to you and your valuable journal if you will call attention to the necessity of the State Government immediately passing an up-to-date Companies Act. It is no exaggeration to state that the Companies Act in New South Wales is the most loose in the British Dominions. The present English Act would provide all the protection necessary to the investing public.

The splendid seasons, high markets, and general developments have provided a large surplus in the country available for investment, with the result that numerous companies are offered to the public, some more or less of the "wild cat" nature, clothed in such a specious garb that the unwary public will undoubtedly be caught, even though attached to the prospectus are names of leading citizens.

Guarantee companies are appearing on the horizon, and it may be fairly assumed will guarantee other companies, whose promoters possibly are prime movers in both the guarantee company and the companies guaranteed. This is one of the most dangerous misdeeds yet introduced under this Act. I would ask you to impress upon the investing public the necessity of urging upon the Government to introduce a new Act, but pending its introduction and before investing in any company to see that the rules and regulations of the Stock Exchange form part of the vendors' agreement.

It is to the credit of that body that they are making an earnest attempt to protect the public whilst Parliament and the Government are moribund.

Anyone behind the scenes must realise that the crisis of 1893 will ere long repeat itself, and many trusting citizens will lose again whilst the company promoter and underwriter will "wax fat."

As to the necessity of a new and up-to-date Companies Act on the lines of the English Act of 1908 we cordially agree, and any Government that would essay the task would confer a lasting benefit upon the investing public.

CANADIAN v. AUSTRALIAN OVERSEA TRADE.

Canada's oversea trade presents some interesting features when compared with that of the Commonwealth. Both are debtor dominions. Both should in the ordinary way of things export more than they import in order to meet the interest bill on the external indebtedness. Australia regularly does this, however, whereas Canada does not. The following comparison of Canada's trade with that of the Commonwealth may prove of interest:—

Year.	Total exports.	Total imports.	Grand total.
	£	£	£
[illegible]	11,512,400	14,6[illegible]	26 [illegible]
[illegible]	15,[illegible]	18,[illegible]	34,[illegible]
[illegible]	18,040,600	22,178,800	40,219,400
[illegible]	32,[illegible]	28,[illegible]	60,895,000
[illegible]	56,[illegible]	74,157,200	130,[illegible]
[illegible]	5[illegible]	63,[illegible]	114,[illegible]
[illegible]	60,271,600	78,370,100	138,642,000
Australia, 1910	74,[illegible]	51,456,238	125,[illegible]

It will thus be seen that the aggregate trade of both countries was about on a parity last year, Canada having a slight lead. Canada's exports, however, were over 14 millions sterling less than Australia's, while Canada's imports were 19 millions greater. This would indicate heavy importations of capital into British North America.

MELBOURNE MONEY MARKET.

The monetary position is a favourable one, as a result of the accumulation of funds from the proceeds of the past season (writes Messrs. W. S. Dun and Co., from Melbourne), and with plentiful supplies of money, some of the leading banks have reduced their rates on fixed deposits by ½ per cent, and are now quoting 2½ per cent. for twelve months, and 3 per cent. for two years' deposits. The reduction has not been made by all the banks, and in considering the situation it is to be noticed that the growth of bank deposits in Australasia during the last 12 months has been accompanied by a nearly corresponding growth in advances, the generally active state of business being reflected in the greater demand for banking accommodation. Rates, it may be added, were also reduced by one of the banks trading in Sydney, but the movement does not appear to be one likely to be generally followed.

RECORD PRICE FOR TIN.

Another record has been established in the tin market in London. The following table shows in a graphic way the course of the market over a series of years:—

FISH OIL FROM INDIA.

A considerable amount of fish oil is imported into the State, and prices for some time past have been high. Japan supplies a great deal of herring oil, and that which will arrive at the end of next month is quoted at 2/ per gallon. India is now entering the field as a competitor, fish oil being produced in considerable quantities on the west coast of the Madras Presidency. The oil is of good quality, with but slight fishy odour, and with colour ranging from yellow to brown. The brown qualities, it is stated, are probably suitable for the jute, leather, and steel (tempering) businesses, and for all operations for which similar oils, such as "menhaden" and herring and even whale oil, are used. The better qualities may be suitable for the paint and colour trades, and possibly for other purposes. The crude oil contains a considerable quantity of fish tallow (stearine).

BRASSWORK AND GUNMETAL.

The Customs Department notifies that the definition of brasswork and gunmetal in circular F. '11-53, published in the "Herald" of May 29, necessitates the amendment of decisions on a large number of goods, when of brass or gunmetal. The amended classification applies to 70 different articles, which are mentioned in circular F. '11-55.

THE BUTTER MARKET.

Prescott, Ltd. report concerning the butter market of Australia:—

Sydney.—The market has been very brisk this week. In the early part London buyers came in and cleared up everything that was offering for export, and, as supplies continue to decrease on account of the wet weather, it was decided on Thursday to advance the market to 96/ for choicest. At this figure there has been no check in sales, and, with a continuance of present weather conditions, it is probable that a further advance will take place. The quantity of seconds and thirds has decreased.

Melbourne.—Under the influence of London buying the market advanced on Thursday to /10½ for western; other prime to choice brands /9¾ to /10, medium down to /9. There is no shortage of supplies at the moment, but the feeling is that the continued cold weather will cut down supplies within a few days, and we are inclined to think that the market will be further advanced before any reaction sets in. Arrivals for the week ended June 2 are 13,221 boxes butter, and 94 tons cream.

Brisbane.—The local market was unchanged until Thursday, when prices were advanced to 98/ for choicest. Supplies have been falling off, and production for last week is estimated at 5736 boxes, which is very little above local requirements.

The amount of wool manifested at Darling Harbour on Saturday totalled 186 bales.

At Darling Island on Saturday 644 tons wheat and 1372 tons flour were manifested to arrive.

MINING.

PHENOMENAL PRICE FOR TIN—£228.

FIRM WEEK-END IN SILVER SHARES.

The Stock Exchange members' cable message received on Saturday morning announced that tin had reached the phenomenal and record price of £222. This message was apparently despatched before the London metal market closed on Friday, for a cable message despatched by our London correspondent at the close of Friday stated that the price had reached the extraordinary height of £228 per ton.

According to statistics available since 1864, it is learned that the highest price reached by tin was in 1906, namely, £215, and that the yearly average price that year was £180/12/. The £228 is, therefore, easily a record, and as the price has consistently gone up from £181 in January of this year, it follows that the average for the first six months of the current half-year will be considerably higher than the £180/12/ average for 1906. In the latter year the average price for spelter was £27/1/; for standard copper, £87/8/6; for best select copper, £92/5/; for electrolytic copper, in New York, £88/15/1; and for lead, in London, £17/7/.

Naturally enough, the big jump in tin had an effect upon the value of tin propositions, but not to such an extent as would have been the case had there been a comparatively phenomenal rise in either spelter, lead, or copper. The advance will mean a big gain in the profits of tin-mining companies and co-operative parties of tin streamers. In market operations, Tongkah Harbour Tin and Vegetable Creek tin shares were in strong request, and sold on the up grade, but other tin propositions were not materially affected.

A striking feature of the market was the strength of silver stocks, on top of firming prices earlier in the week. There were reasons for this. There was the reported good assays of the ore body met with at the 1715ft level of the Broken Hill Block 10 mine, the excellent developments recorded by the diamond drill operating in the Thompson section of the British Broken Hill mine, and the buoyancy of the London Stock Exchange on Friday.

The local sales booked on Saturday morning showed B.H. Junction hardening from 22/4½ to 22/6; B.H. Block 10 moving from 40/3 to 41/; British Broken Hill (old) moving from 25/10½ to 27/3; and B.H. Souths, paid, improving from £5/10/6 to £5/11/6. This strong range of prices was followed by a sympathetic strengthening of B.H. South Blocks, North Broken Hill, B.H. Souths, contributing, Sulphide Corporation, ordinary, and Broken Hill Proprietary.

The copper division was not in the least animated. Indeed, it was rather sluggish, and in this respect was a repetition of the earlier days of the week. Despite the fact that the Great Fitzroy Company, in its May operations showed a slight profit, as compared with losses on previous months, the shares sold on the weak side; whilst Hampdens also weakened, notwithstanding the first campaign of the smelting furnaces gave an extraction of 9.16 per cent. of copper. The bottom of the new furnace will doubtless "take up" a fair amount of copper, and it is assumed that the next smelting will show a better result. Mount Elliott sold weakly on account of decreased London quotations. Outside good inquiries for Queen Bee and Kangiara, there was not much strength in the call for other stocks.

Gold shares were quiet, with better offers for Bullfinch Proprietary on the strength of the London "middle price" improving from 17/ to 17/6.

MINING IN THE STATE.

GUNDAGAI, Saturday.

Arrangements are being made to float the Long Tunnel mine into a company. Yesterday one of the shareholders picked out 6lb of stone, which dollied 7oz of gold.

PAMBULA, Friday.

The Diorite syndicate reports having crushed 127 tons of ore, placed under cyanide treatment 160 tons of sand worth 28/6 per ton, and 60 tons of slimes worth 16/ per ton. Both stopes in the Diorite mine are looking well. The average width of the lode is 4ft, and they crushed 51 tons, and the sand from the same assays 54/10 per ton, and slimes 70/6 per ton. They will break 20 tons weekly from the Falkner mine. Gahan, tributers, have 30 tons at grass. The Falkner tributers are on ore of good value.

MINING NOTES.

The Harden Gold Mine crushed 849 tons of ore last month for bullion valued at £903/7/11. There were cyanided 740 tons of tailings, including 43 tons of slimes and 40 tons of sands from the recently-acquired Harden Central mine, yielding bullion to the value of £228/12/5. There were sold 29.9 tons of concentrates, realising net £669/17/9; also 23 tons of slags, realising net £48/10/5. The face of the No. 5 west level assays 2/6 per ton over a width of 24in. The face of drive is now vertically beneath the rich shoot recently discovered on No. 4 level, and should this continue down to No. 5 level values should be met with shortly. The revenue for the month was £1850/8/6, and the expenditure £1984/14/11.

BRITISH BROKEN HILL MINE.

IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENT.

BROKEN HILL, Saturday.

The new development at the British mine is of extreme importance. Although in Block 16, it has nothing to do with the development recently reported north-east from the Thompson shaft. A diamond drill bore was sent south at 600ft from the end of Thompson's drive, and proved ore for about 250ft during the week. Since Howell's and Thompson's sections have been connected by a long drive, a borehole was put out westerly about 266ft south from Thompson's shaft. This bore up to noon to-day had gone in 69ft, the last 60ft being in good grade ore. This development is close to the boundary of blocks 15 and 16, but is in block 16, and opens up a big patch of ground never hitherto considered. The presence of this ore body, which will certainly go up or down, and possibly both, added to the developments reported within the past month, puts the British on a safe foundation for at least 10 years to come. Quite a new block is being opened up, and the mystery of the last Government geological map of Broken Hill is now being solved. No assays of the bore have yet been made, but ore is good for both lead and zinc.

VICTORIAN SILVER-GOLD LODE.

MELBOURNE, Saturday.

In a report on the mammoth lode on the Gibbo River, three miles from King's, north-eastern district, Mr. Dunn, Government Geologist, says this is by far the largest mineral lode, so far as is known, within this State, and should it prove to be worth working it would be a very extensive asset. Assays of samples sent in by him gave of gold from a trace to 6 grains per ton, of silver from a trace to 6oz 13dwt 21gr per ton from the gossan, of copper a trace, and of sulphur 20.4 per cent. The true value of the unaltered ore is to be ascertained by drilling, and until this is done the area occupied by the lode will be exempt from leasing.

THE ZINC-SOUTH BLOCKS AMALGAMATION.

WHY THE SCHEME WAS MOOTED.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Shareholders in the Zinc Corporation on this side of the world have been awaiting the receipt of official documents to furnish a reason why the directors of that concern should propose its amalgamation with the Broken Hill South Blocks Company on the terms already notified by cable advice. The information is now available in the annual report of the company. This states that in view of the discovery of a large zinc lode on the South Blocks mine, the board had approached the directors of the latter company with a view "to either a working arrangement between the two companies or the acquisition of the South Blocks Company, thus materially extending the life of the Zinc Corporation." As a result of the interview, the South Blocks directors agreed to recommend the sale of the whole of their assets for 66,665 preference shares and 200,000 ordinary shares in the Zinc Corporation. The directors of the Zinc Corporation also notify that if shareholders agree to the proposal a new company it to be incorporated in the United Kingdom to take over both companies, and that by that means the "cumbersome machinery entailed by the company's incorporation in Australia will be removed."

The idea of the directors of the Zinc Corporation "approaching" the board of the South Blocks is most amusing, seeing that Mr. F. C. Govett is the chairman of the two companies, and that Mr. W. H. Pelham Clinton also belongs to the two boards.

CREEP IN MOUNT ELLIOTT MINE.

POSITION MORE SERIOUS.

MELBOURNE, Saturday.

The creep in the Mount Elliott mine, Cloncurry, which at first was understood to be nothing serious, now turns out to be far more serious than was imagined. At all events, it is announced officially that "owing to a movement in the Vaugh channel at the No. 3 level and the extension of the same to No. 2 and No. 1 levels, it has been decided upon the recommendation of the general manager that the best policy will be to shut down the smelters from July 1 to September 1, so as to make the necessary repairs in the mine. So far, there is nothing which cannot be overcome, and except for postponing the output for two months no damage is done."

A number of packets, newspapers, etc., have reached Rangoon, India, from Australia in a damaged condition, owing to the flimsy nature of the covers used for their enclosure. It is pointed out that wrappers strong enough to stand the strain incidental to postal transit when mailing articles for India or elsewhere abroad should be used.

While on duty at the E. and A. Wharf on Saturday Customs-officers T. Moloney and L. Hyde found in the possession of a European, who is said to be employed at one of the docks, six tins of opium. The value of the opium would be approximately £24.

MAROONS AGAIN DOWNED.

32 POINTS TO 8.

A TRIPLE DEFEAT.

The third match of the series between New South Wales and Queensland at the Royal Agricultural Ground on Saturday was not exactly like the two that preceded it, but it again involved the meeting of quite unequal forces, and the sporting feeling amongst our people is not satisfied with the matching of unequals. The public like a keen match, in which supremacy is only attained after a strenuous contest, and it really does not matter very much to Sydney football followers who wins, so long as the game they watch is a clean and hard one, in which some outstanding features remain afterwards for them to descant upon.

Before commenting upon the play it is necessary to accord a meed of praise to Mr. T. McMahon for his admirable control of the game on Saturday. An easier referee would have shut one eye to a couple of forward passes of the home team, but Mr. McMahon was a close observer, and quite unbiassed in his decisions. He was a little slow with the whistle occasionally, but a second's delay is infinitely preferable to haste, which may mean irretrievable error.

The home State was represented by nearly a new team. It was recognised that to put the fine combination of the previous Saturday against the visitors would be merely to invite the home men to treat their opponents with contempt. Even with the handicap of a man less the blue-jerseyed men would have been too much for the maroons. To those who knew the club reputations of the members of the Queensland team it was apparent that, with the exception of McGregor, Glasson, and Brackenreg, they did not play up to their best form.

Halfway through the second half on Saturday the northerners began to infuse some life into their play. When a man began to run others backed him up, and the pace shown was capital. The crowd expressed its delight and warmly encouraged the maroons, who certainly had hard luck in not getting more points whilst the effort lasted. They knocked at the door a few times, but the home defence was sound. McGregor, as in the last match, showed that he was a really gritty and capable player. Stuntz found that out several times both before and after he did his sensational leap over the full-back's head.

The home team's main weakness was behind the scrums. In the loose and in defence both Naylor and Butler performed with credit, but in special features associated with their positions they were often "powerful lackin'," especially Butler, who often failed to field the ball. Messenger took matters fairly easy, but with the exception of a couple of dropped passes his play was easily the best on the ground, as it was the most unselfish. There is no doubt that Messenger plays the game. He may take a pass off-side in the heat of the fray, and go on till the referee's whistle brings him back, as it did twice on Saturday, but he plays the honest, hard game with more brains than any footballer of his day. Apparently Messenger would rather give away points than take any knowingly, unfairly.

The New South Wales three-quarter line was a good one. Russell did not have much of a chance at attacking in the first half, but he was very effective in the tackling. He was tackled once by Glasson in the second half when dangerous, and he looked surprised. The northern man had the better of the encounter. Stuntz's great run and attempt to hurdle M'Gregor was a great feat, which dwarfed M'Gregor's little jump, but the latter's was also a great effort, and the Queensland full-back rarely got hold without gaining ground. Stuntz was unlucky in not quite clearing M'Gregor; the latter just touched his foot, and although the tall three-quarter did not come to the ground with a crash he stumbled on alighting, and was easily collared. Memories in the crowd flew back at once to similar doings by Stoddart, Messenger, Batten, and A. Asher, but few recalled as high a jump as that of Stuntz on Saturday.

The blue pack was a well-balanced one, and the clever hooking engaged in was worth watching. It was lamentable to see this neat play rendered useless by weakness behind the scrum. In the three matches just concluded New South Wales scored 146 points to Queensland's 17. About 10,000 people witnessed the match.

The teams were:—

Referee, Mr. T. M'Mahon. Touch judges, Messrs. J. Buchanan and A. Farrow.

Brackenreg kicked off from the northern end for Queensland, the wind being in his favour. Messenger, who captained the home team, elected to play against the wind in the first half. The game opened very brightly, both teams being all out, but the honours in passing were with the New South Welshmen. One open attack was ended by Duffin tackling the long-striding Stuntz, Farnsworth picked up smartly in the Queensland quarter, and waving the ball to right and left, ran close to the line, where he sent a low, hard pass to Messenger. The Eastern Suburbs three-quarter ran close to the ground with the ball, and scored a try between the posts. He converted the try. New South Wales 5 points, Queensland nil.

A great forward run, headed by Burge, threatened the Queensland line, but the Northerners forced a man into touch, and obtained relief by a long kick to the home team's quarter boundary flag. "Wee Macgregor," for Queensland, showed his agility and pace in a fast run, during which he jumped, with legs wide-spread, over an opposing tackler. Brackenreg had two comparatively easy shots at goal, but only went close. Four penalties were awarded Queensland in about four minutes, from three of which goals should have been kicked. All were failures.

The northerners were having the better of the game at this stage. Hooker tried the next penalty kick for Queensland, but did no better than Brackenreg.

Open fast play pleased the crowd, and Messenger, getting possession on the wing, beat the opposition, and scored a try, which he failed to convert from a wide angle. M'Coombe now went on in place of Nicholson, for Queensland. A magnificent run by Stuntz electrified the crowd. The speedy three-quarter did a high hurdle over McGregor at the end of it, but tripped on reaching the ground, and the ball was snatched from him, but he tackled the man who took it. Heidke marked conveniently, and tried to kick a goal, but did no better than the others on his side. In other respects the northerners were making a very much brighter showing than in the two previous matches of the tour.

Illegal interference by Stuntz brought a penalty against his side, and Duffin piloted the ball over the bar. It was the Queenslanders' first score for two matches. New South Wales 8 points, Queensland 2 points. McGregor was the pick of the northerners, his play being well up to interstate standard. He stopped some good movements by the home team, and was Stuntz's Waterloo every time the tall New South Welshman came to him. New South Wales by no means had it all their own way in the first half, but the Queenslanders should have done much better in goal kicking.

A penalty kick nearing half-time whistle came the way of New South Wales, and Messenger did the needful. New South Wales 10 points, Queensland 2 points. The northern men should have scored again, but Russell did a couple of solid tackles and kept them out. At half-time the scores were New South Wales 10 points, Queensland 2.

Butler set the ball in motion for New South Wales in the second half. Duffin's kicking for Queensland against the wind was first-rate. Williams of the home pack was to the fore in a couple of rushes, and Butler was also noticeable in the open work, although not good behind the scrums. He was not adequately supported by Naylor, who, however, had some tackling to do. Russell was held illegally by a Queenslander, and a cross-kick was followed up by Stuntz, who threw himself across the line with the ball, with McGregor hanging on to him, and scored a try. Messenger converted, the ball glancing the post in transit. New South Wales 15 points, Queensland 2 points. Davis was well ahead in the open forward rushes, by the home team, in one of which nearly all the three-quarters participated. A free to the home team was taken by Messenger, who found the air track between the posts correctly. New South Wales 17 points, Queensland 2 points. An overhead kick by Messenger gained much ground. The two full-backs had an encounter inside New South Wales half, and honours were easy between them. Pioch and Dickens were nearly over for Queensland, and the game opened up delightfully. For some time better play was witnessed than hitherto. Russell bumped Glasson, and had the worst of the meeting. The crowd began to yell encouragement to the maroons, who responded splendidly. Using the eastern wing cleverly, the northerners worked their way into the opposition quarter, but in a trice Burge led the attack back, and play see-sawed in great style. The Queenslanders were playing like a new team altogether, stemming the passing rushes, and doing a bit of that class of work themselves. New South Wales at last gained the ascendancy. Butler, who had been missing opportunities behind the scrum, secured at centre, and with Russell outside him ran hard and focussed the attention of the defenders, before passing to the winger. Russell scored a try, which Messenger converted. New South Wales 22 points. Queensland 2 points. Open high-class play followed, and then the New South Wales men rattled into Queensland quarters, again Stuntz being downed by M'Gregor. He, however, passed the ball to Davis, who darted across and scored a try which Messenger converted. New South Wales 27 points. Queensland 2 points. Queensland's next score was the result of combined work. Brackenreg scored a try after a scramble on the home team's line. Maitland failed at goal. New South Wales 27 points, Queensland 5 points.

A great rush for Queensland was started by Pioch, and the other men backing up well, Heidke got over and scored a try, which Brackenreg failed to convert. New South Wales 27 points, Queensland 8 points. The greater part of the second half provided a capital display. Farnsworth and Courtney took the ball to near the Queensland line, transferred to Messenger, who over the line, where he could have scored, passed to Stuntz, who scored. Messenger converted, and the game ended in favour of New South Wales by 32 points to 8.

MESSENGER'S WONDERFUL PLAY.

During the three games the outstanding features were the clever all-round combination displayed by New South Wales in the first two games, and Messenger's wonderful play. During the whole of the games he was at the top of his form, both as an individualist and as a teamsman. Generally when a player becomes prominent persistently during a football match it is a sign of weakness, for the mechanism of the side becomes dislocated and the attack disjointed. With Messenger, however, it is different. Although an unorthodox player, discarding all canons of the game, his mentality is so great and his perception so correct that he intuitively knows exactly what to do at the right time, especially in defence, and that, too, in contrast to his earlier career, without interfering with the collectiveness of the side. Since Messenger first became prominent as a footballer he has improved greatly, both in judgment and playing ability; and he stands to-day without a compeer in Australian Rugby football. Below we append his personal efforts in the three matches against Queensland. Had he not played unselfishly his record would have been much greater, for at least on two occasions after crossing the line he passed to a comrade, and allowed him to score. Following are the details:—

	Tries.	Tries Converted.	Penalty Goals.	Total.
First match	4	9	1	32
Second match	2	6	1	20
Third match	2	5	2	20
Totals	8	20	4	72

Thus he was responsible for 72 points out of 146 scored in the three games.

Following are the particulars of the scoring in the three matches. The comparison proves the great superiority of the home teams:—

	Tries.	Tries Converted.	Penalty Goals.	Total Points.
New South Wales.
	32	21	4	146

MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

The by-election which took place at Rookwood on Saturday, consequent on the resignation of Alderman Brewster, one of the South Ward representatives, created a good deal of interest, as the issue was considered to involve the supremacy in the council (by a majority of one) of the Mayor and his adherents or their opponents, who are locally known as the reform party. The two candidates were Mr. Frederick Lidbury, a former alderman and Mayor, and Mr. Frederick Wilson, who announced himself as an independent candidate, but was understood to be adverse to some of the proposals of the reformers. The results of the polling as announced by the substitute returning officer, Mr. R. S. Larcombe (in the absence through illness of the returning officer, Mr. W. J. Lake, town clerk) was as follows:—Lidbury, 98; Wilson, 60; informal, 4. The majority for Mr. Lidbury was 38.

The result was received with cheers by the large crowd which had assembled in front of the Town Hall. The candidates briefly thanked their supporters, and the usual vote of thanks to the returning officer and cheers for the King concluded the proceedings.

WORKS COMMITTEE'S TOUR.

PARTY SNOWED UP.

BATHURST, Sunday.

The Public Works Committee arrived at Rockley on Friday to take evidence in connection with the proposed Perthville-Burraga railway, but owing to a heavy fall of snow many witnesses were prevented from travelling to that centre for the purpose of giving evidence.

The party left for Burraga on Saturday morning, and took evidence, but an advice from there to-night states that the committee has been snowed up, and will not be able to proceed to Oberon. They will therefore leave Burraga at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning, and return to Bathurst, where they will catch the night mail for Sydney.

THE TURF.

Mr. Geo. W. S. Rowe, secretary, invites up 4 p.m. to-day nominations for the dozen ents on the double-barrelled programme r the Coronation meeting of the Rosehill acing Club on the 22nd and 24th inst. The rize-money aggregates £1200, of which £150 es to the Coronation Handicap on the openg day and £120 to the Rosehill Handicap on e second day; while there are six events—cluding two hurdle races and a race for o year olds—endowed with £100 each, one ce with £90, and three with £80 each.

The weights for the Canterbury Park June eeting are promised this forenoon.

The card for the Newcastle Jockey Club's oronation meeting on the 22nd inst demands e attention of owners and trainers to-day, hen entries close with the secretary, Mr. Grisdale. The sum of £350 prize-money distributed over five events, the principal which are the King George Handicap of 70 and the Coronation Handicap of £100.

There was not much to choose between ackers and layers at Warwick Farm on aturday at the close of financial operations. r, though favourites and well-backed horses ot home in four of the six races, the successes of Emerald Isle in the Hurdle Race nd Corallina in the Farm Stakes helped in sisting the ringmen out of their difficulties. here were seven starters for the Hurdle ace, and the Playbill gelding Dollar Bill left e paddock a warm favourite, and, with the ception of Chronoscope, all the others were ore or less marketable. Amilcorn essayed win from end to end, and, with a couple lengths' advantage as they headed for home, seemed that he would accomplish his mison, but nearing the distance Emerald Isle anged up alongside the son of Rice, and beat im decisively from that point. Dollar Bill ever gave his supporters much hope, and his erformance was unsatisfactory to the ipendiary stewards, who opened an inquiry to the matter, but adjourned it for further idence. Metallist, who started second vourite, also gave a very indifferent disay, and Combination was a furlong away the finish. Elegy ran well, but lost round by jumping awkwardly when half a ile from home. The winner, Emerald Isle, ho is half-brother to Maltster's Daughter, as bred by Mr. A. E. Christian in this State, d is by the Tocal sire Sir Tristram (imp.) om Crystalline, by Grand Master. He has r some time figured at the "illegitimate" ame, but this was his first victory over the attens.

The Victorian jumping season was in full wing at Williamstown on Saturday, when our of the half-dozen races on the card were er obstacles. The Victorian contingent pened business by securing the first event, e Maiden Hurdle Race, with the ex-New ealander, Pakau, a recent addition to J. W. oud's team, and who showed a fair turn of peed and jumping ability at Randwick. The urdle Race fell to the Wagga-bred Invermayson, a son of the Wagga Cup winner, nvermay, and Molly Asthore.

The San Francisco gelding, Santiago, and e Triem colt, Windrodine, the latter of hom has been racing with some success in e western district, were the best fancied of e 18 that took part in the Farm Stakes Warwick Farm on Saturday, the firstnamed aving a slight call in the market at the close operations in the ring; while of the others e chances of Brown Dave and Harley only ame in for any consideration. The start was straggling one, Brown Dave and Corallina aving the best of it, while Hoboyist and urrawinya dwelt and lost a deal of ground. he favourite ran in the ruck until nearing e home turn, where she moved up next to orallina, who occupied a good position until e half-mile post was cast behind, and then, king charge, she was not afterwards oubled, easily shaking off the favourite from e distance, and her success was a good rn-up for the ringmen, few, if any, of whom d written her name. Windrodine, who was mong those badly served by the start, was ot dangerous at any stage. The winner is Victorian-bred mare by Bundook—son of arbine—from Roseleaf, whose name does not ppear in the A.S.B. The mare has been nning in the Monaro district before visitg the metropolis, and numbers amongst her ountry successes the Town Plate and Disict Handicap at Cooma in February last. he was ridden at Warwick Farm by the pprentice, A. Thomas, who scored his first ccess in the saddle, and his mount had the enefit of the apprentices' allowance.

The field that took the track for the Flying andicap at Warwick Farm on Saturday was e short of two dozen, and the imported mare orquay, on whom J. Pike had the mount, was nt out at the head of the quotations, with althusian and Grist the best supported of e others. Blackpool, attended by Quentin d Malthusian, made most of the running, but mpounded at the distance when tackled by althusian, who scored by a narrow margin om the fast finishing Borambil; while the vourite was never in the first flight. Malusian, who hails from J. Burton's stable, is son of Maltster and the Martini Henry are Amera, and was bred by his owner, Mr. N. Seaton.

In a field of 17 of very moderates the Lanster filly Milfoil left the paddock an even oney favourite for the Juvenile Handicap at arwick Farm on Saturday; while the Poseil colt Dominion was regarded as her most ngerous opponent, the Ladurlad filly My aru being the only other marketable. The arket accurately foreshadowed the result, r, after the Ibex filly Handbell, who took arge after passing the half-mile post, had out the work until nearing the distance, e favourite, who had held a forward position om the start, wore her down, and, coming n, won comfortably from Dominion, to whom e was conceding 31lb. Milfoil, who was bred the Nandillyan Heights stud by Major Claude ith, is by Lancaster from Milkmaid, a Tucka cka-bred mare, by Gozo (imp.) from Monng, by King Cole. She is trained by F. illiams, and has during the current season cured five races, including the A.J.C. Decemr Stakes.

The scratching pen was pretty busy with e candidates for the Warwick Handicap, the incipal event at Warwick Farm on Saturday. ly half a dozen facing the music. J. Allp's stable provided the favourite, Strathon, who was closely run in the market by amade, while Torula and Posaune were so accorded great support. Again the mart foreshadowed the result, for, after Torula d Pan Out had each had a turn in front, the tter conducting his field until heads were rned for home, the favourite and Chamade on past him, and the former scored comrtably. Strathdoon was bred by Sir F. B. ttor, and is by Strathroy—son of Lochiel—om Marchioness, by Grand Flaneur from e Goldsbrough mare Mother Gamp. This as Strathdoon's first success under colours.

Messrs. William Inglis and Son announce at at noon to-day they will offer for sale public auction, at their bazaar, Pitt-street, e hurdle racer The King, by Seneschal, and e 14.2 sister to Icicle, by Woodlark from ace.

Our Adelaide correspondent telegraphs that e jockey, C. G. Cosgrove, who was severely jured when Charlemagne fell in the Great astern Steeplechase at Oakbank on Easter onday, has made sufficient recovery to leave r Melbourne on Tuesday, when a nurse will avel in charge of him.

WARWICK FARM RACING CLUB.

JUNE MEETINGS.

MALTHUSIAN WINS THE FLYING WELTER.

STRATHDOON THE WARWICK HANDICAP.

In fine and bright but rather cool weather, the Warwick Farm June meeting was held on Saturday, and there was a large gathering to witness the sport, which was of an interesting character throughout. The track was excellent going, and the general arrangements were up to the customary standard. The card was run through without mishap, and only a few minor items were dealt with by the stipendiary stewards, who imposed fines of £1 each in a couple of instances for wrong and unsuitable colours, and they also opened an inquiry into the running of Dollar Bill in the Hurdle Race, but which was not concluded. The general arrangements were efficiently supervised by the secretary, Mr. P. A. Oatley. Results:—

HURDLE RACE of 60 sovs., second 10 sovs. from the prize. About 2m.

Mr F. Forbes's b g Emerald Isle, by Sir Tristram (imp.)—Crystalline, 5yrs, 9st (E. M'Gee) 1
Mr. J. Westerley's b g Amilcorn, 5yrs, 9st 11lb, inc 1lb over (W. Hall) 2
Mr. C. Hebden's br m Elegy, 5yrs, 9st 11lb, inc. 1lb over (W. Burke) 3

Other starters: Dollar Bill, 11st 3lb (W. Stuart), Combination, 9st 10lb (G. K. Phillips); Metallist, 9st 2lb, inc. 2lb over (J. Freeland); Chronoscope, 9st 3lb, inc. 3lb over (H. Jury).

Betting: 9 to 4 v Dollar Bill, 5 to 1 v Metallist, 6 to 1 each v Combination and Amilcorn, 7 to 1 v Emerald Isle, 8 to 1 v Elegy, 20 to 1 v Chronoscope.

Amilcorn sailed off in front, and was escorted along the back by Elegy and Combination. Drawing out Amilcorn led along the river side six lengths from Elegy and Combination, while Chronoscope tan off. Amilcorn came round the bend and into the straight and passing the stand was six lengths clear from Elegy and Combination, with Dollar Bill and Emerald Isle a like distance off, and Metallist still in the rear. Amilcorn increased his lead to 10 lengths as they passed the homestead, and raced along the back for the second time; but Emerald Isle and Elegy closed on the leader as they came down the river side, and at the three-furlongs post the pair were at the heels of Amilcorn, who showed the way into the straight, with Elegy and Emerald Isle hard upon him. Emerald Isle ranged up alongside Amilcorn at the distance, and the pair cleared the last jump on terms. Then Emerald Isle drew out and won by half a length from Amilcorn, who was 10 lengths clear from Elegy. Dollar Bill was fourth, and was followed at lengthy intervals by Metallist and Combination. Time, 3m 54s.

Betting: 2 to 1 v Santiago, 5 to 2 v Windrodine, 10 to 1 each v Harley and Brown Dave, 20 to 1 each v the others.

From a bad start Brown Dave and Corallina were first to show out, while Currawinya and Hoboyist dwelt at the post and lost considerable ground. As they raced along the back Lord Modan was showing slightly in front of Corallina, after whom came Brown Dave and Harley; then after a gap succeeded Santiago at the head of the others. That order was preserved past the five furlongs post, but passing the half-mile post Corallina came through, and at the end of the next furlong was leading by a couple of lengths from Lord Modan, who was succeeded by Harley, Brown Dave, and Watsonia. Corallina held her place round the turn and into the straight, pursued by Santiago, Lord Modan, and Brown Dave. A little further on Blackpool came through, and rattled past the three-furlongs post, followed at half-length intervals by Quentin and Malthusian, after whom succeeded Veronite, Malt Rose, and Borambil. Blackpool turned into the straight with Malthusian, Quentin, Borambil, Malt Rose, and Veronite in pursuit, but inside the distance Malthusian ran to the front and won by a neck from Borambil, who had Quentin at his girths. Blackpool was a length off fourth, followed by Veronite, Lord Hybla, and Torquay, then a great cluster, whipped in by Arafy. Time, 1m 16½s.

Milfoil and Orama moved off in front, followed by Sweet Bay, and at the end of the first furlong Sweet Bay and Milfoil were disputing the lead, with Good Cheer at their heels, and Dominion and Handbell at the head of the others. Nearing the three furlongs post Handbell came through, and passed that point with Milfoil and Good Cheer at her heels, and closely followed by Sweet Bay and Dominion. Handbell turned into the straight clear from Milfoil, Good Cheer, Sweet Bay, and Dominion, but Milfoil took charge at the distance, and, coming on, won by two lengths from Dominion, who was six lengths in advance of Fugue. My Maru and Good Cheer were close up next, followed by Sweet Bay and Teddy Bear, with Otello at the tail of the hunt. Time, 1m 2½s.

GOLF.

NEW SOUTH WALES AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

QUALIFYING ROUND.

The qualifying round of the New South Wales Amateur Golf Championship was played at Rose Bay on the links of the Royal Sydney Golf Club on Saturday, under unfavourable golfing conditions, a strong westerly gale testing the capabilities of the players to the utmost.

The links were in splendid condition, special efforts having been made to improve upon their general excellence. The westerly wind, however, rather spoilt the putting greens, which, in consequence, were rather glassy. Many of the competitors entirely failed to gauge their strength, and three putts on a green were more frequent than is usual in championship events.

The conditions were two rounds of 18 holes, the first eight players to qualify to play off, the subsequent rounds being each 36 holes match play. The final will be contested next Saturday.

There were 32 entries, and, though several first-class players were absent, the contestants were fairly representative of the game. Owing to the withdrawal of Mr. A. R. Lempriere, of Melbourne, the whole of the players belonged to this State, except Mr. A. Gallagher, of the Thistle Club, Scotland.

The scores in the morning were not of any outstanding excellence, though the wind militated against good cards being returned.

Mr. W. S. Laidley, of Royal Sydney Club, headed the list with 82, and was closely followed by Messrs. H. M. Stephen and A. Gallagher, each 83; O. H. O'Brien and F. J. Blaxland, 84; G. T. Balcombe, E. P. Simpson, and H. W. M'Lelland, 86. Then followed Messrs. C. W. Rundle 87, W. Andrew and W. H. Fairfax 88, L. R. Oswald-Sealy, C. L. Mackenzie, H. B. Gritton, Dr. P. S. Jones, and C. H. Reading, 89; C. A. Sinclair and Dr. Pope, 90; E. L. Apperly and G. W. Holdship, 91; J. E. Matthews, 92; E. J. Springthorpe, and R. E. Bailey, 93; A. W. H. Padfield, 94; H. S. Holt, E. J. B. Macarthur, P. F. S. Spence, and J. S. Marks, 95; and A. O. Gillies, 96.

In the afternoon the form displayed was not much better, except in the cases of H. M. Stephen and H. W. M'Lelland, who put up exceedingly good rounds of 78 and 79 respectively. Their cards were as follow:—

H. M. Stephen—Out: 5, 6, 3, 4, 4, 3, 5, 3, 5—38.
In: 5, 5, 3, 5, 5, 4, 5, 3, 5—40=78.

H. W. M'Lelland—Out: 4, 5, 3, 5, 5, 3, 7, 4, 4—40.
In: 4, 5, 3, 5, 3, 4, 7, 4, 4—39=79.

Messrs. E. P. Simpson and G. T. Balcombe failed to retain their places in the first eight, taking 89 and 91, and finishing 9th and 14th respectively, their places being taken by E. L. Apperly, who recorded a good round of 82; and C. H. Reading, who improved four strokes on his morning's round of 89. E. J. Springthorpe had a good round of 84 in the afternoon, but was beaten by his bad morning round.

The following are the detailed scores:—

LACROSSE.

PETERSHAM I. v UNIVERSITY I.

Played at Petersham, and won by the former by 13-1. The game proved fast and interesting, but Petersham's clever stick work put them ahead of their opponents. A noticeable feature of the match was the poor shooting of the students.

MANLY I. v SYDNEY I.

Sydney defeated the local team at Manly, after a good game, by 14-5. Manly team put up a good fight, but their bad tactics in the defence in playing too far up field, placed them at a disadvantage. The Sydney team showed far better form than exhibited of late. Mr. Boswell ably refereed.

STANMORE I. v WAVERLEY I.

At Burwood these two clubs met, and the former won a hard game by 7 to 6. The Stanmore defence did not appear to play in their usual safe style, and made many mistakes. Southwick was the pick of Waverley, while Williams and Webb were the best for Stanmore.

MOSMAN v BALMAIN.

Played at the Domain, and won by Mosman by 9-1. The absence of Hughes was very much felt by Balmain, who at times became demoralised. Mosman played a good nippy game.

The following will represent the Botany Club in the Dunlop interclub competition this year:—Messrs. W. Schofield (captain), H. V. Wood, H. Speller, G. Yard, R. W. Kennedy, W. Wiggins, B. Healey, W. Walker, J. Wiggins.

A good report comes from the hon. secretary of the N.S.W. Cyclists' Union in reference to the entry for the Eastern Suburbs Club's open 10 miles road race, to be run over the Homebush course next Saturday week. Everything promises for large fields in each of the four heats, as the nominations to hand on Saturday night were large, and any entry reaching the Sydney Sports Club by first post this morning will be accepted.

The hon. secretary of the union also desires to correct the impression that the open road race from Mount Victoria, promoted by the Redfern Club, is to be run on Coronation Day, June 22. This is not so; the race is listed for the new Anniversary Day, August 22.

KOOKABURRA MOTOR CYCLE CLUB.

Members of the Kookaburra Motor Cycle Club were engaged in a novel competition on Saturday last, a motor cycle paper chase, which was won by W. Ryder. The course was from North Sydney to Hornsby, and the trail was laid by A. Billerwell and H. Pitt.

Morton, the scratch man, made the fastest time of the day, covering the hill in 34 1-5s. The winner's action in agreeing to a second trial was heartily applauded by the spectators. It is such actions as these that tend to uplift any sport.

The open 20 miles road race of the Ashfield Club from Parramatta to Windsor on Saturday last resulted in a good field starting, although the competitors had to face a stiff head wind. The marshalling arrangements will be controlled by the club's secretary, Mr. Morgan, who has asked the members to have their cars at the Orient Wharf not later than a quarter to 1 o'clock.

THE MOTOR SHOW.

A meeting of the committee appointed to arrange the laying-out of the space for exhibits of cars and accessories at the motor show in the first week in October, was held at the rooms of the Royal Agricultural Society on Thursday. The secretary presented a floor plan of the buildings in which it is proposed to hold the show. This provided for 900ft of frontage to the passages, the depth to be 26ft, for cars only. In addition to this, the building known as the industrial pavilion was set out for stands for accessories.

A large number of applications had been received for spaces for cars, and some for stands for accessories. As a result of a calculation of the space taken into consideration with the applications, it was decided that the maximum space allotted to one exhibitor should be 60ft. frontage by 26ft. depth, on condition that the exhibitor shall exhibit not less than five cars. Arrangements in connection with the stands for accessories were retained by the secretary of the Royal Agricultural Society, who said he would let these as they were applied for. The programme was discussed informally, and probably the night shows will be enlivened by processions of illuminated cars and motor bicycle races in the ring.

LAWN TENNIS.

DISTRICT AND INTERCLUB COMPETITIONS.

He is one of the most promising of the younger players. North Sydney, for whom Wright was unable to play, defeated Manly, but things did not look too well for them when Plomley and Crossman defeated F. and N. Peach early in the match. YASS LAWN TENNIS CLUB.

YASS, Saturday.

At the annual meeting of members of the club, Mr. M. Connell, of Blackburn Hall, was elected president, and Mr. R. Campbell secretary. Two tournaments were played last week. Following are the results:—The ladies' doubles was won by Misses L. Wadlell and Edie M'Bean, and the gentlemen's doubles by Messrs. Harold Bernard and Claude Wood.

DUBBO LAWN TENNIS CLUB.

DUBBO, Thursday.

Lawn tennis is flourishing here. The Dubbo club numbers among its members some very able players, notably the Misses Sloman, Messrs. C. R. Taylor, J. Gregg, and Dr. Docker. This club, which will be represented during country week in Sydney, has three excellent courts and a refreshment kiosk in connection therewith. The executive proposes laying down two more courts in the near future.

The Waratah club has just opened two excellent courts, adjoining the Dubbo club's ground. Then there is St. Andrew's Club, whose courts were formally opened last week. The officebearers of this club are:—Patron, Mr. J. W. Sillar; president, Rev. W. H. Ash; vice-presidents, Messrs. R. Currie, W. W. Baird, R. H. Nelson, T. Bain, C. J. Adams, A. Cameron, D. Cameron, and Dr. Yuille. Every centre in the district has its players and its court, and great interest is shown in the individual and club performances.

BATHURST, Sunday.

The men's singles handicap tournament, under the auspices of the Bathurst District Tennis Association, was advanced another stage on Saturday, with the following results:—Edwards v Walker, 6-4, 6-2; J. Brett v Edwards, 6-4, 6-1; J. Brett v C. R. Brett, 6-4, 6-4; Field v A. G. Thompson, 6-2, 6-3. Field and J. Brett were thus left in the final. Two sets were then decided, one being won by each player. Rain prevented further play.

BASEBALL.

LEICHHARDT AND LANE COVE DEFEATED.

ST. GEORGE BEATEN IN A DIVISION.

Every team in the district competition has now been defeated at least once, while Paddington, the tail-enders have yet to score a victory. The erstwhile leaders, Leichhardt and Lane Cove, were both without their champion twirlers, C. Franks and R. V. Tait, unavoidably absent through business engagements. Even with this severe handicap few followers expected the surprises that Waverley and Petersham so decisively effected. The substitution on the slab fell far short of requirements, and were freely hit. But the support accorded them was very bad indeed. Errors were plentiful, and completely dislocated any attempt at combination. At Waverley, where the home nine and Leichhardt met, the local club-swingers astonished their most optimistic supporters by their aggressive batting, which, allied by erratic throwing, let them into the scoring section five times in the first innings, every man getting into the batting box. Keeping up the pressure, they knocked up runs in every innings but the last, Leichhardt sailing in three efforts.

For a team that looked to be sure of the premiership, the form displayed by Leichhardt in the field was too bad to be true, and they suffered their first loss at the hands of a team considered to be the weakest at the hat in the race. R. Franks, who filled his brother's place on the slab, although his propositions were frequently solved, struck out five out of nine in the three periods in which he pitched but all his good work was nullified by costly mistakes at short-stop and third base, where T. and S. Bury could do nothing right. H. Franks stood out as the best all-round baseballer on the field, and executed a fine double play solus.

The batting was heavy and continuous, and Waverley excelled themselves generally, M. Tait leading the base-hitting record.

The brothers H. and E. Woolcott, pitcher and first baseman, rendered yeoman service. The first-named held his position perfectly, struck out eight, while his brother was credited with ten put-outs. Hewlett, as catcher (Gelby incapacitated), carried out his arduous task commendably, and the side co-operated to advantage; Coulter, at second, and Coombe, centre outfield, showing up prominently.

A deplorable incident towards the finish of the game was a bad blot on the proceedings. For a short time it looked very ugly, and threatened to end seriously. A collision at the home-plate started the trouble, and two men resorted to fisticuffs.

The other surprise packet was sprung on Lane Cove by Petersham, in a one-sided engagement. The winners bombarded E. P. Woolcott's deliveries so damagingly that nine runs came in the first two sessions. When F. Bamford relieved, they were kept much quieter. Lane Cove only managed to successfully hit Dean in their first period. W. H. Pratt, left-field, and J. Turner, at first base, were conspicuous, and the former worked a splendid double play to the initial sack. Now that the North Shore specialists are revealing some of the ability and cohesion they were known to possess, they promise to extend all comers for the season's honours. The rough ground at Mosman was not conducive to a good exposition. The fungo hitting of both sides was clever.

Mosman-North Sydney hustled from the jump, and in the first three innings led Paddington 8 to 1, which they increased to 20 to 7 at the end of the fifth. Then for some inscrutable reason W. W. Chapman replaced Barlow on the mound, with the result that the tricolours made eight circuits. Chapman and Cooper were in excellent form; also Pope and Sayle, for the visitors.

University secured their first win by defeating Burwood, and in doing so showed much improvement in team work. Watson, at first base, figured prominently, and, with Single, did well with the bat. For Burwood Carmen, at the intermediate station, had plenty to do, and if he sustains his form will be a big help to the ex-premiers. Dight and Granger also were very helpful.

In the junior contest between Petersham III and Waverley III, the home bunch were routed by 17 to 1. Young Weinholz astonished the onlookers with his manipulation of the ball. For a boy his outcurving, assisted by the wind, was remarkable. The Waverley lads, who had never experienced the like before, were completely non-plussed. Should Weinholz develop physically, he has the makeup of a heady, clever twirler. By reason of the downfall of Leichhardt, Lane Cove, and St. George, the competitions are now very open and interesting. Results:—

FAT FOLKS ARE NOT PITIED NOW.
Time was when the sight of Fat Folks staggering along under a burden of superfluous flesh aroused our deepest feeling of pity. This, though, is no longer the case. Nowadays people merely wonder that anyone should tolerate a lot of useless fat that makes them both unsightly and uncomfortable.
FORMETTES CURE FATNESS.
Formettes overcome fatness pleasantly, quickly, safely. You may eat and drink all you want when reducing with "Formettes," and you don't need to massage or take any exercise unless you wish it. Merely take one of these pleasant little herbal tablets before each meal, and you will get back your original figure and permanently retain it.
THEIR EFFECTS ARE PERMANENT.
The permanency of the cure is assured, because "Formettes" not only reduce the amount of superfluous flesh already formed, but actually eliminate from the system that which causes the food you eat to form fat.
NO MISERIES.
Excess fat, in addition to spoiling the figure, is positively dangerous to health. It weakens the heart, injuriously affects the liver, stomach, and kidneys, makes breathing difficult, and life miserable. You can save yourself all these dangers and discomforts by trying "Formettes" to-day.
NO EXPENSIVE COURSE OF TREATMENT.
The rapidity with which Formettes accomplish their work and the generous quantity which a Carton contains make Formettes the most economical FAT REDUCER it is possible to procure. The success of this wonderful remedy is due to its own merits, and the large sale it enjoys is solely the result of personal recommendation by one sufferer to another.
Formettes are sold by all Chemists, Drapers, etc., at 5s 3d a carton; or may be obtained direct, post free, from S. H. Henshall, Chemist, 246 Clarendon-street, South Melbourne, Victoria. Sold by Anthony Hodern and Sons, Patterson Bros., and Washington Soul, Chemists, Sydney.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.
WHY DO I ADVERTISE
A FREE TRIAL TREATMENT?
Because it at once convinces anyone of the impossibility of having a new growth where Hairs have once been removed by me. No other specialist in Sydney has ever offered to do this, and my reason for this free treatment is to convince you once and for all of my success. This trial treatment costs nothing, nor does it bind you to subsequently come to me for further treatment.
One thing more,
MOLES, HAIRY MOLES.
These unsightly marks can be removed in a single treatment, almost painlessly, and without the slightest danger. No after effects are felt or seen.
The Fees are very moderate. Individual Waiting Rooms and Personal Attention.
Miss MAUDE MADDOCKS,
Federal-chambers, 100 King-street,
Corner of King and Pitt streets. Entrance in King-street.
